Modern Nature Lynn K. Nyhart, 2009-08-01 In Modern Nature Lynn K. Nyhart traces the emergence of a biological perspective in late nineteenth century Germany that emphasized the dynamic relationships among organisms and between organisms and their environment. Examining this approach to nature in light of Germany's fraught urbanization and industrialization as well as the opportunities presented by new and reforming institutions, she argues that rapid social change drew attention to the role of social relationships and physical environments in rendering a society and nature whole, functional, and healthy. This quintessentially modern view of nature, Nyhart shows, stood in stark contrast to the standard naturalist's orientation toward classification. While this new biological perspective would eventually grow into the academic discipline of ecology, Modern Nature locates its roots outside the universities in a vibrant realm of populist natural history inhabited by taxidermists and zookeepers, schoolteachers and museum reformers, amateur enthusiasts and nature protectionists. Probing the populist beginnings of animal ecology in Germany, Nyhart unites the history of popular natural history with that of elite science in a new way. In doing so, she brings to light a major orientation in late nineteenth century biology that has long been eclipsed by Darwinism. The Commonwealth of Nature: Art and Poetic Community in the Age of Dante, Cosmopolitical Ecologies Across Asia Riamsara Kuyakanon, Hildegard Diemberger, David Sneath, 2021-11-25 Cosmopolitical Ecologies Across Asia offers a unique insight into the non-human and spiritual dimensions of environmental management in a changing world. This volume presents a comparative place-based exploration of landscapes across Asia and the entities, practices, and knowledges that inhabit them. Rather than treating sacred mountains, terrains, and water sources as self-contained esoteric religious phenomena, the authors consider them within critical cosmopolitical ecologies, framings in which non-human entities are engaged as actors in the socio-political arena. The chapters include case studies of healing springs recognized by governments and sacred mountains that are addressed by heads of states and Communist Party cadres or that speak to the faithful through spirit mediums in a politics of re-enchantment. Contributors explore the diverse ways in which non-human entities such as forest spirits, reindeer, mountains, and Buddhist Masters of the Land are engaged by humans to navigate environmental change and address a range of ecological threats from large-scale mining to climate change. Cosmopolitical ecologies approaches encompass the healing power of topography as well as transformative intimacies with other than human beings such as sparrows within an Islamic eco-theological poetic setting. In this light, the book observes dynamic and creative processes of cosmological innovation, including the repurposing of ritual to address challenges such as the Covid-19 epidemic. This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of environment and society across disciplinary perspectives in general and to anthropologists, human geographers, political ecologists, indigenous studies, area studies, environmental sciences, and environmental humanities scholars in particular. Iraq War of 2003 and the Mavi Marmara incident of 2010 By detailing the rights and duties of neutral states and demonstrating how the rules of neutrality continue to apply in modern day conflicts this restatement of law of neutrality will be a useful guide to legal academics working on the law of armed conflict the law on the use of force and the history of international law as well as for government and military lawyers seeking comprehensive guidance in this difficult area of the law

Nature's Patterns and the Fractional Calculus Bruce J. West, 2017-09-11 Complexity increases with increasing system size in everything from organisms to organizations The nonlinear dependence of a system's functionality on its size by means of an allometry relation is argued to be a consequence of their joint dependency on complexity information In turn complexity is proven to be the source of allometry and to provide a new kind of force entailed by a system's information gradient Based on first principles the scaling behavior of the probability density function is determined by the exact solution to a set of fractional differential equations The resulting lowest order moments in system size and functionality gives rise to the empirical allometry relations Taking examples from various topics in nature the book is of interest to researchers in applied mathematics as well as investigators in the natural social physical and life sciences Contents Complexity Empirical allometry Statistics scaling and simulation Allometry theories Strange kinetics Fractional probability calculus

Locating Nature Usha Natarajan, Julia Dehm, 2022-09-29 For those troubled by environmental harm on a global scale and its deeply unequal effects this book explains how international law structures ecological degradation and environmental injustice while claiming to protect the environment It identifies how central legal concepts such as sovereignty jurisdiction territory development environment labour and human rights make inaccurate and unsustainable assumptions about the natural world and systemically reproduce environmental degradation and injustice To avert socioecological crises we must not only unpack but radically rework our understandings of nature and its relationship with law We propose more sustainable and equitable ways to remake law's relationship with nature by drawing on diverse disciplines and sociocultural traditions that have been marginalized within international law Influenced by Third World Approaches to International Law TWAIL postcolonialism and decoloniality and inspired by Indigenous knowledges cosmology mythology and storytelling this book lays the groundwork for an epistemological shift in the way humans conceptualize the relationship between law and nature Contemporary Approaches in Urbanism and Heritage Studies Rokhsaneh Rahbarianyazd , Editor,2021-08-01 This book is an intellectual discourse and a concise compendium of current research in Architecture and Urbanism Primarily it is a book of readings of 24 chapters The book brings together theories manifestos and methodologies on contemporary architecture and urbanism to raise the understanding for the future of architecture and urban planning Overall the book aimed to establish a bridge between theory and practice in the built environment Thus it reports on the latest research findings and innovative approaches methodologies for creating assessing and understanding of contemporary built environment Nature's Mirror Mary Anne Andrei,2020-11-20 It may be surprising to us now but the taxidermists who filled the museums zoos and aquaria of the twentieth century were also among the first to become aware of the devastating effects of careless human interaction with the natural world Witnessing firsthand the decimation caused by big game hunters commercial feather collectors whalers big game hunters and poachers these museum taxidermists recognized the existential threat to critically endangered species and the urgent need to protect them The compelling exhibits they created as well as the scientific field work popular writing and lobbying they undertook established a vital leadership role in the early conservation movement for American museums that persists to this day Through their individual research expeditions and collective efforts to arouse demand for environmental protections this remarkable cohort including William T Hornaday Carl E Akeley and several lesser known colleagues created our popular understanding of the animal world and its fragile habitats For generations of museum visitors they turned the glass of an exhibition case into a window on nature and a mirror in which to reflect on our responsibility for its conservation
