EDI and Data Networking in the Public Sector Kim Viborg Andersen, 1997-11-30 When researching teaching or working with information systems in the public sector one is left with few or often no textbooks that provide useful case studies or surveys on the implementation and effects of integrating information technologies in the organizations operations This is surprising since in most first world countries the public sector consumes a substantial part of the gross national product Even more astonishing is the vast amount of financial and organizational resources that are spent developing and implementing various information systems We decided to write this book to provide information for those studying information systems at business schools information and computer departments at colleges universities and for those working hands on with EDI and data networking in public administration Thus our primary target groups for this book are professionals training MA courses computer science MBA MP A and political science EDI has been seen as a means to wire the various policy areas in the public sector Those included are not limited strictly to the public organizations but extend to their trade partners Also government has sought ways to stimulate the usage of EDI in the private sector beyond those transactions involving direct communication with the public sector In this book we have contributors from eight countries and a total of 14 chapters reporting on issues of importance when developing and implementing EDI when government wants to stimulate the diffusion of EDI in society and when organizations want to address the impact of their investments in ED

Doing Business on the Internet Fay Sudweeks, Celia T. Romm, 2012-12-06 FAY SUDWEEKS AND CELIA ROMM At the turn of the twenty first century global communication is changing the fabric of society at a rate never experienced before The Internet in particular has redrawn the map of global economy To be competitive in today's marketplace companies need to expand commercial activities beyond national borders The global network of electronic infrastructure has played a significant role in this expansion but the technology itself is not the factor driving the business revolution The changes are driven by the interaction of information technology and customer demand Customers are not only adapting to new technologies they are demanding more and more global competition Electronic commerce therefore is arguably the most important economic trend of our time Its presence on the Internet in particular is becoming crucial to the effective functioning of organisations especially in a world where companies need to deal with suppliers customers partners and their own units distributed across the world A global business industry created by the Internet is no longer a projected vision of technocrats it is a reality The Internet is already playing a significant role in determining corporate strategy and in creating values

Research Outside The Academy Lisa Börjesson, Isto Huvila, 2018-09-04 This book analyses the practical information related dimensions of professional knowledge making and communication in extra academic organisations It treats the sites where research takes place and where knowledge is created outside academia in the light among other things of new digital resources It provides valuable insight into the practices through which extra academic research data and results are produced and made available and the settings in which this takes place With case studies of knowledge making in government organizations and state research institutes as well as in cultural and heritage institutions this book broadens the perspective on knowledge sharing communication and publication and how knowing changes as a result of the professional knowledge making practices in the digital age Research outside the Academy is ideal for students at all levels looking for an
