Report Writing For Architects And Project Managers:

Report Writing for Architects David Chappell, 2014-05-16 Report Writing for Architects presents a critical review of standard report formats used in writing reports for architects. It discusses a set of formats to help architects and surveyors to create good reports for their client. It addresses every instance that necessitates the creation of architectural reports. Some of the topics covered in the book are the purpose, target audience, format, presentation, and main points of a report, description, style, and basis of the content of a report to be written, creating reports connected with building projects, making of feasibility report format and its content, and considerations in creating a report. The outline, proposals report format, and the scheme design format are discussed. An in-depth analysis of creating a progress report is given. The book also covers a special report on claim for loss and expense, a report on award of extension of time, format, and miscellaneous reports. The book can provide useful information to architects, surveyors, students, and researchers.

Professional Practice for Architects and Project Managers David Chappell, 2020-01-21 Explains construction professional practice in an appealing, succinct, and relatively informal way. This book details the management of construction projects from beginning to end, concentrating on the principles underlying what construction professionals like architects do. It covers the entire process from the initial meetings with clients through the design, recruitment of a contractor, contract management, construction, and handover, all without referencing legal cases, contract clause numbers, laws, statutes, or the complex jargon that can muddle comprehension. The first part of Professional Practice for Architects and Project Managers offers enlightening chapters that cover professional standards, perks of the job, bonds, and parent company guarantees, office meetings, letter writing, the RIBA Plan of Work, and Building Information Modelling (BIM). The second section teaches all about dealing with the clients and includes chapters that discuss the extent of services, fee negotiations, conflicts of interest, and more. Next, the book looks at such on the job responsibilities as surveys, ground investigations, cost estimates, work schedules, letters of intent, etc. The final section goes over everything readers need to know about dealing with a building contract in progress, informing them about advance payments, insurance, site inspections, contractor disputes, terminations, final certificates, and more. Details the entire process of managing a construction project, including dealing with clients, the design process, running a construction project, and more. Highlights what the construction professionals do in their positions. Shows how principles of construction management are applied in practice. Written in a reader-friendly and accessible way. Professional Practice for Architects and Project Managers is an excellent resource for architects and other construction professionals such as contract administrators, project managers, quantity surveyors, and contractors.

The Architect in Practice David Chappell, Michael H. Dunn, 2016-01-26 Throughout its many editions, The Architect in Practice has remained a leading textbook used in the education of architects. While the content of the book has developed, the message and philosophy have remained constant to provide students of architecture and young practitioners with a readable guide to the profession, outlining an architect's duties to their client and contractor.

the key aspects of running a building contract and the essentials of management finance and drawing office procedure The eleventh edition follows in that tradition The text has been brought up to date to ensure it follows the new RIBA Plan of Work 2013 as the guide to the architect's workflow In addition a number of changes to standard forms of contract were made with the publication of the JCT 2011 suite of contracts and the RIBA Standard Form for the Appointment of an Architect 2010 2012 Revision These new forms are fully covered In addition the opportunity has been taken to reorganise the layout so that the content flows in a way that is more consistent with current architectural practice and to deal with the increasing use of BIM The eleventh edition of The Architect in Practice continues to provide the guidance and advice all students and practising architects need in the course of their studies and in their profession

Standard Letters in Architectural Practice David Chappell, 2008-04-15 Architects and contract administrators spend a great deal of time writing letters of various types Many of them are routine and repetitive in character but they require proper consideration if potentially dangerous liability situations are to be avoided This book provides some 285 standard letters for use at all stages of project administration To assist the user they are grouped into sections which correspond with the RIBA Plan of Work the aim is to cover all the common situations encountered in practice The book has been revised to take account of the latest contract revisions and many letters have been added Unless otherwise stated all letters are suitable for use with JCT 98 WCD 98 IFC 98 MW 98 GC Works 1 1998 The latest edition also takes account of the three new RIBA Standard Forms of Agreement for Appointment of an Architect SFA 99 CE 99 and SW 99 Although primarily written for architects and contract administrators the book will also be of use to project managers and employers agents under WCD 98 Contractors will also find much of interest
