Many Human Senses:

The Many Human Senses Robert Froman, 1969 The Human Sense of Smell David G. Laing, Richard L. Doty, Winrich Breipohl, 2012-12-06 Often being vastly underrated the human sense of smell plays an essential role in our life e g in food acceptance fragrance appreciation and as a warning device for spoiled food toxic gases and the presence of fire The book provides a multidisciplinary up to date review of the structure and function of the sense of smell and of how it is influenced by the environment and diseases It is divided into the following 5 sections Anatomy Physiology and Chemistry Measurement of Olfactory Responses Development and Senescence Basic Characteristics of Human Olfaction Clinical and Health Aspects of Olfaction Senses of Touch: Human Dignity and Deformity from Michelangelo to Calvin Marjorie O'Rourke Boyle, 2021-10-11 Senses of Touch anatomizes the uniquely human hand as a rhetorical figure for dignity and deformity in early modern culture It concerns a valuational shift from the contemplative ideal as signified by the sense of sight to an active reality as signified by the sense of touch From posture to piety from manicure to magic the book discovers touch in a critical period of its historical development in anatomy and society It features new interpretations of two landmarks of western civilization Michelangelo's fresco of the Creation of Adam and Calvin's doctrine of election It also accords special attention to the typing of women as sensual creatures by using their hands as a heuristic Its alternative interpretations explore in theory and in practice the sensuality the creativity and the plain utility of hands thus integrating biology and culture Embodiment, How Animals and Humans Make Sense of Things: The Dawn of Art, Ethics, Science, Politics, and Religion Jesse James Thomas, 2018-02-27 This book is not about what we can teach animals but what they can teach us Their differences are often not as radical as most humans imagine which is one reason we love animals We have more neurons in our neurological systems but we share many of the same features and underestimate what they have learned about survival strategies over the eons We stop and think a lot more but in doing so can sometimes interfere with natural processes and the results are not always good Animals provide a good platform from which we should launch emotionally and even ethically if we pay attention to them This book is unlike carefully documented scholarly articles that Dr Thomas also writes It is written for a wide popular audience and is loaded with stories and humor It is meant to be easy to read for almost anyone Our Human Potential The Dalai Lama, 2019-05-28 When His Holiness the Dalai Lama gave a series of lectures at Harvard University they fulfilled magnificently his intention of providing an in depth introduction to Buddhist theory and practice He structured the presentation according to the teachings of the Four Noble Truths and expanded their meaning to cover most of the topics of Tibetan Buddhism The Dalai Lama's combination of superb intellect power of exposition and practical implementation are evident in these lectures He covers a broad spectrum of topics including the psychology of cyclic existence consciousness and karma techniques for meditation altruism valuing enemies wisdom and much more This book was previously published under the title The Dalai Lama at Harvard The Scent of Ancient Magic Britta K. Ager, 2022-04-27 Magic was a fundamental part of the Greco Roman world Curses erotic spells healing charms divination and other supernatural methods of trying to change the universe were everyday methods of coping with the difficulties of life in antiquity While ancient magic is most often studied through texts like surviving Greco Egyptian spellbooks and artifacts like lead curse tablets for a Greek or Roman magician a ritual was a rich sensual experience full of unusual tastes smells textures and sounds bright colors and sensations like fasting and sleeplessness Greco Roman magical rituals were particularly dominated by the sense of smell both fragrant smells and foul odors Ritual practitioners surrounded themselves with clouds of fragrant incense and perfume to create a sweet and inviting atmosphere for contact with the divine and to alter their own perceptions they also used odors as an instrumental weapon to attack enemies and command the gods Elsewhere odiferous herbs were used equally as medical cures and magical ingredients In literature scent and magic became intertwined as metaphors with fragrant spells representing the dangers of sensual perfumes and conversely smells acting as a visceral way of envisioning the mysterious action of magic The Scent of Ancient Magic explores the complex interconnection of scent and magic in the Greco Roman world between 800 BCE and CE 600 drawing on ancient literature and the modern study of the senses to examine the sensory depth and richness of ancient magic Author Britta K Ager looks at how ancient magicians used scents as part of their spells to put themselves in the right mindset for an encounter with a god or to attack their enemies through scent Ager also examines the magicians who appear in ancient fiction like Medea and Circe and the more metaphorical ways in which their spells are confused with perfumes and herbs This book brings together recent scholarship on ancient magic from classical studies and on scent from the interdisciplinary field of sensory studies in order to examine how practicing ancient magicians used scents for ritual purposes how scent and magic were conceptually related in ancient literature and culture and how the assumption that strong scents convey powerful effects of various sorts was also found in related areas like ancient medical practices and normative religious ritual A New Modern Philosophy Eugene Marshall, Susanne Sreedhar, 2019-03-07 The seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are arguably the most important period in philosophy's history given that they set a new and broad foundation for subsequent philosophical thought Over the last decade however discontent among instructors has grown with coursebooks unwavering focus on the era's seven most well known philosophers all of them white and male and on their exclusively metaphysical and epistemological concerns While few dispute the centrality of these figures and the questions they raised the modern era also included essential contributions from women like Margaret Cavendish Elisabeth of Bohemia Mary Wollstonecraft and milie Du Ch telet as well as important non white thinkers such as Anton Wilhelm Amo Julien Raimond and Ottobah Cugoana At the same time there has been increasing recognition that moral and political philosophy philosophy of the natural world and philosophy of race also vibrant areas of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries need to be better integrated with the standard coverage of metaphysics and epistemology A New Modern Philosophy The Inclusive Anthology of Primary Sources addresses in one volume these valid criticisms Weaving together multiple voices and all of the era s vibrant areas of debate this volume sets a new agenda for studying modern philosophy It includes a wide range of readings from 34 thinkers integrating essential works from all of the canonical writers along with the previously neglected philosophers Arranged chronologically editors Eugene Marshall and Susanne Sreedhar provide an introduction for each author that sets the thinker in his or her time period as well as in the longer debates to which the thinker contributed Study questions and suggestions for further reading conclude each chapter At the end of the volume in addition to a comprehensive subject index the book includes 13 Syllabus Modules which will help instructors use the book to easily set up different topically structured courses such as The Citizen and the State Mind and Matter Education Theories of Perception or Metaphysics of Causation And an eresource offers a wide range of supplemental online resources including essay assignments exams quizzes student handouts reading questions and scholarly articles on teaching the history of philosophy

Yearbook of the United States Department of Agriculture, 1895 A Place to Live United States. Department of Agriculture, 1963 A Case for the Existence of God Dean L. Overman, 2009 In A Case for the Existence of God Dean L. Overman examines the latest theories about the origins of the universe and explains why even the most sophisticated science can take us only so far Ultimately we must make a leap of faith to understand the world and Overman argues that a leap into theism provides the most satisfying conclusions Overman explores fundamental questions about why our world exists and how it functions using principles of logic physics and theology In a time when religion and science are often portrayed as diametrically opposed A Case for the Existence of God presents a refreshing view of the interplay between science and religion and makes a compelling case for the existence of God and His role in our world

BOOK JACKET Naturalist, 1918 Dog Sense John Bradshaw, 2012-05-08 Dogs have been mankind s faithful companions for tens of thousands of years yet today they are regularly treated as either pack following wolves or furry humans The truth is dogs are neither and our misunderstanding has put them in serious crisis What dogs really need is a spokesperson someone who will assert their specific needs Renowned anthrozoologist Dr John Bradshaw has made a career of studying human animal interactions and in Dog Sense he uses the latest scientific research to show how humans can live in harmony with not just dominion over their four legged friends From explaining why positive reinforcement is a more effective and less damaging way to control dogs behavior than punishment to demonstrating the importance of weighing a dog s unique personality against stereotypes about its breed Bradshaw offers extraordinary insight into the question of how we really ought to treat our dogs

Common Sense and Science from Aristotle to Reid Benjamin W. Redekop, 2020-11-05 Common Sense and Science from Aristotle to Reid reveals that thinkers have pondered the nature of common sense and its relationship to science and scientific thinking for a very long time It demonstrates how a diverse array of neglected early modern thinkers turn out to have been on the right track for understanding how the mind makes sense of the world and how basic features of the human mind and cognition are related to scientific theory and practice Drawing on a wealth of primary sources and scholarship from the history of ideas cognitive science and the history and philosophy of science this book helps readers understand the fundamental historical and philosophical relationship between common sense and science A Brain-Focused Foundation for Economic Science Richard B. McKenzie,2018-06-06 This book argues that

Lionel Robbins's construction of the economics field's organizing cornerstone scarcity and all that has been derived from it from economists in Robbins's time to today no longer can generate general consent among economists Since Robbins's Essay economists have learned more than Robbins and his cohorts could have imagined about human decision making and about the human brain that is the lynchpin of human decision making This book argues however that behavioral economists and neuroeconomists in pointing to numerous ways people fall short of perfectly rational decisions anomalies biases and downright errors have saved conventional economics from such self-contradictions in what could be viewed as a wayward approach This book posits that the human brain is the ultimate scarce resource and that a focus on the brain can bring a new foundation for economics and can save the discipline from hostile criticisms from a variety of non-economists many psychologists The Postsouthern Sense of Place in Contemporary Fiction Martyn Bone,2005-06-01 For generations

southern novelists and critics have grappled with a concept that is widely seen as a trademark of their literature a strong attachment to geography or a sense of place In the 1930s the Agrarians accorded special meaning to rural life particularly the farm in their definitions of southern identity For them the South seemed an organic and rooted region in contrast to the North where real estate development and urban sprawl evoked a faceless raw capitalism By the end of the twentieth century however economic and social forces had converged to create a modernized South How have writers responded to this phenomenon Is there still a sense of place in the South or perhaps a distinctly postsouthern sense of place Martyn Bone innovatively draws upon postmodern thinking to consider the various perspectives that southern writers have brought to the concept of place and to look at its fate in a national and global context He begins with a revisionist assessment of the Agrarians who failed in their attempts to turn their proprietary ideal of the small farm into actual policy but whose broader rural aesthetic lived on in the work of neo-Agrarian writers including William Faulkner and Eudora Welty By the 1950s adherence to this aesthetic was causing southern writers and critics to lose sight of the social reality of a changing South Bone turns to more recent works that do respond to the impact of capitalist spatial development on the South and on the nation generally including that self-declared international city Atlanta Close readings of novels by Robert Penn Warren Walker Percy Richard Ford Anne Rivers Siddons Tom Wolfe and Toni Cade Bambara illuminate evolving ideas about capital land labor and class while introducing southern literary studies into wider debates around social cultural and literary geography Bone concludes his remarkably rich book by considering works of Harry Crews and Barbara Kingsolver that suggest the southern sense of place may be not only post-Agrarian or postsouthern but also transnational Migration from Food Contact Materials L.L. Katan,2012-12-06 The advent of sophisticated packaging materials and methods had stimulated the development of complex delivery systems from producer to consumer resulting in the availability of a wide range of products at an affordable price Contemporary distribution methods are not without problems however and specifically related to packaging is the possibility of migration the contamination of food by components of the materials in contact with it In this area both technology and regulations are well developed but basic science for a variety of reasons has tended to advance less quickly This book addresses the basic science of migration The editor has brought together a range of authors all of whom are acknowledged experts in their fields to provide a timely and concise overview of this important topic Covering basic science common materials and the major regulations in North America Europe and Japan this book will become a key information source in every library concerned with food technology Food technologists manufacturers of packaging and other food contact materials and regulatory professionals will all find this book an indispensable reference source

A Cultural History of the Senses in the Modern Age David Howes,2014-10-23 In the 20th century many aspects of life became a matter of perception in the wake of the multiplication of media stylistic experimentation and the rise of multiculturalism Life sped up as a result of new modes of transportation automobiles and airplanes and communication telephones and personal computers which emphasized the rapid movement of people and ideas The proliferation of synthetic products and simulated experiences from artificial flavors to video games in turn created heady virtual worlds of sensation This progressive mediation and acceleration of sensation along with the sensory and environmental pollution it often spawned also sparked various countertrends such as the back to nature movement the craft movement slow food and alternative medicine This volume shows how attending to the sensory dynamics of the modern age yields many fresh insights into the intertwined processes which gave the 20th century its particular feel of technological prowess and gaudy artificiality A Cultural History of the Senses in the Modern Age presents essays on the following topics the social life of the senses urban sensations the senses in the marketplace the senses in religion the senses in philosophy and science medicine and the senses the senses in literature art and the senses and sensory media Making Sense of Evolution John F. Haught, 2010-01-01 Haught offers a provocative take on how reconciliation between evolution and Christian theology might begin and questions whether the two concepts must be mutually exclusive
