Environmental Crossroads is a political history focusing on the issues which generated the first Earth Day in April 1970. It is about the people who brought about this momentous political turning point during a period in American history of unprecedented turmoil and political protest. Open its cover and you will learn about the agents of change. Some have risen to take their place in the pantheon of environmental history; others are all but forgotten in the collective public mind. It begins with herbicide contamination and the Cranberry Scare of November 1959, then explains the use of Agent Orange in Vietnam and its impact on the environmental movement. Though the use of two nuclear weapons by the United States military ended World War II in the Pacific, the inevitable arms race with the Soviet Union during the Cold War led to the testing of these weapons of mass destruction. The second chapter explains how nuclear contaminated fallout became a health threat and a concern for environmentalists and the general public. Overpopulation seems to be a nonissue today. During the decades prior to Earth Day in 1970, the world's population numbers were a concern of monumental importance. This is the focus of chapter three. No credible treatment of the twentieth century environmental movement would be complete without addressing the contribution of Rachel Carson and her book Silent Spring. Unlike pesticides, the effects of which oftentimes surface years after exposure, deteriorating air quality burned the eyes and made it difficult to breathe. Polluted air, particularly in the country's urban areas, not only left an indelible impression in the minds of environmentalists but it also threatened public health. And clean water, taken for granted today by most Americans, is the subject of chapter six, which describes the extent to which the country's waterways were part of a multibillion dollar restoration project on the part of the states mandated by the federal government. The seventh chapter is a retelling of the oil spill disaster in Santa Barbara, California, and the radical fringe of the environmental movement which manifested itself before Earth Day, a fitting precursor to the event itself, the subject of the final chapter.

American Book Publishing Record, 1992 Biographical Books, 1950-1980 R.R. Bowker Company. Department of Bibliography, 1980 Sea and Earth Phillip Sterling, 1974. A biography of the marine biologist and conservationist whose book Silent Spring alerted the public to the possibility of dangerous long range effects of pesticides BBC Wildlife, 1998 Integrating Literature in the Content Areas Sharon Kane, 2017-05-12. This practical, accessible resource will help future and practicing teachers integrate literature into their middle school or high school classrooms while also addressing content area standards and improving the literacy skills of their students. Two introductory chapters are followed by five chapters that each cover a different genre: Chapter 3 Informational Books, Chapter 4 Fiction, Chapter 5 Biography, Autobiography and Memoir, Chapter 6 Poetry, and Chapter 7 How to and Hands on Books. Each genre chapter consists of four parts: Part 1 Discusses the genre and how content area teachers can use books within that genre to further content learning and enhance literacy skills; Part 2 Offers hands on instructional strategies and activities using literature with activities for use in a variety of disciplines; Part 3 Presents individual author studies, three or four per chapter, with bibliographies and guidelines for using the authors' books in content area courses; Part 4 Features an annotated bibliography of specially selected children and young adult literature for that genre organized by content area The annotations provide information about the book which can be used to prepare booktalks and teaching ideas for using in a specific content area Altogether these sections contain more than 600 annotated entries tabbed by subject area including art English language arts languages and culture math and technology music PE health science and social studies history
