Scherff, 2015-03-25 New Directions in Teaching English Reimagining Teaching Teacher Education and Research attempts to create a comprehensive vision of critical and culturally relevant English teaching at the dawn of the 21st century. This book is multi-voiced. It includes perspectives from classroom teachers, teacher educators and researchers in language and literacy positioned to respond to recent changes in national conversations about literacy learning and assessment. These variously situated authors also recognize the rapidly changing demographics in schools, the changing nature of literacy in the digital age and the increasing demands for literacy in the workplace. This book is critical. At all times education is a political act and schools are embedded within a sociocultural reality that benefits some at the expense of others. Therefore the approach advocated through many of the chapters is one of critical literacy where English students gain reading and writing skills and proficiency with digital technologies that allow them to become more able, discerning and empowered consumers and producers of texts. Media Education in Asia Chi-Kim Cheung, 2009-06-12 Media education in Asia is a relatively young but rapidly developing part of the curriculum. Research has been conducted and papers have been written on various issues concerning media education in Asia. The dominant models of media education in the world are broadly Western and most are drawn from English speaking countries. The question is whether a similar pattern exists in Asia where there may be differences in culture heritage beliefs values education policy as well as curriculum and pedagogy Are educators in Asia following the Western model in developing and implementing media education or are they devising their own models With this question in mind this book sets out to understand the prevailing perspectives regarding media education in various Asian societies While most debates about media education are carried out in Western contexts this book hopes to provide a platform for readers to examine this issue in an Asian context
