Clayton, 1998 On Friday October 7 1988 Roy Ahmaogak of Barrow Alaska discovered three young gray whales trapped in ice off the Arctic coast The three week rescue operation that followed cost more than a million dollars and grew to include the White House the Soviet Union the environmental community Eskimo whalers Alaskan oil companies school children and journalists from around the world the Alaska National

Guard and a host of other corporate governmental scientific and individual participants Some called it a non event a fiasco an absurd waste of money while others considered it the most extraordinary animal rescue effort ever undertaken In any case it is a story not likely to be forgotten Both complex and moving this story grounds Patti Clayton s overview of environmental ethics theory Using the story as a touchstone for critical comparison Clayton explores three major traditions of environmental philosophy extensionism ecofeminism s care ethic and Heideggerian Phenomenology In doing so she guides readers through the evolution and central concepts of each tradition moving intriguingly between theory and the well known rescue story as an apt illustration of the complexities of ethical deliberation Clayton s critical thinking leads to a deeper appreciation of the ways in which different sets of assumptions yield unique interpretations of such issues Readers have the opportunity to consider the implications of this environmental ethics issue as a microcosm of human nonhuman interaction The unifying narrative of the whale story which is based on the commentary of participants and observers provides both an engaging vehicle for the study of environmental ethics and a real world testament to the multifaceted nature of human nonhuman relationships encouraging readers to reflect on the connection of such incidents in their own lives Author note Patti H Clayton is Visiting Lecturer in the Division of Multidisciplinary Studies at North Carolina State University Flyover

Strandings, 1994 The Beach in Anglophone Literatures and Cultures Ursula Kluwick, Virginia Richter, 2016-03-09 From early colonial encounters to the ecological disasters of the twenty first century the performativity of contact has been a crucial element in the political significance of the beach Conceptualising the beach as a creative trope and as a socio cultural site as well as an aesthetically productive topography this collection examines its multiplicity of meanings and functions as a natural environment engendering both desire and fear in the human imagination from the Victorian period to the present The contributors examine literature film and art in addition to moments of encounter and environmental crisis to highlight the beach as a social space inspiring particular codes of behaviour and specific discourses as a geographical frontier between land and water as an historical site of contact and conflict and as a vacationscape promising regeneration and withdrawal from everyday life The diversity of the beach is reflected in the geographical range with essays on locales and texts from Britain Ireland the Caribbean South Africa the United States Polynesia and New Zealand Focusing on the changed function of the beach as a result of processes of industrialisation and the rise of a modern leisure and health culture this interdisciplinary volume theorises the beach as a demarcator of the precarious boundary between land and the sea as well as between nature and culture

Citizen Airman, 1992 The Age of Empathy Frans de Waal, 2010-09-07 In this thought provoking book the acclaimed author of Our Inner Ape examines how empathy comes naturally to a great variety of animals including humans Are we our brothers keepers Do we have an instinct for compassion Or are we as is often assumed only on earth to serve our own survival and interests By studying social behaviors in animals such as bonding the herd instinct the forming of trusting alliances expressions of consolation and conflict resolution Frans de Waal demonstrates that animals and humans are preprogrammed to reach out He has found that chimpanzees care for mates that are wounded by leopards elephants offer reassuring rumbles to youngsters in distress and dolphins support sick companions near the water's surface to prevent them from drowning From day one humans have innate sensitivities to faces bodies and voices we've been designed to feel for one another De Waal's theory runs counter to the assumption that humans are inherently selfish which can be seen in the fields of politics law and finance But he cites the public's outrage at the U.S. government's lack of empathy in the wake of Hurricane Katrina as a significant shift in perspective one that helped Barack Obama become elected and ushered in what perhaps could become an Age of Empathy Through a better understanding of empathy's survival value in evolution de Waal suggests we can work together toward a more just society based on a more generous and accurate view of human nature Written in layman's prose with a wealth of anecdotes wry humor and incisive intelligence The Age of Empathy is essential
