Settler Colonial City David Hugill, 2021-11-23 Revealing the enduring link between settler colonization and the making of modern Minneapolis Colonial relations are often excluded from discussions of urban politics and are viewed instead as part of a regrettable past In Settler Colonial City David Hugill confronts this culture of organized forgetting by arguing that Minnesota's largest city is enduringly bound up with the power dynamics of settler colonial politics Examining several distinct Minneapolis sites Settler Colonial City tracks how settler colonial relations were articulated alongside substantial growth in the Twin Cities Indigenous community during the second half of the twentieth century creating new geographies of racialized advantage Studying the Phillips neighborhood of Minneapolis in the decades that followed the Second World War Settler Colonial City demonstrates how colonial practices and mentalities shaped processes of urban reorganization animated non Indigenous advocacy research informed a culture of racialized policing and intertwined with a broader culture of American imperialism It reveals how the actions assumptions and practices of non Indigenous people in Minneapolis produced and enforced a racialized economy of power that directly contradicts the city's progressive reputation Ultimately Settler Colonial City argues that the hierarchical and racist political dynamics that characterized the city's prosperous beginnings are not exclusive to a bygone era but rather are central to a recalibrated settler colonial politics that continues to shape contemporary cities across the United States

What Is This Thing Called Jazz? Eric Porter, 2002-01-31 Despite the plethora of writing about jazz little attention has been paid to what musicians themselves wrote and said about their practice An implicit division of labor has emerged where for the most part black artists invent and play music while white writers provide the commentary Eric Porter overturns this tendency in his creative intellectual history of African American musicians He foregrounds the often ignored ideas of these artists analyzing them in the context of meanings circulating around jazz as well as in relationship to broader currents in African American thought Porter examines several crucial moments in the history of jazz the formative years of the 1920s and 1930s the emergence of bebop the political and experimental projects of the 1950s 1960s and 1970s and the debates surrounding Jazz at Lincoln Center under the direction of Wynton Marsalis Louis Armstrong Anthony Braxton Marion Brown Duke Ellington W C Handy Yusef Lateef Abbey Lincoln Charles Mingus Archie Shepp Wadada Leo Smith Mary Lou Williams and Reggie Workman also feature prominently in this book The wealth of information Porter uncovers shows how these musicians have expressed themselves in print actively shaped the institutional structures through which the music is created distributed and consumed and how they aligned themselves with other artists and activists and how they were influenced by forces of class and gender What Is This Thing Called Jazz challenges interpretive orthodoxies by showing how much black jazz musicians have struggled against both the racism of the dominant culture and the prescriptive definitions of racial authenticity propagated by the music's supporters both white and black

Cazenave,2015-11-19 Conceptualizing Racism is a provocative book that confronts the language we use to discuss and understand racism Author Noel A Cazenave argues that American social science has since its inception practiced linguistic racial accommodation that blurs our understanding of systemic racism and makes it difficult to effect meaningful change Conceptualizing Racism highlights how words matter in racism studies The author traces the history of linguistic racial accommodation through the development of sociology as a discipline and illustrates how it is at play today not only within the discipline but in public life

Beyond Black and White Manning Marable,2016-11-15 Many in the US including Barack Obama have called for a post racial politics yet race still divides the country politically economically and socially In this highly acclaimed work Manning Marable rejects both liberal inclusionist strategies and the separatist politics of the likes of Louis Farrakhan Beginning by looking back at African American politics and the fight against racism of the recent past outlining a trenchant analysis of the New Racial Domain that must be uprooted he argues powerfully for a transformationist strategy which retains a distinctive black cultural identity but draws together all the poor and exploited in a united struggle against oppression

A People's History of Detroit Mark Jay,Philip Conklin,2020-04-17

Recent bouts of gentrification and investment in Detroit have led some to call it the greatest turnaround story in American history Meanwhile activists point to the city's cuts to public services water shutoffs mass foreclosures and violent police raids In A People's History of Detroit Mark Jay and Philip Conklin use a class framework to tell a sweeping story of Detroit from 1913 to the present embedding Motown's history in a global economic context Attending to the struggle between corporate elites and radical working class organizations Jay and Conklin outline the complex sociopolitical dynamics underlying major events in Detroit's past from the rise of Fordism and the formation of labor unions to deindustrialization and the city's recent bankruptcy They demonstrate that Detroit's history is not a tale of two cities one of wealth and development and another racked by poverty and racial violence rather it is the story of a single Detroit that operates according to capitalism's mandates
