Longing Pier The:

The Longing Pier Rose A. Adkins, 2004-12-30 The Longing Pier is not an angry story and Irene is not an angry character She is resolved and leads us through a spiritually redemptive story Irene spends all her life longing never understanding why she suffers from it Then comes also a spiritual longing as though Irene is working hard to salvage what she can out of a religion that has ultimately left her confused And finally she does salvage a few good things forgiveness the consciousness of grace and the possibility of healing Throughout the story Irene is moving toward understanding her longing and the consequences of the absence of God in her life Irene grew up believing that God might abandon her and fear of being without him controls most of her young life As an adult she begins to have doubts about her faith in him The story comes around to a kind of spiritual and sexual awakening a kind of journey that we find personally interesting because it happens to many of us We have to move from one understanding of God to another and from one understanding of sexuality to another Holiday Waldo David Frank, 1923 Style and Form in American Prose Gorham Bert Munson, 1929 Holiday Waldo David Frank, 2003 The novel Holiday is a compelling account of a southern lynching in which the simmering sexual and religious fervor and the violent act to which they inexorably lead are depicted in a modernist experimental style Although Holiday was promoted alongside Harlem Renaissance works Waldo Frank was not a natural fit for the New Negro movement Born into an upper middle class Jewish family in New Jersey and educated at Yale Frank traveled around the South in 1922 with his friend the Harlem Renaissance writer Jean Toomer collecting observations for what was to become Holiday The events of the novel take place on a single day in the southern town of Nazareth a day so punishingly hot that Virginia Hade gives her father's black workers a holiday from work at the request of the black overseer John Cloud Meanwhile a Revival tent is set up in the town and a wave of religious passion spreads among the townsfolk culminating in the novel's final brutal act Waldo Frank 1889-1967 was a journalist and the author of The Unwelcome Man Our America Dawn in Russia and In the American Jungle among other works Kathleen Pfeiffer is an associate professor of English at Oakland University Rochester Michigan She is the author of Race Passing and American Individualism A Poemers' Poemings Marjory Bennett, 2018-02-15 I chose the title A Poemers' Poemings because it means for me that of someone to whom is always writing about something anything And it's odd and catchy at the same time and it's the main title for the series that I am writing in volumes too many to put all into one book I think of my poems all as individual artworks own a completeness from start to finish a journey a path a message that will inspire mesmerize intrigue and take you to that deepness that hasn't been felt or known of your own self Allow yourself to think out there and to see what each one is telling you Envision the poem and let yourself see the answers to your own thoughts of these pieces of artworks Hold Fast Our Daily Bread, James Banks, Dave Branon, Bill Crowder, Tim Gustafson, Arthur Jackson, Sheridan Voysey, Marvin Williams, Michael E. generally family members and any visiting guests The selected settings for listening to the stories were ideal either on house terraces or front yards of homes amidst the dark shadows of the palms and other trees lit only by starlight or moonlight Silence reigned except for the occasional sounds of the hooting of resident owls from abandoned old houses adding to the eerie atmosphere
