Race Et Histoire:

Race et histoire dans les sociétés occidentales (XV-XVIIIe siècle) Jean-Frédéric Schaub, Silvia Sebastiani, 2021-10-06 Ce livre présente les processus de racialisation qui ont ponctué la transformation de l'Europe et de ses colonies de la fin du Moyen Âge jusqu'à la révolution. Cette histoire claire l'évolution des sociétés, des institutions, des cultures et des théories. Elle décrit la volonté de catégoriser les individus et les groupes de les enclaver dans des identités présentes comme intangibles de discriminer les collectifs dominés voire d'organiser l'oppression grand échelle contre des populations définies par leur race. La racialisation procède par naturalisation des rapports sociaux et des caractéristiques physiques et morales qui se transmettent de génération en génération à travers la procréation. Elle repose sur une contradiction : le racisme affirme que les gens sont prisonniers de leur race et s'emploie néanmoins à gérer la transformation des races. Quatre coups de projecteur permettent de rendre compte de cette histoire : la noblesse de naissance face à l'anoblissement, la nature juive ou musulmane qui persiste dans le sang des convertis, l'origine ineffaçable des métis dans l'Amérique coloniale, la déshumanisation des Africains par la traite esclavagiste. Ces phénomènes sont les expériences séculaires sur lesquelles les auteurs des Lumières se sont fondés pour classer l'humanité en races. Ils hiérarchisent les groupes humains mais proclament aussi l'universalité des droits de l'homme. Le siècle des philosophes peut alors se lire comme le fruit d'une histoire passée autant que comme le fondement d'une histoire inachevée. Race et histoire; suivi de L'oeuvre de Claude Lévi-Strauss par Jean Pouillon Claude Lévi-Strauss, 1969

Cowan, Marie-Bénédicte Dembour, Richard A. Wilson, 2001-11-29 Do people everywhere have the same or even compatible ideas about multiculturalism, indigenous rights or women's rights? The authors of this book move beyond the traditional terms of the universalism versus cultural relativism debate. Through detailed case studies from around the world (Hawaii, France, Thailand, Botswana, Greece, Nepal, and Canada) they explore the concrete effects of rights talk and rights institutions on people's lives. Thinking without Desire Panu Minkkinen,1999-09-01 The book is an attempt to evaluate the reception of Continental philosophy phenomenology hermeneutics deconstruction etc within mainstream jurisprudence The book claims that the reduction of philosophy to social theory can only be accomplished by impoverishing the impetus of philosophical thinking and consequently by transforming critique into criticism and the philosophy of law into legal theory The response developed in this book is the creation of a metaphysical understanding of law or in other words what Aristotle called a first philosophy In addition to philosophy proper the classics of Antiquity the great German philosophers contemporary French thinking the book covers a wide range of jurisprudential literature These include the neo Kantian philosophers of law whose thinking is allegedly at the root of legal positivism but special emphasis is also given to existential philosophers of law deeply inspired by the hermeneutical phenomenology of Martin Heidegger Lastly the book encourages specifically philosophical approaches in law to the thinking of French contemporaries whose work has inspired critical legal scholarship during the past ten years

Terrier, 2011-06-22 An essentially contested notion society is viewed by some as the most important level of human reality while others deny its existence outright Taking the example of France between the Enlightenment and the Second World War this book recounts the debates among thinkers and scholars on the nature of the social By way of an original analysis of the work of many key figures in the history of French thought the author convincingly demonstrates the strength of the connection between social theories and political projects He pays particular attention to conceptual and terminological developments thereby shedding a new light on the history of some core concepts of the human sciences such as society culture and civilisation Past Imperfect Pierre-Philippe Fraiture, 2021-04-15 This book proposes to examine French and Francophone intellectual history in the period leading to the decolonization of sub Saharan Africa 1945 1960 The analysis favours the epistemological links between ethnology museology sociology and art history In this discussion a specific focus is placed on temporality and the role ascribed by these different disciplines to African pasts presents and futures It is argued here that the post war context characterized inter alia by the creation of UNESCO the birth of Pr sence Africaine and the prevalence of existentialism bore witness to the development of new regimes of historicity and to the partial refutation of a progress based modernity This investigation is predicated on case studies from West and Central Africa AOF AEF and Belgian Congo and whilst adopting a postcolonial methodology it explores African and French authors such as Georges Balandier Cheikh Anta Diop Frantz Fanon Chris Marker Joseph Ki Zerbo Claude L vi Strauss Alain Resnais Jean Paul Sartre and Placide Tempels This study explores the intellectual legacy of the long nineteenth century and the difficulty encountered by these authors to articulate their anti colonial agenda away from the modern methodologies of the colonial library By focussing on issues of intellectual alienation this book also demonstrates that the post WW2 period foreshadowed twenty first century debates on extroversion racial inequalities the decolonization of history and cultural mis appropriation
