Democracy and Decency Paul R. Carr, P. L. Thomas, Brad J. Porfilio, Julie A. Gorlewski, 2016-02-01 Democracy can mean a range of concepts covering everything from freedoms rights elections governments processes philosophies and a panoply of abstract and concrete notions that can be mediated by power positionality culture time and space Democracy can also be translated into brute force hegemony docility compliance and conformity as in wars will be decided on the basis of the needs of elites or major decisions about spending finite resources will be the domain of the few over the masses or people will be divided along the lines of race ethnicity class religion etc because it is advantageous for maintaining exploitative political systems in place to do so Often these frameworks are developed and reified based on the notion that elections give the right to societies or segments of societies to install regimes institutions and operating systems that are then supposedly legitimated and rendered infinitely just because formal power resides in the hands of those dominating forces This book is interested in advancing a critical analysis of the hegemonic paradigm described above one that seeks higher levels of political literacy and consciousness and one that makes the connection with education What does education have to do with democracy How does education shape influence impinge on impact negate facilitate and or change the context contours and realities of democracy How can we teach for and about democracy to alter and transform the essence of what democracy is and importantly what it should be This book advances the notion of decency in relation to democracy and is underpinned by an analysis of meaningful critically engaged education Is it enough to be kind nice generous and hopeful when we can also see signs of rampant entrenched and debilitating racism sexism poverty violence injustice war and other social inequalities If democracy is intended to be a legitimating force for good how does education inform democracy What types of knowledge experience analysis and being are helpful to bring about newer more meaningful and socially just forms of democracy Throughout some twenty chapters from a range of international scholars this book includes three sections Constructing Meanings for Democracy and Decency Justice for All as Praxis and Social Justice in Action for Democracy Decency and Diversity International Perspectives The underlying thread that is interwoven through the texts is a critical reappraisal of normative hegemonic interpretations of how power is infused into the educational realm and importantly how democracy can be re situated and re formulated so as to more meaningfully engage society and education

The Everything Guide to Informational Texts, K-2 Kathy H. Barclay, Laura Stewart, Deborah M. Lee, 2014-02-20 Do monarch butterflies have a nose a kindergartener inquires Does it rain on the moon a first grader wonders Does a white shark really produce 30 million teeth asks a second grader These incisive critical quests for additional knowledge about the world are precisely what children do when the Common Core State Standards for informational texts go right in K 2 And with The Everything Guide to Informational Texts the Common Core will go right in K 2 Authors Kathy Barclay and Laura Stewart have written the book that teachers like you have been pleading for a resource that delivers the what I need to know Monday through Friday to engage kids in a significant amount of informational text reading experiences No filler no lofty ideals about college and career readiness but instead the information on how to find lesson worthy texts and create developmentally appropriate instructional plans that truly help young readers comprehend grade level texts What you ll love most The how to s on selecting stellar informational texts High impact comprehension strategies for nonfiction Suggestions on providing sufficient challenge in guided reading read alouds and other practices Model text lessons and lesson plan templates across each grade An annotated list of 449 informational texts for read alouds guided reading and independent reading It s time to bring in to our classrooms all the high quality informational texts that are available It s time to demonstrate to students how to read them and to allow the authors of these children s texts to take readers into rich complex ideas they can handle with our support If ever there were a book to quell our concern about how Common Core expectations will play out in grades K 2 this is it

Education for Social Work Practice with American Indian Families:

Introductory text, 1981 Voices of Islam Virginia G. Blakemore-Henry, Vincent J. Cornell, Omid Safi, 2006-12-30 Despite frequent and extensive publications on Islam very few Americans indeed very few non Muslims truly understand the faith or the more than one billion adherents who live it This set presents the diversity and richness of Islam filling in the blanks and expanding our knowledge and understanding Portraying Muslims in all their humanity and diversity balances the images that have bombarded society and presents the reader with a fuller and more accurate picture of the Islamic faith and what it means to live as a Muslim in Muslim communities and as part of a broader tapestry of pluralism in the nations of the world What does it mean to share Muslim concerns To experience Muslim spirituality What is the difference between Sunni and Shiite sects Why do Muslims pray so frequently What is the reality of Muslim marriage and gender relations What is the meaning of jihad and martyrdom to a practicing Muslim What role do the arts and humanities play in modern Muslim life How are Islamic children raised These questions and others are answered in these volumes which bring together Muslim voices from around the world including men and women scholars and laypersons fundamentalists and progressives and others from various cultural political and Islamic backgrounds Personal experiences and poetry are included to illustrate the many different expressions of Islam

A Year in White C. Lynn Carr, 2016-01-19 In the Afro Cuban Lukumi religious tradition more commonly known in the United States as Santería entrants into the priesthood undergo an extraordinary fifty three week initiation period During this time these novices called iyawo endure a host of prohibitions including most notably wearing exclusively white clothing In A Year in White sociologist C Lynn Carr who underwent this initiation herself opens a window on this remarkable year long religious transformation In her intimate investigation of the year in white Carr draws on fifty two in depth interviews with other participants an online survey of nearly two hundred others and almost a decade of her own ethnographic fieldwork gathering stories that allow us to see how cultural newcomers and natives thought felt and acted with regard to their initiation She documents how during the iyawo year the ritual slowly transforms the initiate s identity For the first three months for instance the iyawo may not use a mirror even to shave and must eat all meals while seated on a mat on the floor using only a spoon and their own set of dishes During the entire year the iyawo loses their name and is simply addressed as iyawo by family and friends Carr also shows that this year long religious ritual which is carried out even as the iyawo goes about daily life offers new insight into religion in general suggesting that the sacred is not separable from the profane and indeed that religion shares an ongoing dynamic relationship with the realities of everyday life Religious expression happens at home on the streets at work and school Offering insight not only into Santer a but also into religion more generally A Year in White makes an important contribution to our understanding of complex dynamic religious landscapes in multicultural pluralist societies and how they inhabit our daily lives
