of Self Richard L. Allen, 2001 The Concept of Self examines the historical basis for the widely misunderstood ideas of how African Americans think of themselves individually and how they relate to being part of a group that has been subjected to challenges of their very humanity Institutional racism has had a major impact on the development of African American self esteem and group identity Through the years African Americans have developed strong tenacious concepts of self partially based on African cultural and philosophical retentions and as a reaction to historical injustices The Concept of Self examines the historical basis for the widely misunderstood ideas of how African Americans think of themselves individually and how they relate to being part of a group that has been subjected to challenges of their very humanity Richard Allen examines past scholarship on African American identity to explore a wide range of issues leading to the formation of an individual and collective sense of self Allen traces the significance of social forces that have impinged on the lives of African Americans and points to the uniqueness of their position in American society He then focuses on the results from the National Survey of Black Americans a national survey of African Americans on a wide range of political social and psychological issues to develop a model of African self Allen explores the idea of double consciousness as put forth by W E B DuBois against the more recent debates of Afrocentricity or an African centered consciousness He proposes a set of interrelated hypotheses regarding how African Americans might use an African worldview for the upliftment of Africans in the Diaspora The Concept of Self will interest students and scholars of African American studies sociology and population studies Handbook of Social Psychology John DeLamater, 2006-11-24 Psychology focusing on processes that occur inside the individual and Sociology focusing on social collectives and social institutions come together in Social Psychology to explore the interface between the two fields The core concerns of social psychology include the impact of one individual on another the impact of a group on its individual members the impact of individuals on the groups in which they participate the impact of one group on another This book is a successor to Social Psychology Social Perspectives and Sociological Perspectives in Social Psychology The current text expands on previous handbooks in social psychology by including recent developments in theory and research and comprehensive coverage of significant theoretical perspectives Québec Studies in the Philosophy of Science Mathieu Marion, Robert S. Cohen, 2012-12-06 By North American standards philosophy is not new in Quebec the first mention of philosophy lectures given by a Jesuit in the College de Quebec founded 1635 dates from 1665 and the oldest logic manuscript dates from 1679 In English speaking universities such as McGill founded 1829 philosophy began to be taught later during the second half of the 19th century The major influence on English speaking philosophers was at least initially that of Scottish Empiricism On the other hand the strong influence of the Catholic Church on French Canadian society meant that the staff of the facultes of the French speaking universities consisted until recently almost entirely of Thomist philosophers There was accordingly little or no work in modern Formal Logic and Philosophy of Science and precious few contacts between the philosophical communities In the late forties Hugues Leblanc was a young student wanting to learn Formal Logic He could not find anyone in Quebec to teach him and he went to study at Harvard University under the supervision of W V Quine His best friend Maurice L Abbe had left a year earlier for Princeton to study with Alonzo Church After receiving his Ph D from Harvard in 1948 Leblanc started his professional career at Bryn Mawr College where he stayed until 1967 He then went to Temple University where he taught until his retirement in 1992 serving as Chair of the Department of Philosophy from 1973 until 1979
