Map To The Next World:

A Map to the Next World Joy Harjo, 2000 The poet author of The Woman Who Fell from the Sky draws on her own Native American heritage in a collection of lyrical poetry that explores the cruelties and tragedies of history and the redeeming miracles of human kindness Spiral to the Stars Laura Harjo, 2019-06-25 All communities are teeming with energy spirit and knowledge and Spiral to the Stars taps into and activates this dynamism to discuss Indigenous community planning from a Mvskoke perspective This book poses questions about what community is how to reclaim community and how to embark on the process of envisioning what and where the community can be Geographer Laura Harjo demonstrates that Mvskoke communities have what they need to dream imagine speculate and activate the wishes of ancestors contemporary kin and future relatives all in a present temporality which is Indigenous futurity Organized around four methodologies radical sovereignty community knowledge collective power and emergence geographies Spiral to the Stars provides a path that departs from traditional community making strategies which are often extensions of the settler state Readers are provided a set of methodologies to build genuine community relationships knowledge power and spaces for themselves Communities don't have to wait on experts because this book helps them activate their own possibilities and expertise A detailed final chapter provides participatory tools that can be used in workshop settings or one on one This book offers a critical and concrete map for community making that leverages Indigenous way finding tools Mvskoke narratives thread throughout the text vividly demonstrating that theories come from lived and felt experiences This is a must have book for community organizers radical pedagogists and anyone wishing to empower and advocate for their community

Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature Bron Taylor, 2008-06-10 The Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature originally published in 2005 is a landmark work in the burgeoning field of religion and nature It covers a vast and interdisciplinary range of material from thinkers to religious traditions and beyond with clarity and style Widely praised by reviewers and the recipient of two reference work awards since its publication see www.religionandnature.com ern this new more affordable version is a must have book for anyone interested in the manifold and fascinating links between religion and nature in all their many senses Native American Writers Harold Bloom, Sterling Professor of Humanities Harold Bloom, 2010 Presents a collection of critical essays analyzing modern Native American writers including Joy Harjo Louise Erdrich James Welch and more Angélique Arnauld Frances Martin, 1873 History of Cartography Leo Bagrow, 2017-07-12 This illustrated work is intended to acquaint readers with the early maps produced in both Europe and the rest of the world and to tell us something of their development their makers and printers their varieties and characteristics The authors chief concern is with the appearance of maps they exclude any examination of their content or of scientific methods of mapmaking This book ends in the second half of the eighteenth century when craftsmanship was superseded by specialized science and the machine As a history of the evolution of the early map it is a stunning work of art and science This expanded second edition of Bagrow and Skelton's History of Cartography marks the reappearance of this seminal work after a hiatus of nearly a half century. As a reprint project undertaken many years after the book last appeared, finding suitable materials to work from proved to be no easy task. Because of the wealth of monochrome and color plates, the book could only be properly reproduced using the original materials. Ultimately, the authors were able to obtain materials from the original printer, Scotchprints, or contact films made directly from original plates, thus allowing the work to preserve the beauty and clarity of the illustrations. Old maps collated with other materials help us to elucidate the course of human history. It was not until the eighteenth century, however, that maps were gradually stripped of their artistic decoration and transformed into plain, specialist sources of information based upon measurement. Maps are objects of historical, artistic, and cultural significance, and thus collecting them seems to need no justification simply for enjoyment.

Speak to Me Words Dean Rader, Janice Gould, 2003-11 Although American Indian poetry is widely read and discussed, few resources have been available that focus on it critically. This book is the first collection of essays on the genre, bringing poetry out from under the shadow of fiction in the study of Native American literature. Highlighting various aspects of poetry written by American Indians since the 1960s, it is a wide-ranging collection that balances the insights of Natives and non-Natives, men and women, old and new voices.

Discovering the Mammoth John J. McKay, 2017-08-08 The fascinating saga of solving the mystery of this ancient animal, who once roamed the north country and has captivated our collective imagination ever since. Today we know that a mammoth is an extinct type of elephant that was covered with long fur and lived in the north country during the ice ages. But how do you figure out what a mammoth is if you have no concept of extinction, ice ages, or fossils? Long after the last mammoth died and was no longer part of the human diet, it still played a role in human life. Cultures around the world interpreted the remains of mammoths through the lens of their own worldview and mythology. When the ancient Greeks saw deposits of giant fossils, they knew they had discovered the battle fields where the gods had vanquished the Titans. When the Chinese discovered buried ivory, they knew they had found dragons' teeth. But as the Age of Reason dawned, monsters and giants gave way to the scientific method. Yet the mystery of these mighty bones remained. How did Enlightenment thinkers overcome centuries of myth and misunderstanding to reconstruct an unknown animal? The journey to unravel that puzzle begins in the 1690s with the arrival of a new type of ivory on the European market, bearing the exotic name mammoth. It ends during the Napoleonic Wars with the first recovery of a frozen mammoth. The path to figuring out the mammoth was traveled by merchants, diplomats, missionaries, cranky doctors, collectors of natural wonders, Swedish POWs, Peter the Great, Ben Franklin, the inventor of hot chocolate, and even one pirate. McKay brings together dozens of original documents and illustrations, some ignored for centuries, to show how this odd assortment of characters solved the mystery of the mammoth and, in doing so, created the science of paleontology.

Spiraling Webs of Relation Joanne DiNova, 2005-09-16 This work builds on indigenous theory as evident in the writing of Willie Ermine, Gregory Cajete, Craig Womack, Jace Weaver.

Laurie Anne Whitt Linda Tuhiwai Smith Voila Cordova Dennis McPherson and others It works towards a criticism that in accordance with the precepts of such theory is community oriented It argues for a examination of literature in terms of its function for or against the community in the expansive sense of the term The Green Ghost Chad Weidner,2016-03-16 Until now much scholarly work on Burroughs has focused on the sensational aspects of his life and on his innovative writing The Green Ghost by Chad Weidner uncovers the ecological context of literary texts by William Burroughs By rereading canonical and ignored texts while pushing the boundaries of ecocritical theory and practice Weidner provides a fresh perspective on Burroughs and suggests new theoretical and methodological approaches to understanding the work of other Beat writers Using an ecocritical lens Weidner explores the toxicity in Naked Lunch while at the same time teasing out latent ecological questions embedded in Burroughs later works The author s analysis of unknown and miniature cut ups texts that have been disassembled and rearranged to create new passages provides a novel understanding of these cryptic forms Weidner also examines in detail books by Burroughs that have been virtually ignored by critics exposing the deep ecology of the Beat writer s vision In calling attention to Burroughs s narrative strategies that link him to an environmental political position The Green Ghost demonstrates that the work of the Beat writer is a ripe source for ecocritical dialogue Ecology and Literatures in English Françoise Besson,2018-12-14 In all latitudes writers hold out a mirror leading the reader to awareness by telling real or imaginary stories about people of good will who try to save what can be saved and about animals showing humans the way to follow Such tales argue that in spite of all destructions and tragedies if we are just aware of and connected to the real world around us to the blade of grass at our feet and the star above our heads there is hope in a reconciliation with the Earth This may start with the emergence or rather the return of a nonverbal language restoring the connection between human beings and the nonhuman world through a form of communication beyond verbalization Through a journey in Anglophone literature with examples taken from Aboriginal African American English Canadian and Indian works this book shows the role played by literature in the protection of the planet It argues that literature reveals the fundamental idea that everything is connected and that it is only when most people are aware of this connection that the world will change Exactly as a tree is connected with all the animal life in and around it texts show that nothing should be separated From Shakespeare s theatre to eco-poetics from travel writing to detective novels from children s books to novels all literary genres show that literature responds to the violence destroying lands men and nonhuman creatures whose voices can be heard through texts Missional Map-Making Alan Roxburgh,2010-02-08 Guidance for church leaders to develop their own maps and chart new paths toward stronger more vibrant and more missional congregations In the burgeoning missional church movement churches are seeking to become less focused on programs for members and more oriented toward outreach to people who are not already in church This fundamental shift in what a congregation is and does and thinks is challenging for leaders and congregants Using the metaphor of map making the book explains the perspective and skills needed to lead congregations and denominations in a time of radical change over unfamiliar terrain as churches change their focus from internal to external Offers a clear guide for leaders wanting to transition to a missional church model Written by Alan Roxburgh a prominent expert and practitioner in the missional movement Guides leaders seeking to create new maps for leadership and church organization and focus A Volume in the popular Leadership Network Series This book is written to be accessible to all Christian congregational styles and denominations Poetics of Dislocation Meena Alexander, 2009 A prominent poet brings the experience of the world to her struggles to find her place in America and explores what the many cultures in this country mean for poets practicing their craft A Planetary Lens Audrey Goodman, 2021-10 A Planetary Lens explores how women writers and photographers revise and reimagine landscape identity and history in the U S West Reasoning Together Craig S. Womack, Daniel Heath Justice, Christopher B. Teuton, 2008 A paradigm shift in American Indian literary criticism With the Witnesses Dale Tracy, 2017-06-09 While trauma theory has been adopted by contemporary literary and cultural studies as an ethical way to study depictions of suffering there is a risk that its present use could cause more harm than good By emphasizing inaccessible histories unspeakable suffering and unconscious witnessing trauma theory may lead readers to claim others suffering through empathic identification In With the Witnesses Dale Tracy argues that poetry offers an alternative approach to engage with not only suffering in art but suffering in general Examining the strategies of witness poetry Tracy interrogates and reformulates the dominant models of trauma studies in which readers take over the witnessing position by identifying with the speaker as a witness If the purpose of reading such poetry is to contribute to a chain of witnesses what is the distinct role of a reader and how does it differ from the role of the poem s speaker Tracy proposes that metonymy a logic of nearness rather than likeness is compassion s formal manifestation Analyzing poetry that emphasizes the contiguity of metonymy over the substitution of metaphor she attends to the positions into which witnessing speakers invite readers Poems that respond to diverse national and transnational contexts of atrocity conflict and marginalization guide With the Witnesses toward a compassionate response to suffering that involves feeling with not as another Following each poem as a unique theory of compassion With the Witnesses demonstrates that poems hold suffering signed as art not claimable traces of suffering New Visions and New Voices Clifford Mayes, Susan Persing, Cynthia Schumacher, 2021-12-09 In this book Clifford Mayes and his associates take archetypal pedagogy a Jungian approach to teaching and learning and extend it beyond just the educational processes that take place in classrooms which are those spaces that a culture dedicates to the generation and acquisition of codified scholastic knowledge It looks at the archetypal dynamics of teaching and learning as fundamental to human existence itself From the cradle to the grave we are involved in informing and shaping the worldviews of others just as they are involved in impacting ours Deep relationship an I Thou relationship not only allows but requires this to be the case so that the discussants can become what Martin Buber called dialogical partners engaged in both mutual critique and mutual affirmation as they reach
