Apocalypse and Millennium in English Romantic Poetry Morton D. Paley, 1999-10-07 The interrelationship of the ideas of apocalypse and millennium is a dominant concern of British Romanticism. The Book of Revelation provides a model of history in which apocalypse is followed by millennium but in their various ways the major Romantic poets Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Keats, and Shelley question and even at times undermine the possibility of a successful secularization of this model. No matter how confidently the sequence of apocalypse and millennium seems to be affirmed in some of the major works of the period, the issue is always in doubt; the fear that millennium may not ensue emerges as a significant if often repressed theme in the great works of the period. Related to it is the tension in Romantic poetry between conflicting models of history itself: history as teleology developing towards end time and millennium and history as purposeless cycle. This subject matter is traced through a selection of works by the major poets partly through an exposition of their underlying intellectual traditions and partly through a close examination of the poems themselves. REAL. Vol. 4 Herbert Grabes, H. J. Diller, Hans Bungert, 2020-05-18 No detailed description available for REAL YEARBOOK VOL 4 E BOOK Literary Manuscript Culture in Romantic Britain Levy Michelle Levy, 2020-02-14 A study of the production and circulation of literary manuscripts in Romantic era Britain. Offers a detailed examination of the practices of literary manuscript culture particularly the production, circulation, and preservation of manuscripts based on extensive archival research. Demonstrates how literary manuscript culture co-evolved with print culture in a nuanced study of the interactions between the two media. Examines the changing cultural attitudes towards literary manuscripts and how these changes affected practices and values. Surveys the impact of digital media on our access to and understanding of historical manuscripts. This book examines how manuscript practices interacted with an expanding print marketplace to nurture and transform the period's literary culture. It unearths the alternative histories manuscripts tell us about British Romantic literary culture, describing the practices by which handwritten documents were written, shared, altered, and preserved, and explores the functions they served as instruments of expression and sociability. By demonstrating how literary manuscript culture co-evolved with print culture, this study illuminates the complex entanglements between the media of script and print. Literature and Authenticity, 1780-1900 Michael Davies, 2016-05-06 Individually and collectively these essays establish a new direction for scholarship that examines the crucial activities of reading and writing about literature and how they relate to authenticity. Though authenticity is a term deep in literary resonance and rich in philosophical complexity, its connotations relative to the study of literature have rarely been explored or exploited through detailed critical examination of individual writers and their works.

Here the notion of the authentic is recognised first and foremost as central to a range of literary and philosophical ways of thinking particularly for nineteenth century poets and novelists Distinct from studies of literary fakes and forgeries this collection focuses on authenticity as a central paradigm for approaching literature and its formation that bears on issues of authority self reliance truth originality the valid and the real and the genuine and inauthentic whether applied to the self or others Topics and authors include the spiritual autobiographies of William Cowper and John Newton Ruskin and travel writing British Romantic women poets William Wordsworth and P B Shelley Robert Southey and Anna Seward John Keats Lord Byron Elizabeth Gaskell Henry David Thoreau Henry Irving and Joseph Conrad The volume also includes a note on Professor Vincent Newey with a bibliography of his critical writings

Shelley and the Romantic Imagination Thomas R. Frosch, 2007 Frosch offers a fuller psychoanalytic account of Shelley's poetry than previously available discussing both oedipal and pre oedipal conflict the positive and negative attitudes toward both the father and the mother and the subtle workings defensive and creative of the ego Jacket

Multiple Authorship and the Myth of Solitary Genius Jack Stillinger, 1991-08-15 This is a study of the collaborative creation behind literary works that are usually considered to be written by a single author Although most theories of interpretation and editing depend on a concept of single authorship many works are actually developed by more than one author Stillinger examines case histories from Keats Wordsworth Coleridge Mill and T S Eliot as well as from American fiction plays and films demonstrating that multiple authorship is a widespread phenomenon He shows that the reality of how an author produces a work is often more complex than is expressed in the romantic notion of the author as solitary genius The cumulative evidence revealed in this engaging study indicates that collaboration deserves to be included in any account of authorial achievement
