Rowing Against The Current On Learning To Scull At Forty:

Rowing Against the Current Barry Strauss, 2001-04-17 In the midst of the standard dreary midlife crisis complete with wine tasting courses yoga classes and a failed attempt at a first novel forty year old Barry Strauss falls unexpectedly and passionately in love with rowing a sport in which a twenty seven year old is a has been Strauss a professor of classics and history writes about the unanticipated delights of an affair that like so many others begins as a casual dalliance and develops into a full blown obsession Drawn to the sport in part because of his affinity for Greek antiquity he develops a love for old boathouses a longing for rivers at dawn a thirst to test himself and ultimately a renewed sense of self reliance as someone who had experienced sports humiliation as far back as Little League suddenly finds himself bursting into athleticism at an unlikely age From the awe inspiring feats of the war bound Greek triremes with their crews of 172 men rowing on three levels to the solitary pride of finishing a first race in which he gets stuck in the weeds and has to be fished out Barry Strauss shows us why there is nothing absolutely nothing half as much worth doing as simply messing about in boats Sports

is the story of the lost world of professional rowing in America a sport that attracted crowds of thousands widespread betting and ultimately corruption that foretold its doom It centers on the colorful careers of two New York City Irish boys the Biglin brothers John and Barney now long forgotten save for Thomas Eakins's portraits of them in their shell If the bestseller The Boys in the Boat portrayed the good guys of the U S's 1936 Olympic crew the Biglins along with their colleagues and successors were the Bad Boys in the Boat Rascals abounded on and off the water where rowdy fans often outdid modern
