Poets of World War II Various, 2003-01-27 This anthology brings together 120 poems about World War II by sixty two American poets chosen as editor Harvey Shapiro writes in his introduction with a purpose to demonstrate that the American poets of this war produced a body of work that has not yet been recognized for its clean and powerful eloquence The poets are generally unsentimental ironic and often astonished by what they have experienced and their insights still have the power to shake up our perceptions of that war and of war in general Most of the poets included in the volume served in the armed forces some Louis Simpson Anthony Hecht Kenneth Koch saw combat in the infantry while others James Dickey Howard Nemerov Richard Hugo John Ciardi fought in the air Also included poets who experienced the war as civilians including Robinson Jeffers Marianne Moore and Conrad Aiken poems by conscientious objectors and draft resisters including William Stafford and Robert Lowell and an elegy by James Tate for his father who was killed in action when Tate was an infant About the American Poets Project Elegantly designed in compact editions printed on acid free paper and textually authoritative the American Poets Project makes available the full range of the American poetic accomplishment selected and introduced by today's most discerning poets and critics

A New Way of Seeing Michael Sarnowski, 2025-06-04 A New Way of Seeing considers the poetry of five writers Louis Simpson Keith Douglas Richard Hugo Howard Nemerov and Randall Jarrell whose work draws on their activities as soldiers in World War II Basing his examination on extensive primary source research Michael Sarnowski identifies distance both literal and figurative and traumatic memory as two interconnected elements of how these poets internalized the war and made sense of the events they witnessed The book is structured on a gradient related to each poet's proximity to combat as the chapters in turn focus on an infantryman Simpson a tank commander Douglas a bombardier Hugo a pilot Nemerov and a stateside flight instructor Jarrell Sarnowski relies on a wealth of archival material overlooked by previous scholarship including poem drafts correspondence flight logs and personal belongings The conclusion revisits notions of legacy and representation by assessing factors that contributed to the early labeling of World War II soldiers as a Silent Generation in contrast to the outpouring of poetry published during and following the First World War By exploring how poets processed their wartime experiences A New Way of Seeing offers a stark reminder of why it remains vital to recognize the physical mental and psychological consequences endured by veterans

Dismantling Glory Lorrie Goldensohn,2006-04-18 Dismantling Glory presents the most personal and powerful words ever written about the horrors of battle by the very soldiers who put their lives on the line Focusing on American and English poetry from World War I World War II and the Vietnam War Lorrie Goldensohn a poet and pacifist affirms that by and large twentieth century war poetry is fundamentally antiwar She examines the changing nature of the war lyric and takes on the literary thinking of two countries separated by their common language World War I poets such as Wilfred Owen emphasized the role of soldier as victim By World War II however English and American poets influenced by the leftist politics of W H Auden tended to indict the whole of society not just its leaders for militarism During the Vietnam War soldier poets accepted themselves as both victims and perpetrators of war s misdeeds writing a nontraditional more personally candid war poetry The book not only discusses the poetry of trench warfare but also shows how the lives of civilians women and children in particular entered a global war poetry dominated by air power invasion and occupation Goldensohn argues that World War II blurred the boundaries between battleground and home front thus bringing women and civilians into war discourse as never before She discusses the interplay of fascination and disapproval in the texts of twentieth century war and notes the way in which homage to war hero and victim contends with revulsion at war s horror and waste In addition to placing the war lyric in literary and historical context the book discusses in detail individual poets such as Wilfred Owen W H Auden Keith Douglas Randall Jarrell and a group of poets from the Vietnam War including W D Ehrhart Bruce Weigl Yusef Komunyakaa David Huddle and Doug Anderson Dismantling Glory is an original and compelling look at the way twentieth century war poetry posited new relations between masculinity and war changed and complicated the representation of war and expanded the scope of antiwar thinking

Echo and Critique Florian Gargaillo, 2023-05-10 In Echo and Critique Florian Gargaillo skillfully charts the ways that poets have responded to the clichés of public speech from the start of the Second World War to the present Beginning around 1939 many public intellectuals on both sides of the Atlantic lamented that the political lexicon had become saturated with bureaucratic stock phrases such as the fight for freedom revenue enhancement and service the target designed for the mass media and used to euphemize obfuscate and evade Instead of ridding their writing of such language many poets parroted these tropes as a means of exploring the implications of such expressions weighing their effects and identifying the realities they distort and suppress With its attentiveness to linguistic particulars poetry proved especially well suited to this innovative mode of close listening and intertextual commentary At the same time postwar poets recognized their own susceptibility to dead language so that co-opting political clichés obliged them to scrutinize their writing and accept the inevitability of cant while simultaneously pushing against it This innovative study blends close readings with historical context as it traces the development of echo and critique in the work of seven poets who expertly deployed the method throughout their careers W H Auden Randall Jarrell Langston Hughes Claude McKay Robert Lowell Josephine Miles and Seamus Heaney Gargaillo's analysis reveals that poetry can encourage us to listen diligently and critically to the insincerity ubiquitous in public discourse

A New Way of Seeing Michael Sarnowski, 2025-06-04 A New Way of Seeing considers the poetry of five writers Louis Simpson Keith Douglas Richard Hugo Howard Nemerov and Randall Jarrell whose work draws on their activities as soldiers in World War II Basing his examination on extensive primary source research Michael Sarnowski identifies distance both literal and figurative and traumatic memory as two interconnected elements of how these poets internalized the war and made sense of the events they witnessed The book is structured on a gradient related to each poet's proximity to combat as the chapters in turn focus on an infantryman Simpson a tank commander Douglas a bombardier Hugo a pilot Nemerov and a stateside flight instructor Jarrell Sarnowski relies on a wealth of archival material overlooked by previous scholarship including poem drafts correspondence flight logs and personal belongings The conclusion revisits notions of legacy and representation by assessing factors that contributed to the early labeling of World War II soldiers as a Silent Generation in contrast to the outpouring of poetry published during and following the First World War By exploring how poets processed their wartime experiences A New Way of Seeing offers a stark reminder of why it remains vital to recognize the physical mental and psychological consequences endured by veterans

Guilty Knowledge, Guilty Pleasure William Logan, 2014-04-08 William Logan has been a thorn in the side of American poetry for more than three decades Though he has been called the most hated man in American poetry his witty and articulate reviews have reminded us how muscular good reviewing can be These new essays and reviews take poetry at its word often finding in its hardest cases the greatest reasons for hope Logan begins with a devastating polemic against the wish to have critics announce their aesthetics every time they begin a review The Unbearable Rightness of Criticism is a plea to read those critics who got it wrong when they reviewed Lyrical Ballads or Leaves of Grass or The Waste Land Sometimes he argues such critics saw exactly what these books were they saw the poems plain yet often did not see that they were poems In such wrongheaded criticism readers can recover the ground broken by such groundbreaking books Logan looks again at the poetry of Wallace Stevens Frank O'Hara and Philip Larkin at the letters of T.S. Eliot Elizabeth Bishop and Robert Lowell and at new books by Louise Glück and Seamus Heaney Always eager to overturn settled judgments Logan argues that World War II poets were in the end better than the much lauded poets of World War I He revisits the secretly revised edition of Robert Frost's notebooks showing that the terrible errors ruining the first edition still exist The most remarkable essay is Elizabeth Bishop at Summer Camp which prints for the first time her early adolescent verse along with the intimate letters written to the first girl she loved
