The Textual Sublime International Association for Philosophy and Literature. Meeting, 1990-01-01 This book addresses the question of deconstruction by asking what it is and discussing its alternatives To what extent does deconstruction derive from a philosophical stance and to what extent does it depend upon a set of strategies moves and rhetorical practices that result in criticism Special attention is given to the formulations offered by Jacques Derrida in relation to Heidegger's philosophy and by Paul de Man in relation to Kant's theory of the sublime and its implications for criticism And what in deconstructive terms does it mean to translate from one textual corpus into another Is it a matter of different theories of translation or of different practices And what of difference itself Does not difference already invoke the possibility of deconstruction's others Althusser Adorno and Deleuze are offered as exemplary cases The essays in this volume examine in detail these differences and alternatives The Textual Sublime is particularly concerned with how a text philosophical or literary sets its own limits borders and margins how it delimits what constitutes the text per se and how it invokes at the same time what is not determinately in the text The textual sublime is that aspect of a text that deconstruction shows to be both an element of the text and what surpasses the text what takes it outside itself in view of alternatives and alterities and what ties it to differing philosophical rhetorical historical and critical practices
