Report of the Fifth Thule Expedition 1921-24, 1929      Report of the Fifth Thule Expedition, 1921-24 Thule Expedition, 5th, 1921-1924, 1929      In Order to Live Untroubled Renee Fossett, 2001-07-05 Despite the long human history of the Canadian central arctic there is still little historical writing on the Inuit peoples of this vast region Although archaeologists and anthropologists have studied ancient and contemporary Inuit societies the Inuit world in the crucial period from the 16th to the 20th centuries remains largely undescribed and unexplained In Order to Live Untroubled helps fill this 400 year gap by providing the first broad historical survey of the Inuit peoples of the central arctic Drawing on a wide array of eyewitness accounts journals oral sources and findings from material culture and other disciplines historian Renee Fossett explains how different Inuit societies developed strategies and adaptations for survival to deal with the challenges of their physical and social environments over the centuries In Order to Live Untroubled examines how and why Inuit created their cultural institutions before they came under the pervasive influence of Euro Canadian society This fascinating account of Inuit encounters with explorers fur traders and other Aboriginal peoples is a rich and detailed glimpse into a long hidden historical world      Faces of the North Bryan Cummins, 2004-05-28 A photographic account of John J Honigmanns anthropological endeavours among northern First Nations from the 1940s to the 1960s      Darien in the Past Sigvald Linné, 1929      Acts of Occupation Janice Cavell, Jeff Noakes, 2011-01-01 In Acts of Occupation historians Cavell and Noakes deliver the engrossing story of Canada s early days of Arctic policy Drawing on a wealth of previously untapped archival sources they show how one explorer s self serving ambition fueled unfounded paranoia about Denmark s designs on the north and ultimately served as the catalyst for Canada s active administrative occupation of the Arctic A compelling tale that throws new light on a transformative period in Canadian Arctic policy making Acts of Occupation offers much needed historical context for contemporary debates on northern sovereignty      Man in the Arctic Harley Jesse Walker, 1962 This Air Force document was written to provide survival and environmental information about the Arctic It details techniques used in the American Arctic by man in his quest for food and water insofar as they are related to snow ice and permafrost and to evaluate these techniques and the changes that have occurred in them in terms of today s needs Structure and landforms and climate are discussed The users of the Arctic the Eskimos the Explorers and the settlers are also discussed Food supply covers such items as seals ice hunting sea mammals caribou bird hunting fishing vegetable foods and food storage in the Arctic      First Peoples In Canada Alan D. McMillan, Eldon Yellowhorn, 2009-12-01 First Peoples in Canada provides an overview of all the Aboriginal groups in Canada Incorporating the latest research in anthropology archaeology ethnography and history this new edition describes traditional ways of life traces cultural changes that resulted from contacts with the Europeans and examines the controversial issues of land claims and self government that now affect Aboriginal societies Most importantly this generously illustrated edition incorporates a Nativist perspective in the analysis of Aboriginal cultures

Early Ethnography in the American Arctic Kirsten Hastrup, 2023-10-19 This book offers a portrait of early ethnographic work in the American Arctic with a focus on understanding the mutual constitution of the Inuit and their early ethnographers. It draws mainly on a rich repository of written testimonies from the early twentieth century, the great ethnographic period when new scholarly interest in the region took off. Supplementing the movements and observations of whalers, traders, and missionaries, the early chroniclers offered new knowledge of Inuit life. Although their descriptions of the Inuit bear the marks of their time, the texts have left a deep mark on later developments and contributed to a long-lasting view of human life in the Arctic. The chapters show the infiltration of lives and landscapes of thoughts and materials of Inuit and ethnographers. The book will be relevant to anthropologists as well as historians, geographers, and others with an interest in the Arctic region and Indigenous studies.

Thule Eskimo Prehistory along Northwestern Hudson Bay Allen Papin McCartney, 1977-01-01 Ten Thule house ruins were excavated during 1968 and 1969 at Silumiut, Kamarvik, and Igluligardjuk, major winter settlements along Roes Welcome Sound and northwestern Hudson Bay. Radiocarbon dating places the occupation of these sites at the end of the twelfth century A.D. This work expands Mathiasen's original investigation of Thule culture southward from Repulse Bay. Published in English.

Of Men and Herds in Barrenland Prehistory Bryan H. C. Gordon, 1975-01-01 This study attempts to elucidate the temporal and spatial interrelationships between the Barrenland Pre-Dorset peoples, climates, and caribou herds in the period 1500-700 B.C. Items such as discreteness of herds and human bands, band movements, and communication, and differing cultural patterns as evidenced in artifacts are discussed. All are used in the formulation of the discrete band-discrete herd relationship. Published in English.

Thule Culture in Western Coronation Gulf, N.W.T. David A. Morrison, 1983-01-01 Archaeological excavations between 1979 and 1981 at three house sites on the western coast of Coronation Gulf attempt to investigate Thule culture in this strategic but marginal region. These sites, along with others already excavated, appear to represent a fairly distinctive stylistic variant of Thule culture in the western central Arctic. This variant is primarily affiliated with western rather than eastern Thule and appears to be of direct Alaskan origin. Published in English.

Beach Ridge Archeology of Cape Krusenstern James Louis Giddings, Douglas D. Anderson, 1986 Results of research conducted between 1956 and 1965.

Women and Power in Native North America Laura F. Klein, Lillian A. Ackerman, 1995 Power is understood to be manifested in a multiplicity of ways through cosmology, economic control, and formal hierarchy In the Native societies examined power is continually created and redefined through individual life stages and through the history of the society The important issue is autonomy whether or to what extent individuals are autonomous in living their lives Each author demonstrates that women in a particular cultural area of aboriginal North America had and have more power than many previous observers have claimed      Arctic Bibliography Arctic Institute of North America,1953
