Positioning Higher Education Institutions Rosalind M. O. Pritchard, Attila Pausits, James Williams, 2016-09-26 Higher education is of growing public and political importance for society and the economy Globalisation is transforming it from a local and national concern into one of international significance In order to fulfil societal governmental and business sector needs many universities are aiming to re position themselves The book initially considers their compass They aspire to transformational planning mission and strategy in which social justice is important people are not treated as mere means to an end and traditional moral positions are respected This transformational urge is sometimes vitiated by blunt demands of new public management that overlook universities potential for serving the public good The volume then addresses universities success in meeting their targets Often the challenge in evaluation is the need to reconcile tensions for example between structure and pastoral care of students institutional competition and collaboration roles of academics and administrators performance based funding versus increased differentiation Measurement is supposed to provide discipline align institutional and state policy and provide a vital impetus for change Yet many of these measurement instruments are not fully fit for purpose They do not take sufficient account of institutional missions either of old or of specialist universities and sophisticated measurement of the student experience requires massive resources Change and positioning have become increasingly key elements of a complex but heterogeneous sector requiring new services and upgraded instruments      The ERIC Review ,1991 Provides information on programs research publications and services of ERIC as well as critical and current education information      The Important Role of Institutional Data in the Development of Academic Programming in Higher Education Sydney Freeman, Jr.,Crystal Renée Chambers,Beverly Rae King,2016-06-17 Institutional data is one of the important aspects that informs the development and sustainability of academic programming within the academy Centrality of institutional data is key when making decisions related to a range of academic programs This volume addresses with both depth and breadth various types of academic programming i e academic degrees research centers institutes diverse institutional types including community colleges doctoral research universities minority serving and for profit institutions and concrete examples and steps regarding how to utilize institutional data to improve academic planning and development This is the 168th volume of this Jossey Bass quarterly report series Timely and comprehensive New Directions for Institutional Research provides planners and administrators in all types of academic institutions with guidelines in such areas as resource coordination information analysis program evaluation and institutional management
