The Supernatural Voice Simon Ravens,2014 The use of high male voices in the past has long been one of the most seriously misunderstood areas of musical scholarship and practice In opening up this rich subject to readers of all sorts with refreshingly clear perspectives and plenty of new material Simon

Ravens well researched book goes a very long way to rectifying matters Ravens writes damnably well and if the story that emerges is necessarily a complex one his treatment of it is always engagingly comprehensible ANDREW PARROTT Tracing the origins influences and development of falsetto singing in Western music Simon Ravens offers a revisionist history of high male singing from the Ancient Greeks to Michael Jackson This history embraces not just singers of counter tenor and alto parts up to and including our own time but the castrati of the Ancient world the male sopranists of late Medieval and Renaissance Europe and the dual register tenors of the Baroque and Classical periods Musical aesthetics aside to understand the changing ways men have sung high it is also vital to address extra musical factors which are themselves in a state of flux To this end Ravens illuminates his chronological survey by exploring topics as diverse as human physiology the stereotyping of national characters gender identity and the changing of boys voices The result is a complex and fascinating history sure to appeal not only to music scholars but to performers and all those with an interest particularly in early music Simon Ravens is a performer writer and director of Musica Contexta with whom he has performed in Britain and Europe regularly broadcast and made numerous acclaimed recordings Ravens had previously founded and directed Australasia s foremost early music choir the Tudor Consort Between 2002 and 2007 his regular monthly column Ravens View appeared in the Early Music Review to which he still regularly contributes Early Modern Europe, 1450-1789 Merry E. Horse-head Fiddle and the Cosmopolitan Reimagination of Tradition in Mongolia Peter K. Marsh,2008-09-25 Few other nations have undergone as profound a change in their social political and cultural life as Mongolia did in the twentieth century Beginning the century as a largely rural nomadic and tradition oriented society the nation was transformed by the end of this century into a largely urban post industrial and cosmopolitan one This study seeks to understand the effects that Western inspired modernity has had on the nature of cultural tradition in the country focusing in particular on development of the morin khuur or horse head fiddle a two stringed bowed folk lute that features a horse s head carved into its crown As well as being one of the most popular instruments in the contemporary national musical culture it has also become an icon of Mongolian national identity and a symbol of the nation s ancient cultural heritage In its modern form however the horse head fiddle reflects the values of a modern cosmopolitan society that put it profoundly at odds with those of the traditional society In so doing it also reflects the cosmopolitan nature of the nation s contemporary national musical culture Reconceiving Structure in Contemporary Music Judy Lochhead,2015-06-19 This book studies recent music in the western classical tradition offering a critique of current analytical theoretical approaches and proposing alternatives The critique addresses the present fringe status of recent music sometimes described as crossover postmodern post classical post minimalist etc and demonstrates that existing descriptive languages and analytical approaches do not provide adequate tools to address this music in positive and productive terms Existing tools and concepts were developed primarily in the mid 20th century in tandem with the high modernist compositional aesthetic and they have changed little since then The aesthetics of music composition on the other hand have been in constant transformation Lochhead proposes new ways to conceive musical works their structurings of musical experience and time and the procedures and goals of analytic close reading These tools define investigative procedures that engage the multiple perspectives of composers performers and listeners and that generate conceptual modes unique to each work In action they rebuild a conceptual methodological and experiential place for recent music These new approaches are demonstrated in analyses of four pieces Kaija Saariaho's Loni 1996 Sofia Gubaidulina's Second String Quartet 1987 Stacy Garrop's String Quartet no 2 Demons and Angels 2004 05 and Anna Clyne's Choke 2004 This book defies the prediction of classical music's death and will be of interest to scholars and musicians of classical music and those interested in music theory musicology and aural culture The American Catalogue ,1905
