Mothering the Self Stephanie Lawler, 2002-01-04 The mother daughter relationship has preoccupied feminist writers for decades but typically it has been the daughter's story at centre stage Mothering the Self brings together these maternal and daughterly stories by drawing on in depth interviews with women who speak both as mothers and as daughters This study examines the ways in which these mothers and daughters participate in their understanding of class gender and race locations both using and resisting them The result is a fresh start from which to consider the far reaching implications of this relationship not simply for mothers and daughters but in terms of how we understand the shaping of the self and its place within the social world Psychologies of Mind J. Surrogates' Courts,Alexander Warfield Bradford,1872 The Southern Hospitality Myth Anthony Szczesiul,2017-06-01 Hospitality as a cultural trait has been associated with the South for well over two centuries but the origins of this association and the reasons for its perseverance often seem unclear Anthony Szczesiul looks at how and why we have taken something so particular as the social habit of hospitality which is exercised among diverse individuals and is widely varied in its particular practices and so generalized it as to make it a cultural trait of an entire region of the country Historians have offered a variety of explanations of the origins and cultural practices of hospitality in the antebellum South Economic historians have at times portrayed southern hospitality as evidence of conspicuous consumption and competition among wealthy planters while cultural historians have treated it peripherally as a symptomatic expression of the southern code of honor Although historians have offered different theories they generally agree that the mythic dimensions of southern hospitality eventually outstripped its actual practices Szczesiul examines why we have chosen to remember and valorize this particular aspect of the South and he raises fundamental ethical questions that underlie both the concept of hospitality and the cultural work of American memory particularly in light of the region s historical legacy of slavery and segregation The Last Supper According to Martha and Mary Tina Beattie,2001-01-01 This account of the Last Supper traces the emotions and personalities of this event through the perspective eyes and hearts of both Martha and Mary Told from the perspective of these two contrasting personalities we gain a radical insight into the life of Jesus and His followers This book challenges and invites us to renew our own faith as each stage of the Last Supper is related *The Blind Man's Child.
