Modern Black Writers:

Modern Black Writers Michael Popkin, 1989 Color and Culture Ross Posnock, 2009-07-01 The coining of the term intellectuals in 1898 coincided with W E B Du Bois's effort to disseminate values and ideals unbounded by the color line Du Bois's ideal of a higher and broader and more varied human culture is at the heart of a cosmopolitan tradition that Color and Culture identifies as a missing chapter in American literary and cultural history The book offers a much needed and startlingly new historical perspective on black intellectuals as a social category ranging over a century from Frederick Douglass to Patricia Williams from Du Bois Pauline Hopkins and Charles Chesnutt to Nella Larsen Zora Neale Hurston and Alain Locke from Ralph Ellison and James Baldwin to Samuel Delany and Adrienne Kennedy These writers challenge two durable assumptions that high culture is white culture and that racial uplift is the sole concern of the black intellectual The remarkable tradition that this book recaptures culminating in a cosmopolitan disregard for demands for racial authenticity and group solidarity is strikingly at odds with the identity politics and multicultural movements of our day In the Du Boisian tradition Ross Posnock identifies a universalism inseparable from the particular and open to ethnicity an approach with the power to take us beyond the provincialism of postmodern tribalism Great Black Writers M. K. Fullen, 2002 Presents brief biographies of six modern African American authors Ida Wells Barnett Zora Neale Hurston Langston Hughes Alex Haley James Baldwin and Lorraine Hansberry Major Modern Black American Writers Harold Bloom, Sterling Professor of the Humanities Harold Bloom, 1994-12 NULL Radical Aesthetics and Modern Black Nationalism GerShun Avilez, 2016-05-15 Radical Aesthetics and Modern Black Nationalism explores the long overlooked links between black nationalist activism and the renaissance of artistic experimentation emerging from recent African American literature visual art and film GerShun Avilez charts a new genealogy of contemporary African American artistic production that illuminates how questions of gender and sexuality guided artistic experimentation in the Black Arts Movement from the mid 1960s to the mid 1970s As Avilez shows the artistic production of the Black Arts era provides a set of critical methodologies and paradigms rooted in the disidentification with black nationalist discourses Avilez's close readings study how this emerging subjectivity termed aesthetic radicalism critiqued nationalist rhetoric in the past It also continues to offer novel means for expressing black intimacy and embodiment via experimental works of art and innovative artistic methods A bold addition to an advancing field Radical Aesthetics and Modern Black Nationalism rewrites recent black cultural production even as it uncovers unexpected ways of locating black radicalism Mending the World Rosemarie Robotham, 2004-01-08 The many facets of black family life have not always been fully visible in American literature Black families have often been portrayed as chaotic fractured and emotionally devastated and historians and sociologists are just beginning to acknowledge the resilience and strength of African American families through centuries of hardship In Mending the World a host of beloved writers celebrate the richness of black family life revealing how deep complicated and joyous modern kinship can be From Jamaica Kincaid's passionate forceful and piercingly intelligent Nationalism, Marxism, and African American Literature between the Wars Anthony Dawahare, 2009-09-18 During and after the Harlem Renaissance two intellectual forces nationalism and Marxism clashed and changed the future of African American writing Current literary thinking says that writers with nationalist leanings wrote the most relevant fiction poetry and prose of the day Nationalism Marxism and African American Literature Between the Wars A New Pandora's Box challenges that notion It boldly proposes that such writers as A Philip Randolph Langston Hughes and Richard Wright who often saw the world in terms of class struggle did more to advance the anti racist politics of African American letters than writers such as Countee Cullen Jessie Redmon Fauset Alain Locke and Marcus Garvey who remained enmeshed in nationalist and racist discourse Evaluating the great impact of Marxism and nationalism on black authors from the Harlem Renaissance and the Depression era Anthony Dawahare argues that the spread of nationalist ideologies and movements between the world wars did guide legitimate political desires of black writers for a world without racism But the nationalist channels of political and cultural resistance did not address the capitalist foundation of modern racial discrimination During the period known as the Red Decade 1929 1941 black writers developed some of the sharpest critiques of the capitalist world and thus anticipated contemporary scholarship on the intellectual and political hazards of nationalism for the working class As it examines the progression of the Great Depression the book focuses on the shift of black writers to the Communist Left including analyses of the Communists position on the Negro Question the radical poetry of Langston Hughes and the writings of Richard Wright forum for inter-american research Vol 5 Wilfried Raussert, 2023-07-20 Volume 5 of 6 of the complete premium print version of journal forum for inter american research fiar which is the official electronic journal of the International Association of Inter American Studies IAS fiar was established by the American Studies Program at Bielefeld University in 2008 We foster a dialogic and interdisciplinary approach to the study of the Americas fiar is a peer reviewed online journal Articles in this journal undergo a double blind review process and are published in English French Portuguese and Spanish Southscapes Thadious M. Davis, 2011 In this innovative approach to southern literary cultures Thadious Davis analyzes how black southern writers use their spatial location to articulate the vexed connections between society and environment particularly under segregation and its legacies William Faulkner and the Faces of Modernity Jay Watson, 2019 This book argues that Faulkner unlocked his truest potential as a modernist artist by turning away from the modernity of the Great War toward aspects of modernity closer to his Mississippi home Afro-American Life, History and Culture, 1985 A Companion to American Literature and Culture Paul Lauter, 2020-09-21 This expansive Companion offers a set of fresh perspectives on the wealth of texts produced in and around what is now the United States Highlights the diverse voices that constitute American literature embracing oral traditions slave narratives regional writing literature of the environment and more Demonstrates that American literature was multicultural before Europeans arrived on the continent and even more so thereafter Offers three distinct paradigms for thinking about American literature focusing on genealogies of American literary study writers and issues and contemporary theories and practices Enables students and researchers to generate richer more varied and more comprehensive readings of American literature

Incomparable Empires Gayle Rogers, 2016-11-01 The Spanish American War of 1898 seems to mark a turning point in both geopolitical and literary histories The victorious American empire ascended and began its cultural domination of the globe in the twentieth century while the once mighty Spanish empire declined and became a minor state in the world republic of letters But what if this narrative relies on several faulty assumptions and what if key modernist figures in both America and Spain radically rewrote these histories at a foundational moment of modern literary studies Following networks of American and Spanish writers translators and movements Gayle Rogers uncovers the arguments that forged the politics and aesthetics of modernism He revisits the role of empire from its institutions to its cognitive effects in shaping a nation's literature and culture Ranging from universities to comparative practices from Ezra Pound's failed ambitions as a Hispanist to Juan Ramón Jiménez's multilingual maps of modernismo Rogers illuminates modernists' profound engagements with the formative dynamics of exceptionalist American and Spanish literary studies He reads the provocative often counterintuitive arguments of John Dos Passos who held that American literature could only flourish if the expanding U.S. empire collapsed like Spain's did And he also details both a controversial theorization of a Harlem Havana Madrid nexus for black modernist writing and Ernest Hemingway's unorthodox development of a version of cubist Spanglish in For Whom the Bell Tolls Bringing together revisionary literary historiography and rich textual analyses Rogers offers a striking account of why foreign literatures mattered so much to two dramatically changing countries at a pivotal moment in history
