What is Africanness? Contesting nativism in race, culture and sexualities Charles Ngwena, 2018-01-01 What is Africanness Contesting nativism in race culture and sexualities by Charles Ngwena 2018 ISBN 978 1 920538 82 8 Pages 306 Print version Available Electronic version Free PDF available About the publication What is Africanness Contesting nativism in culture race and sexualities by Charles Ngwena Professor of Law at the Centre for Human Rights Faculty of Law University of Pretoria is a peer reviewed monograph aiming to contribute to the ongoing scholarly conversation in and beyond South Africa about who is African and what is African It aims to implicate a reductive sameness in the naming of Africans nativism by showing its teleology and effects and offers an alternative understanding of how Africans can be named or can name themselves The book develops an epistemology for constructing the hermeneutics of Africanness today long after the primal colonial moment and its debasing racialising ideology It interrogates the making of Africa in colonial discourses and the making of an African race and African culture s and sexuality ies in ways that are not just historically conscious but also have a heuristic capacity to contest nativism from the outside as well as from within The arguments in this book go beyond problematising African identity by addressing an existential gap in theory for explicating African social identity The book develops an interpretive method a hermeneutics for locating and deciphering African identifications in ways that are historically conscious and conjunctural The hermeneutics look to the present and the future in addition to the past so that African identifications are not nailed to a mast but remain invested with mobility and the capacity to mutate radically and make new and unexpected beginnings

Eadie, 2009-05-15 The discipline of communication has grown in popularity from the time professors of journalism and speech decided in the mid 1960s that the term communication was an excellent general descriptor for the theory and research that each group aspired to create Over time the two groups grew closer and recognized significant overlap in their theoretical and research interests but there were also differences in their traditions that kept them apart While both groups agreed that communication is a practical discipline journalism professors focused a great deal of their attention on the education of media professionals Speech professors on the other hand often were more oriented to the liberal arts and valued the fact that communication could be approached from a variety of traditions including the arts humanities social sciences and even the sciences A key term in 21st Century communication however is convergence Not only are media and technology converging with each other to produce new means of communicating but individuals are increasingly using both new and existing communication tools to create new forms of communication This convergence forces the various camps within the communication discipline to draw upon each other's theories and research methods to keep up with explaining the rapidly changing communication environment This convergence of ideas and theories provides a space to challenge conventional ways of thinking about the communication discipline and that's the goal of the SAGE 21st Century Reference Series volumes on Communication General Editor William F Eadie has sought to honor the diversity of the study of communication but also

PARENTHOOD AND RACE CULTURE

Caleb Williams Saleeby,1909 International Handbook of Migration, Minorities and Education Zvi Bekerman,Thomas Geisen,2011-10-06 Migrants and minorities are always at risk of being caught in essentialized cultural definitions and being denied the right to express their cultural preferences because they are perceived as threats to social cohesion Migrants and minorities respond to these difficulties in multiple ways as active agents in the pedagogical political social and scientific processes that position them in this or that cultural sphere On the one hand they reject ascribed cultural attributes while striving towards integration in a variety of social spheres e g school and workplace in order to achieve social mobility On the other hand they articulate demands for cultural self determination This discursive duality is met with suspicion by the majority culture For societies with high levels of migration or with substantial minority cultures questions related to the meaning of cultural heterogeneity and the social and cultural limits of learning and communication e g migration education or critical multiculturalism are very important It is precisely here where the chances for new beginnings and new trials become of great importance for educational theorizing which urgently needs to find answers to current questions about individual freedom community cultural affiliations and social and democratic cohesion Answers to these questions must account for both political and learning perspectives at the macro mezzo and micro contextual levels The contributions of this edited volume enhance the knowledge in the field of migrant minority education with a special emphasis on the meaning of culture and social learning for educational processes
