Quran A New Interpretation In English With Arabic Text:

The Quran Muhammad Bāqir Behbūdī, 1997 In English with Arabic text The Quran: A New Interpretation M. B. Behbudi, Dr Colin Turner, 2013-09-13 This new rendering of the Holy Quran into the English language is the first of its kind since it is a combination of translation and exegesis in which the author opens out the verses of the Holy Book to reveal some of the layers of meaning expounded by the Prophet and transmitted through the ages by the Prophet's companions, family and the scholars who followed them. The fruit of over thirty years of research into the principles of Quranic exegesis and hadith analysis, this work matches a depth of Arabic and Islamic learning with a mastery of English that is lucid and accessible while preserving the integrity of the original text.

The Quran: a New Interpretation M. B. Behbudi, Colin Turner, 2015-03-04 This new rendering of the Holy Quran into the English language is the first of its kind since it is a combination of translation and exegesis in which the author opens out the verses of the Holy Book to reveal some of the layers of meaning expounded by the Prophet and transmitted through the ages by the Prophet's companions, family and the scholars who followed them. The fruit of over thirty years of research into the principles of Quranic exegesis and hadith analysis, this work matches a depth of Arabic and Islamic learning with a mastery of English that is lucid and accessible while preserving the integrity of the original text.

New Theory of the Holy Qur'an Translation: A Textbook for Advanced University Students of Linguistics and Translation Ali Alhaj, 2015-06 Translation strategies are the procedures employed by the translator to attempt a solution to the multifarious baffling problems with which translation is indubitably replete. Malone 1988 p 78 defines translation as the steps selected from a consciously known range of potential procedures taken to solve a translation problem which has been consciously detected and resulting in a consciously applied solution. While some strategies are helpful, others turn out to be of little avail. It follows then that the translator has to sort out the wheat from the chaff in pursuit of a good translation. Here the translator may utilize particular strategies in accordance with the method anticipated in the course of translation, i.e. target-orientedness or source-orientedness. Faced with differences in the extralinguistic reality of the two cultures or in lexical mapping, the translator tries to reconcile them by relying on the following procedures: borrowing, definition, literal translation, substitution, lexical creation, omission and addition. Three comments that need to be made by the researcher in connection with this list: First, not all of the procedures achieve cultural transfer in the sense of filling the gap, but they all serve the purpose of achieving communicative equivalence in translation. For instance, substitution and omission certainly do not help to make members of the target culture aware of anything that their culture does not already possess, and lexical creation is no more enlightening than the use of the source language expression unless accompanied by some other procedure that will make the particular extra-linguistic feature part of their experiences. Second, combinations of procedures rather than single procedures are required for optimum transmission of cultural information, e.g. borrowing and definition, borrowing and substitution, lexical creation and definition. Third, in planning his/her translation strategy the translator does not make a one time decision on how he she will treat unmatched elements of culture rather even if the translator has established an overall order of preferences he she usually makes a new decision for each element and for its each use in an act of communication rather even if he has established an overall order of preferences he usually makes a new decision for each such element and for each use in an act of communication Cohen 1990 p 78 Arabic Literature to the End of the Umayyad Period A. F. L. Beeston, 1983-11-03 The History provides an invaluable source of reference of the intellectual literary and religious heritage of the Arabic speaking and Islamic world The Literature of Islam Paula Youngman Skreslet, Rebecca Skreslet, 2006-09-20 This book introduces the literature of Islam as it is presented in English translation For scholars in other fields who need to understand the vast and complex literary heritage of this erudite and vigorous faith community but are unable to devote years of their lives to achieving a reading proficiency in classical Arabic for faculty members called upon to teach introductory or survey courses outside their own disciplines and for graduate students in theology medieval studies world religions or related fields who need access to these primary sources in English translation The Literature of Islam is a welcome resource Even lay readers who are interested in understanding the modern Arab or Islamic world may grasp something of the currents of thought and belief through the centuries that produced these important works which continue to exert a powerful influence upon Muslims today The primary literatures of Islam are normally classified into several areas of study the canonical literature the interpretation of scripture and tradition law theology philosophy history and mysticism Entries here are organized into these areas of study and represent the most significant texts from important trends in the discipline The volume also includes an extensive bibliography that lists the editions of primary sources analyzed in each chapter There are also some suggestions for secondary reading which might be helpful to a student seeking additional information about each genre of literature Retranslating the Bible and the Qur'an Pieter Boulogne, Marijke H. de Lang, Joseph Verheyden, Despite the lively scholarly discourse on retranslation and its manifest value for uncovering dynamics of cultural change interpretation and reception the retranslation of religious texts has received only fragmented attention in recent years By spanning both historical and current aspects and by treating the Bible and the Qur'an together this book breaks new ground and paves the way for future research on the myriad discursive and religious aspects of retranslation This carefully curated collection of articles compellingly argues that the retranslation of canonical religious texts is a multi faceted phenomenon With cases ranging in time from the early Reformation to the present and traversing linguistic contexts from Russia to Sweden Slovenia to Saudi Arabia the essays capture diverse dimensions of retranslation work The collection demonstrates that retranslations of such texts manifest in different forms depending on the religious political and societal circumstances the targeted audiences and the status of existing translations Their reception too may vary greatly depending on those same circumstances Authored by specialists in the different fields of retranslation of the Bible and the Qur'an each contribution illustrates this complexity and offers a fresh perspective and insight that help lay the groundwork for future research in this area of study The Routledge Companion to the Qur'an George Archer, Maria M. Dakake, Daniel A. Madigan, 2021-09-30 The Routledge Companion to the Qur'an offers an impressive and comprehensive overview of the formative scripture of Islam Including a wide number of scholarly approaches to the Qur'an by both established authorities and emergent voices the 40 chapters in this volume represent the latest word on the academic understanding of the Muslim scripture The Qur'an is spoken of in scholarship across disciplines it is the beating heart of a living community of believers it is a work of beauty and a basis for art and culture it is a profoundly significant historical artifact and it is a mysterious survivor from the Late Ancient Arabic speaking world This Handbook accompanies the reader into the many worlds that the Qur'an lives in from its ancient settings to its internal drama and through the 1 400 years of discussion and debate about its meaning Bringing diverse approaches to the Qur'an together in one volume The Routledge Companion to the Qur'an represents the vibrancy of the field of Qur'anic Studies today This Handbook is essential reading for students and researchers in religious studies and Islamic studies It will also be very useful for those in related fields such as area studies sociology anthropology and history Translatology, Translation and Interpretation - Toward a New Scientific Endeavor Noury Bakrim, 2024-02-07 This book brings together scholarly contributions to question model and reshape translatology as the scientific discipline studying language translation The chapters emphasize the hypothesis of a real domain of observability and objectivity through experimental and applied perspectives The authors offer a balanced view of adequacy and coherence between the empirical and theoretical components of the book The chapters include a good deal of individual language data from both source and target approaches with a focus on typologically and culturally diverse spaces such as the African context Domains of inquiry such as terminology and the cognitive dimension of the process exemplify the ability to create a dialogue between multidisciplinary intersections and translatological attempts of laws and generalizations Encyclopaedia of Islam Ian Richard Netton, 2013-12-19 This Encyclopedia covers the full range of Islamic thought It takes substantial note of contemporary trends across the Muslim world and the material on historical Islam has contemporary reference The Places Where Men Pray Together Paul Wheatley, 2001 What makes a city an economic political and cultural center In The Places Where Men Pray Together Paul Wheatley draws on two decades of astonishingly wide ranging research to demonstrate that Islamic cities are defined by function rather than form by what they do rather than what they are Focusing on the roles of cities during the first four centuries of Islamic expansion Wheatley explores interconnected cultural historical economic political and religious factors to provide the clearest and most extensively documented portrait of early Islamic urban centers available to date Building on the tenth century geographer al Maqdisi's writings on urban centers of the Islamic world buttressed by extensive comparative material from roadbooks topographies histories adab literatures and gazetteers of the time Wheatley identifies the main functions of different Islamic urban centers Chapters on each of the thirteen centers that al Maqdisi identified ranging from the Atlantic to the Indus and from the Caspian to the Sudan form the heart of this book In each case Wheatley shows how specific agglomeration and accessibility factors combined to make every city functionally distinct as a creator of effective space He also demonstrates that far from revolutionizing every aspect of life in these cities the adoption of Islam often affected the development of these cities less than previously existing local traditions The Places Where Men Pray Together is a monumental work that will speak to scholars and readers across a broad variety of disciplines from historians anthropologists and sociologists to religious historians archaeologists and geographers

Baeq, Sam Kim, 2022-05-24 The theme of prophets and prophecy is a central area of theological research and discussion in both Christianity and Islam While academic researches on the prophets of Islamic tradition do exist it is rare to find studies which compare them with the biblical accounts based on evangelical theology This book provides theological analysis of the biblical prophets which appear in the Qur an and the Islamic literature The selection of prophets includes Adam Nuh Noah Ibrahim Abraham Yusuf Joseph Musa Moses Dawud David Ezekiel Dhul Kifl Zakariya Yahya John the Baptist and Mary the Mother of Jesus The contributors are a distinguished group of international scholars who combine impressive academic credentials with extensive ministry among Muslims Moreover the international nature of the contributors lends credibility to the work as an exercise in global theology This book lays a good foundation for the comparison of scriptural and theological traditions of two world major religions and for generating further discussions
