Scientists Editors: Peggy Saari and Stephen Allison, 1996 Biographical treatment of selected scientists covering personal details paths to discoveries contributions and impact of each scientific endeavor Making It in America Elliott Robert Barkan, 2001-05-01 This collection of over 400 biographies of eminent ethnic Americans celebrates a wide array of inspiring individuals and their contributions to U S history The stories of these 400 eminent ethnic Americans are a testimony to the enduring power of the American dream These men and women from 90 different ethnic groups certainly faced unequal access to opportunities Yet they all became renowned artists writers political and religious leaders scientists and athletes Kahlil Gibran Daniel Inouye Zbigniew Brzezinski Thurgood Marshall Madeleine Albright and many others are living proof that the land of opportunity sometimes lives up to its name Alongside these success stories as historian Elliot R Barkan notes in his introduction to this volume there have been many failures and many immigrants who did not stay in the United States Nevertheless the stories of these trailblazers visionaries and champions portray the breadth of possibilities from organizing a nascent community to winning the Nobel prize They also provide irrefutable evidence that no single generation and no single cultural heritage can claim credit for what America is Media Skills for Middle Schools Lucille W. Van Vliet, 1999-01-15

These practical and useful lesson plans promote teaching information and computer skills as an integral part of the middle school curriculum Emphasizing the vital role shared by media specialists teachers and administrators in connecting students to the Information Superhighway this new edition contains current goals terminology learning strategies and resources that encompass the Information Age The Elementary School Library Collection, Phases 1-2-3 ,2000 Chemistry Katherine Cullen, Katherine E. Cullen, 2005 Modern chemistry is the scientific study of the composition of the natural world From the atomic theory of matter to the development of the first periodic table of elements to the explanation of the nature of chemical bonding Chemistry examines 10 people who made some of the most progressive steps in the field Each chapter contains relevant information on the scientist's childhood, research, discoveries, and lasting contributions to the field, and concludes with a chronology and a list of print and Internet references specific to that individual. Library Media

Connection, 1997 Senior High Core Collection Raymond W. Barber, Patrice Bartell, 2007 Features annotations for more than 6,200 works in the main volume, 2007, and more than 2,400 new titles in three annual supplements published 2008 through 2010. New coverage of biographies, art, sports, Islam, the Middle East, cultural diversity, and other contemporary topics keeps your library's collection as current as today's headlines. Death of a Scientist Michael G. Welham, Mike

Welham, 2013 A Time for War When a President and a Prime Minister want to go to war to remove a dictator and gain control of his country's vast reserves of oil, they must gain public support. A threat from the dictator, President, to use chemical and biological weapons gives them their reason. But the weapons inspectors just can't find the evidence that the country has such weapons. To counter this, a political dossier is created claiming the existence of weapons of mass destruction. A Time to Die Dr. John Finch, the world-renowned British specialist in chemical and biological weapons, is a member of a UN inspection team. He discovers that no such weapons exist; that the dossier is misleading and refuses to toe the political line. His actions do not stop the war, but it results in him becoming a target for a political assassination. Chuck Cornell, a member of the ultra-secret Black Eagles, is assigned the task, and Dr. Finch is his victim. When Dr. Finch is found dead in a wood, it looks like suicide, but somebody has tampered with the crime scene. Unidentified men are seen in the area, and unusual activity at the scene is observed. A Time for Justice To halt the media frenzy, a formal inquiry is set up, but vital witnesses are not called, and a political cover-up looks likely. The Excalibur Foundation, an organization that seeks justice for political victims, decides to take up the case. They propose to hunt down Chuck Cornell themselves, and former French Foreign Legion sniper Dan Pierce is hired for the mission. During the operation to eliminate the Black Eagle, however, a political target comes into Dan's sights. Dan now holds the power to bring justice to the world; it's just a matter of squeezing the trigger. The West American Scientist, 1888 The Faithful Scientist Christopher P. Scheitle, 2023-10-24 Reveals biases within scientific PhD training programs against emerging scientists who embrace a religious faith and the ramifications for science. Science is often viewed as antithetical to religion, and it is true that scientists, particularly those who work at universities, are generally much less religious than the average American adult. So what is it like to be a religious individual pursuing an advanced education and career in science? Featuring engaging interviews and survey data from over 1,300 PhD students in the natural and social sciences, The Faithful Scientist shows that the core challenge is not contending with contradictions between faith-based beliefs and scientific knowledge. Instead, it is the bias budding scientific practitioners face from their colleagues if they are religious. These dynamics are important for science as a field and ultimately for those who engage with or benefit from the results of scientific research. There are real benefits to fostering diversity in science, which may lead to more useful discoveries for populations who have generally not been the focus of research. And women, Black, and Latina/o people tend in general to be more religious than their white male peers meaning that diversifying the gender ethnic and racial composition of the scientific workforce likely requires diversifying the religious composition too This book offers vital empirical data that provide insight into what it means to support and foster religious diversity in science Science as a Career Choice

Bernice T. Eduson, Linda Beckman, 1973-09-28 How can we identify the young men and women who as social and behavioral scientists of tomorrow will do the needed research to resolve our burgeoning social problems How can the most promising be attracted to an investigatory career How can they become identified with the behaviors attitudes and values that persons in science share A provocative body of literature about the psychology of the scientist and his career emerged in the post Sputnik era Drs Eduson and Beckman bring together more than seventy of the most significant and representative studies These range over childhood and family influences academic experiences motivations interests and intellectual and personality strengths that have been examined as precursors for choosing science as adult work The psychological mechanisms involved in socializing a young person toward a scientific career are suggested in readings from the outstanding theoreticians in the field Selections on scientific career lines decisions and options at various stages of work and factors influencing goals and career development contribute to the understanding of the psychological life of the highly endowed and well functioning professional adult Through showing the certain completeness of effort of what has been learned about the psychology of scientists to date the authors anticipate a resurgence of interest in the creative individual a renewed enthusiasm for application and a refocusing of research on the issues unique to the social and behavioral research scientist
