

Research on Writing Assessment in High School Writing Teaching

Qian Liu

China West Normal University, China

Abstract

Writing assessment is a crucial part of language teaching process. A good writing assessment can promote students' writing. However, some teachers and students do not attach much importance on writing assessment. This research aims to discuss the kinds and functions of writing assessment and give some advice for English teachers to help their assessment on writing.

Keywords

Writing Assessment; High School; Writing Teaching.

1. Introduction

According to the National English Curriculum Standard for Senior High school(2017 edition, 2020 revised), the purpose of assessment is to improve English learning and teaching, complete course design and supervise the learning quality. The assessment need to be centered by the key competence of English learning, throughout the whole process of teaching. Different people give different definition of assessment. Rod Ellis define assessment as assessment is a feedback to the information conveyed by the learner. He hold the idea that assessment can give learners more information and plays an indispensable role in writing teaching. Weigle pointed out that the assessment of students' writing ability is an important task for teachers, and designing fair and effective methods to assess their students' progress and achievements is an essential skill. Many scholars have done researches about writing assessment. Zeng and Xu talk about the effective feedback in writing assessment. They point out that teachers need to use various ways to give feedback to students' writing, so that to improve students' writing ability[1]. Su talks about junior high school English writing assessment based on the integration of teaching, learning and assessing. She analyzed the problems which exist in writing assessment during junior high school and gave some advice on how to assess writing[2]. Zhang and Yang made a case study on exploring the status quo of high school English teachers' writing assessment literacy. The research found the complexity and contextualization of teacher's writing assessment[3]. Shao and Lin made a study on the construction of a learning-oriented college English writing assessment system. This study constructs a learning-oriented college English writing assessment system, which aims to promote writing learning as its primary goal by incorporating multiple assessment methods and providing diverse feedback[4]. Yao made a research about the backwash effect and its application in evaluation of secondary school English writing. She put forward the specific measures of the backwash effect[5]. Xu analyzed the problems and solutions in the evaluation of middle-school English writing. Based on the analysis, she gave some suggestions to the process of writing assessment[6].

2. Writing Assessment Method

The main writing assessment methods are Teacher Assessment, Peer Assessment, Self-assessment, Automated Assessment and Combined Feedback Assessment.

Research On Composition:

Research on Composition Peter Smagorinsky, 2006 Covering the period between 1984 and 2003 this authoritative sequel picks up where the earlier volumes Braddock et al 1963 and Hillocks 1986 now classics in the field left off It features a broader focus that goes beyond the classroom teaching of writing to include teacher research second language writing rhetoric home and community literacy workplace literacy and histories of writing Each chapter is written by an expert in the area reviewed and covers both conventional written composition and multimodal forms of composition including drawing digital forms and other relevant media Research on Composition is an invaluable road map of composition research for the next decade and required reading for anyone teaching or writing about composition today

Methods and Methodology in Composition Research Gesa Kirsch, Patricia A. Sullivan, 1992 In original essays fourteen nationally known scholars examine the practical philosophical and epistemological implications of a variety of research traditions Included are discussions of historical theoretical and feminist scholarship case study and ethnographic research text and conversation analysis and cognitive experimental and descriptive research Issues that cross methodological boundaries such as the nature of collaborative research and writing methodological pluralism the classification and coding of research data and the politics of composition research are also examined Contributors reflect on their own research practices and so reflect the current state of composition research itself

Bibliographic Research in Composition Studies Vicki Byard, 2009-10-02 Bibliographic Research in Composition Studies is a student friendly guide to how knowledge is constructed and disseminated in composition studies as well as a thorough handbook on how to conduct bibliographic research in the discipline Student readers are taught Stephen North's taxonomy of scholarship empirical research and practice so that they can better contextualize the sources they read and they learn the unique ways that some genres of publication function in composition studies The book also leads students through the entire process of completing a bibliographic assignment

Research in Composition and Rhetoric Michael G. Moran, Ronald Lunsford, 1984-11-20 This anthology focuses on the writing process itself and on fundamentals of compositional theory Essays explore the psychology of composition research on writing anxiety the relationship of literary theory to composition and reading theory as it relates to the composing process The historical development of research methodologies in the field is examined with particular emphasis on evaluation methods and construction of effective writing sequences and assignments With recent educational trends toward basic writing even teachers of the most advanced composition classes will welcome the contributions on sentence structure spelling punctuation paragraphs and vocabulary development The essays that place composition within larger intellectual traditions will be particularly valuable to scholars currently extending their research into other disciplines Two appendixes on text books and evaluation are designed to help composition educators and scholars select useful innovative texts and handbooks created an essential introduction to the field of composition studies for graduate students and instructors new to the study of writing. The book offers a careful exploration of this diverse field focusing specifically on scholarship of writing and composing. Within this territory the authors draw the boundaries broadly to include allied sites of research such as professional and technical writing, writing across the curriculum, programs, writing centers, and writing program administration. Importantly, they represent composition as a dynamic, eclectic field influenced by factors both within the academy and without. The editors and their sixteen seasoned contributors have created a comprehensive and thoughtful exploration of composition studies as it stands in the early twenty-first century. Given the rapid growth of this field and the evolution of its research and pedagogical agendas over even the last ten years, this multi-vocal introduction is long overdue.

First-Year Composition Deborah Coxwell-Teague, Ronald F. Lunsford, 2014-05-01. First Year Composition: From Theory to Practice. A combination of theory and practice provides readers an opportunity to hear twelve of the leading theorists in composition studies answer in their own voices the key question of what it is they hope to accomplish in a first-year composition course. In addition, these chapters and the accompanying syllabi provide rich insights into the classroom practices of these theorists.

Research in Written Composition Richard Braddock, 1963. An Introduction to Composition Studies Erika Lindemann, Gary Tate, 1991-07-04. This collection of nine commissioned essays introduces the non-specialist to the rapidly evolving field of composition studies, discussing the nature of the field, the relationship between composition and rhetoric, and between theory and practice, the history of the discipline, its bibliographic sources, and problems, its methods of research, teaching, writing, and the politics of the profession.

Educational Research Bulletin University of Nebraska (Lincoln campus). Teachers College, 1926. Around the Research of Vladimir Maz'ya I Ari Laptev, 2009-12-02. The fundamental contributions of Professor Maz'ya to the theory of function spaces and especially Sobolev spaces are well known and often play a key role in the study of different aspects of the theory, which is demonstrated in particular by presented new results and reviews from world recognized specialists. Sobolev type spaces, extensions, capacities, Sobolev inequalities, pseudo-Poincaré inequalities, optimal Hardy-Sobolev Maz'ya inequalities, Maz'ya's isocapacitary inequalities in a measure metric space setting, and many other actual topics are discussed.

Research on Written Composition George Hillocks (Jr.), 1986. Handbook of Research on Contemporary Storytelling Methods Across New Media and Disciplines Mih?e?, Lorena Clara, Andreescu, Raluca, Dimitriu, Anda, 2021-01-15.

Stories are everywhere around us, from the ads on TV or music video clips to the more sophisticated stories told by books or movies. Everything comes wrapped in a story, and the means employed to weave the narrative thread are just as important as the story itself. In this context, there is a need to understand the role storytelling plays in contemporary society, which has changed drastically in recent decades. Modern global society is no longer exclusively dominated by the time-tested narrative media such as literature or films, because new media such as videogames or social platforms have changed the way we understand, create, and replicate stories. The Handbook of Research on Contemporary Storytelling Methods Across New Media and Disciplines is a comprehensive reference book that provides the relevant theoretical framework that concerns storytelling in modern society as well as the newest and most varied analyses and case studies in the field. The chapters of this extensive volume follow the construction and interpretation of stories across a plethora of contemporary media and disciplines. By bringing together radical forms of storytelling in traditional disciplines and methods of telling stories across newer media, this book intersects themes that include interactive storytelling and narrative theory across advertisements, social media, and knowledge sharing platforms among others. It is targeted towards professionals, researchers, and students working or studying in the fields of narratology, literature, media studies, marketing, and communication, anthropology, religion, or film studies. Moreover, for interested executives and entrepreneurs or prospective influencers, the chapters dedicated to marketing and social media may also provide insights into both the theoretical and the practical aspects of harnessing the power of storytelling in order to create a cohesive and impactful online image.

Under Construction Christine Farris, Chris M. Anson, 1998. Few composition scholars two decades ago would have imagined the rate at which their field is now developing, expanding beyond its boundaries, creating new alliances, and locating new sites for research and generation of knowledge. In their introduction to this volume, Farris and Anson argue that faced with a welter of competing models, compositionists too quickly dichotomize and dismiss. The contributors to Under Construction therefore address themselves to the need for commerce among competing visions of the field. They represent diverse settings and distinct points.

Strategies for Writing Center Research Jackie Grutsch McKinney, 2015-09-15. Strategies for Writing Center Research is a how-to guide for conducting writing center research, introducing newcomers to the field to the methods for data collection, analysis, and reporting appropriate for writing center studies.

Women and Health Research Institute of Medicine, Committee on Ethical and Legal Issues Relating to the Inclusion of Women in Clinical Studies, 1994-02-01. In the nineteenth century, some scientists argued that women should not be educated because thinking would use energy needed by the uterus for reproduction. The proof? Educated women had a lower birth rate. Today's researchers can only shake their heads at such reasoning. Yet professional journals and the popular press are increasingly criticizing medical research for ignoring women's health issues. Women and Health Research examines the facts behind the public's perceptions about women participating as subjects in medical research. With the goal of increasing researchers' awareness of this important topic, the book explores issues related to maintaining justice in its ethical sense in clinical studies. Leading experts present general principles for the ethical conduct of research on women, principles that are especially important in the light of recent changes in federal policy on the inclusion of women in clinical research. Women and Health Research documents the historical shift from a paternalistic approach by researchers toward women and a disproportionate reliance on certain groups for research to one that emphasizes proper access for women as subjects in clinical studies in order to ensure that women receive the benefits of research. The book addresses present-day challenges to equity in four areas Scientific Do practical aspects of scientific research work at cross purposes to gender equity Focusing on drug trials the authors identify rationales for excluding people from research based on demographics Social and Ethical The authors offer compelling discussions on subjectivity in science the evidence for male bias and issues related to race and ethnicity as well as the recruitment retention and protection of research participants Legal Women and Health Research reviews federal research policies that affect the inclusion of women and evaluates the basis for researchers fears about liability citing court cases Risk The authors focus on risks to reproduction and offspring in clinical drug trials exploring how risks can be identified for study participants who should make the assessment of risk and benefit for participation in a clinical study and how legal implications could be addressed This landmark study will be of immediate use to the research community policymakers women s health advocates attorneys and individuals

The Practice of Theory Ruth E. Ray,1993 This book offers teachers a convenient means of broadening their understanding of various kinds of composition theory and the steadily emerging field of teacher research by high school and college instructors The book is designed to arouse individual teachers interest in composition theory and encourage them to learn about and participate in teacher research The book covers the various branches of teacher research and the key ideas of its many proponents Individual chapters include 1 The Move toward Theory in Composition 2 Theory and Practice from a Feminist Perspective 3 The Argument for Teacher Research 4 Comprehension from Within K 12 Teacher Research and the Construction of Knowledge 5 Contextual Constraints on Knowledge Making Graduate Student Teacher Research and 6 Toward a Teacher Research Approach to Graduate Studies An interview with National Writing Project Teacher Researchers along with a sample syllabus for a graduate course in composition theory are appended HB

Racing Translingualism provides both theoretical and pedagogical reconsiderations of the translingual approach to language diversity by addressing the intersections of race and translingualism This collection extends the disciplinary conversations about translingualism by foregrounding the role race and racism play in the construction and maintenance of language differences In doing so the contributors examine the co naturalization of race and language in order to theorize a race conscious translingual praxis The book begins by offering generative critiques of translingualism centering on the ways in which the approach s democratic orientation to language avoids issues of race language and power and appeals to colorblind racist tropes of equal opportunity Following these critiques contributors demonstrate the important intersections of race and translingualism by drawing upon voices typically marginalized by monolingual language ideologies and pedagogies Finally Racing Translingualism concludes by attending to the pedagogical implications of a race conscious translingual praxis in writing and literacy education Making the case for race conscious rather than colorblind theories and pedagogies Racing Translingualism offers a unique take on how translingualism is theorized and practiced and moves the field forward through
