features scholars who use a critical geography framework to analyze how constructions of social space shape education reform. In particular, they situate their work in present-day neoliberal policies that are pushing responsibility for economic and social welfare as well as education policy and practice out of federal and into more local entities. States, cities, and school boards are being given more responsibility and power in determining curriculum content and standards, accompanied by increasing privatization of public education through the rise of charter schools and for-profit organizations' incursion into managing schools. Given these pressures, critical geography's unique approach to spatial constructions of schools is crucially important. Reterritorialization and deterritorialization or the varying flows of people and capital across space and time are highlighted to understand spatial forces operating on such things as schools, communities, people, and culture. Authors from multiple fields of study contribute to this book's examination of how social, political, and historical dimensions of spatial forces, especially racial, ethnic, and other markers of difference, shape and are shaped by processes and outcomes of school reform.

The Pursuit of Racial and Ethnic Equality in American Public Schools Kristi L. Bowman, 2014-12-19 In 1954 the Supreme Court decided Brown v. Board of Education; ten years later Congress enacted the Civil Rights Act. These monumental changes in American law dramatically expanded educational opportunities for racial and ethnic minority children across the country. They also changed the experiences of white children who have learned in increasingly diverse classrooms. The authors of this commemorative volume include leading scholars in law, education, and public policy, as well as important historical figures. Taken together, the chapters trace the narrative arc of school desegregation in the United States, beginning in California in the 1940s, continuing through Brown v. Board, the Civil Rights Act, and three important Supreme Court decisions about school desegregation and voluntary integration in 1974, 1995, and 2007. The authors also assess the status of racial and ethnic equality in education today and consider the viability of future legal and policy reform in pursuit of the goals of Brown v. Board. This remarkable collection of voices in conversation with one another lays the groundwork for future discussions about the relationship between law and educational equality and ultimately for the creation of new public policy. A valuable reference for scholars and students alike, this dynamic text is an important contribution to the literature by an outstanding group of authors.

Research in Social Movements, Conflicts and Change Patrick G. Coy, 2018-10-16 This important collection addresses the critically important dimensions of the relationships that social movements, their activists, and their organizations have with the state and other institutions. It also examines three movements linked by frame and discourse analysis before concluding with a survey of the biographical trajectory of activism.

Welcome 2 Houston Langston Collin Wilkins, 2023-08-01 Langston Collin Wilkins returns to the city where he grew up to illuminate the complex relationship between place, identity, and music in Houston's hip-hop culture. Interviews with local rap artists, producers, and managers inform an exploration of how artists, audiences, music, and place interact to create a heritage that musicians negotiate in a variety of ways. Street-based musicians, avant-garde underground rappers, and Christian artists offer candid views of the scene while Wilkins delves into related aspects like the area's hip hop related car culture. What emerges is a portrait of a dynamic reciprocal process where an artist having identified with and embodied a social space reproduces that space in a performance even as the performance reconstructs the social space. A vivid journey through a southern hip hop bastion, Welcome 2 Houston offers readers an inside look at a unique musical culture.

Challenges of Urban Education

Karen A. McClafferty, Carlos Alberto Torres, Theodore R. Mitchell, 2000-02-03. Presents current research and theoretical perspectives on the challenges facing educators in U.S. urban schools.

Revealing Male Bodies Nancy Tuana, William Cowling, Maurice Hamington, Greg Johnson, 2002-05-06. Revealing Male Bodies is the first scholarly collection to directly confront male lived experience. There has been an explosion of work in men's studies, masculinity issues, and male sexuality in addition to a growing literature exploring female embodiment. Missing from the current literature, however, is a sustained analysis of the phenomenology of male gendered bodies. Revealing Male Bodies addresses this omission by examining how male bodies are physically and experientially constituted by the economic, theoretical, and social practices in which men are immersed. Contributors include Susan Bordo, William Cowling, Terry Goldie, Maurice Hamington, Don Ihde, Greg Johnson, Björn Krondorfer, Alphonso Lingis, Patrick McGann, Paul McIlvenny, Terrance MacMullan, Jim Perkinson, Steven P. Schacht, Richard Schmitt, Nancy Tuana, Craig L. Wilkins, and John Zuern.

Latino Education

Pedro Pedraza, Melissa Rivera, 2006-04-21. This landmark volume represents the work of the National Latino Education Research Agenda Project (NLERAP), an initiative focused on school reform and educational research with and for Latino communities. NLERAP's goal is to bring together various constituencies within the broad Latino community who are concerned with public education to articulate a Latino perspective on research-based school reform and to use research as a guide to improving the public school systems that serve Latino students and to maximizing their opportunities to participate fully and equally in all social, economic, and political contexts of society. Latino Education: An Agenda for Community Action Research conceptualizes and illustrates the theoretical framework for the NLERAP agenda and its projects. This framework is grounded in three overlapping areas of scholarship and activism which are reflected within the chapters in this volume: critical studies illuminating and analyzing the status of people of color in the United States; Latino educational research capturing the sociohistorical, cultural, and political schooling experiences of U.S. Latino communities; and participatory action research exemplifying a liberation-oriented methodology for truly transformative education. The volume includes both descriptive educational research and critical analyses of previous research and educational agendas related to Latino communities in the United States. According to current U.S. Census data, Latinos now comprise the largest minority group in the total U.S. population. Historically reflecting larger sociohistorical and economic inequalities in U.S. society, the Latino community has not been well served by U.S. public school systems. More attention to the Latino students' educational issues is needed to redress this problem, especially given the tremendous population increase and projected growth of Latino communities in the U.S. Latino Education: An Agenda for Community Action Research is a major contribution toward this goal Chicago's Redevelopment Machine and Blues Clubs David Wilson, 2018-02-01 This book examines the conflict surrounding the latest redevelopment frontier in Chicago the city's South Side blues clubs and blocks Like Chicago cities such as Cleveland St Louis Boston Washington D C Indianapolis Milwaukee and Philadelphia are experiencing a new redevelopment machine one of tyrannizing and fear Its actors are adroit at working via the creation of fear to terror redevelop in these historically neglected neighborhoods The book also discusses the powerful race and class based politics in Chicago's blues clubs that resist such change A leisure as resistance framework represents the latest innovative form of opposition to the transformation of these historic sites Race, Class, and Power in School Restructuring Pauline Lipman, 1998-01-01 Explores the intersection of two central issues in American education today school reform through restructuring and alienation from school of many children of color A tough look at the impact of teachers and administrators beliefs and practices Teaching and Learning on the Verge Shanti Elliott, 2015-06-29 Our changing world demands that all students become agile thinkers who can grow sturdy interpersonal and civic relationships This book proposes that teachers who think of learning as playing with power tap the creative and subversive energies of young people making academic work far more consequential than a piece of paper with a grade on it Young people must learn to play democracy just as they might play a violin or a sport not as a game of let's pretend but fully participating in the language spaces and possibilities of public life Based on 20 years of teaching experience and research in schools across the US Teaching and Learning on the Verge demonstrates how educators in all disciplines can integrate civic engagement multicultural literacy and leadership into their classrooms and programs Featuring voices from literature and philosophy in dialogue with the living stage of classrooms streets and community spaces this book offers an imaginative and practical guide to democratic education Racial Identity Theory Chalmer E. Thompson, Robert T. Carter, 2013-04-15 Racial identity theories have been in the psychological literature for nearly thirty years Unlike most references to racial identity however Thompson and Carter demonstrate the value of integrating RACE and IDENTITY as systematic components of human functioning The editors and their contributors show how the infusion of racial identity theory with other psychological models can successfully yield more holistic considerations of client functioning and well being Fully respecting the mutual influence of personal and environmental factors to explanations of individual and group functioning they apply complex theoretical notions to real life cases in psychological practice These authors contend that race is a pervasive and formidable force in society that affects the development and functioning of individuals and groups In a recursive fashion individuals and groups influence and indeed nurture the notion of race and societal racism Arguing that mental health practitioners are in key influential positions to pierce this cycle the authors provide evidence of how meaningful change can occur when racial identity theory is integrated into interventions that attempt to diminish the distress people experience in their lives The interventions illustrated in this volume are applied in various contexts including psychotherapy and counseling supervision family therapy support groups and organizational and institutional environments This book can serve the needs and interests of advanced level students and professionals in all mental health fields as well as researchers and scholars in such disciplines as organizational management and forensic psychology It can also be of value to anyone interested in the systematic implementation of strategies to overcome problems of race
