Eldredge, 2022-11 In the past histories of American art have traditionally highlighted the work of a familiar roster of artists often white and male Over time the achievements of others worthy of attention including numerous women and artists of color as well as white men have gone uncelebrated and fallen into obscurity In this collection of essays sixty three scholars from various institutions specialties and locales respond to the challenge to nominate one maker deserving remembrance and detail the reasons for their choice The collection is headed by a preface from editor Charles C Eldredge explaining the genesis of the anthology and an introduction by Dr Kirsten Pai Buick promoting the value of recovered reputations and oeuvres in the training of future art experts and audiences Allan Kaprow, Robert Smithson, and the Limits to Art Philip Ursprung, Fiona Elliott, 2013-05-10 This innovative study of two of the most important artists of the twentieth century links the art practices of Allan Kaprow and Robert Smithson in their attempts to test the limits of art both what it is and where it is Ursprung provides a sophisticated yet accessible analysis placing the two artists firmly in the art world of the 1960s as well as in the art historical discourse of the following decades Although their practices were quite different they both extended the studio and gallery into desert landscapes abandoned warehouses industrial sites train stations and other spaces Ursprung bolsters his argument with substantial archival research and sociological and economic models of expansion and limits Queering Contemporary Asian American Art Laura Kina, Jan Christian Bernabe, 2017-05-16 Queering Contemporary Asian American Art takes Asian American differences as its point of departure and brings together artists and scholars to challenge normative assumptions essentialisms and methodologies within Asian American art and visual culture Taken together these nine original artist interviews cutting edge visual artworks and seven critical essays explore contemporary currents and experiences within Asian American art including the multiple axes of race and identity queer bodies and forms kinship and affect and digital identities and performances Using the verb and critical lens of queering to capture transgressive cultural social and political engagement and practice the contributors to this volume explore the connection points in Asian American experience and cultural production of surveillance states decolonization and diaspora transnational adoption and transgender bodies and forms as well as heteronormative respectability the military and war The interdisciplinary and theoretically informed frameworks in the volume engage readers to understand global and historical processes through contemporary Asian American artistic production Fall-Out Shelters for the Human Spirit Michael L. Krenn, 2006-03-08 During the Cold War culture became another weapon in America's battle against communism Part of that effort in cultural diplomacy included a program to arrange the exhibition of hundreds of American paintings overseas Michael L Krenn studies the successes failures contradictions and controversies that arose when the U S government and the American art world sought to work together to make an international art program a reality between the 1940s and the 1970s The Department of State then the United States Information Agency and eventually the Smithsonian Institution directed this effort relying heavily on the assistance of major American art organizations museums curators and artists What the government hoped to accomplish and what the art community had in mind however were often at odds Intense domestic controversies resulted particularly when the effort involved modern or abstract expressionist art Ultimately the exhibition of American art overseas was one of the most controversial Cold War initiatives undertaken by the United States Krenn's investigation deepens our understanding of the cultural dimensions of America's postwar diplomacy and explores how unexpected elements of the Cold War led to a redefinition of what is and is not American

When Modern Became Contemporary Art Charles Green, Heather Barker, 2024-09-19 This book is a portrait of the period when modern art became contemporary art It explores how and why writers and artists in Australia argued over the idea of a distinctively Australian modern and then postmodern art from 1962 the date of publication of a foundational book Australian Painting 1788 1960 up to 1988 the year of the Australian Bicentennial Across nine chapters about art exhibitions curators and critics this book describes the shift from modern art to contemporary art through the successive attempts to define a place in the world for Australian art But by 1988 Australian art looked less and less like a viable tradition inside which to interpret our art Instead vast gaps appeared since mostly male and often older White writers had limited their horizons to White Australia alone National stories by White men like borders had less and less explanatory value Underneath this a perplexing subject remained the absence of Aboriginal art in understanding what Australian art was during the period that established the idea of a distinctive Australian modern and then contemporary art This book reflects on why the embrace of Aboriginal art was so late in art museums and histories of Australian art arguing that this was because it was not part of a national story dominated by colonial then neo colonial dependency It is important reading for all scholars of both global and Australian art and for curators and artists
