Modern Makonde Art Jörn Korn, 1974-01-01 Modern Makonde art, 1971 Modern Makonde Sculpture Syracuse University. School of Art, 1968 An African Journey Through Its Art Fima Lifshitz, 2009

There were five. They came together for reasons that no one is even sure of anymore and cut a swath through the universe. Everyone knew their name and the lined up to follow them. They knew their symbol: the snarling wolf. The warlords formed a following, an almost religion. And then it was over. Years later, and the followings of each of the original warriors have become clans. The clans have grown and trained new warriors over time, creating the driving force in all the universe. Here are four people now training to follow in the ways of one particular wolf. The wolf that ended it all in the first place: the Blackwolf. This is the start of their journey, the beginning of their training. Gregor Holden, a Prince whose sense of duty is equaled only by his lust for adventure. Candace Orthon, a legacy whose father is a Blackwolf whose grandfather was a Blackwolf and who will be a Blackwolf if it kills her. Ran Grastle, already an accomplished warrior in his own right. He's on the run for committing a crime to exact justice and cares very little for the clan or anyone else. Xesca, a child of the last planet that the Blackwolf attacked. She has come to learn his ways, his style, so that no one can ever attack her planet again. These four. If no one else, let these four progress.

Modern Makonde Sculpture Exhibit Catalog, 1968-12-01 From Ritual to Modern Art Manfred Ewel, 2001

This beautifully produced and lavishly illustrated book addresses the huge imbalance in appreciation and representation of African art. Museums, exhibitions, lavish catalogues, magazines, and publications on African art are largely dominated by non-African scholars and institutions. These imbalances lie in the economic and political discrepancies, the history of European colonialism in Africa, and the Western tradition of scholarship and public education on art history and ethnography. Outside Africa, East African art has been assumed to be more or less nonexistent. This is one of the few publications to have come out of Tanzania bearing witness to the appreciation of sculptural art and its tradition in that country. The book arose out of a symposium on 'The Significance of Traditional Cultures for Today's Society' which brought together Tanzanian and other experts organised by the National Museums of Tanzania and the German Cultural Centre in Dar es Salaam. Papers from that symposium together with additional articles on the history and current state of sculpture in Tanzania present art from an African perspective and include contributions from Western scholars. Joining forces with African scholars, sociological, ethnological, and art historical approaches are included, illustrating sculpture as the prime example of fine art in Africa, both in its purely aesthetic sense and intricately linked with its ever-changing cultural context.

A Host of Devils provides an in-depth account of the background, origin, and development of the spirit figure sculptures which emerged during colonial times among the Makonde people of Mozambique. The creation of such works is shown to connect with a regional system of knowledge and practice within which spirits function as a format for expression. The book describes the ways in which the sculpture emerged as well as the author's experience of learning how to carve An Annotated Bibliography of the Visual Arts of East Africa Eugene C.
