Roughing It Part 3 by Mark Twain Excerpt CHAPTER XXI We were approaching the end of our long journey It was the morning of the twentieth day At noon we would reach Carson City the capital of Nevada Territory We were not glad but sorry It had been a fine pleasure trip we had fed fat on wonders every day we were now well accustomed to stage life and very fond of it so the idea of coming to a stand still and settling down to a humdrum existence in a village was not agreeable but on the contrary depressing Visibly our new home was a desert walled in by barren snow clad mountains There was not a tree in sight There was no vegetation but the endless sage brush and greasewood All nature was gray with it We were plowing through great deeps of powdery alkali dust that rose in thick clouds and floated across the plain like smoke from a burning house We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for
