Marching To A Different Drummer:

Marching to a Different Drummer Robin K. Berson, 1994-09-30 These 35 little known heroes and heroines of American history from across the ethnic spectrum have been virtually ignored in traditional history books Their inspiring biographical profiles reveal the struggle in the face of entrenched opposition for a just equitable and humane society They spoke for racial and social justice women s rights safe working conditions and freedom of conscience and religion More than half of the profiles are of women one fourth are of African Americans and Native Americans Asian Americans Latino and Chicano Americans are also represented Each profile integrates the individual life with a detailed explanation of the historical context and each entry provides excerpts from primary sources speeches writings and interviews and is followed by broad bibliographical references An alternative perspective on American history for students is offered in this work The 35 men and women profiled here all defied the social and moral conventions of their times frequently facing opposition and condemnation Their voices were often stifled muted or lost but their ethically grounded courage their clarity of vision and their willingness to stand up to injustice provide role models for Americans of all ages One third of these people cannot be found in standard biographical references and others have never before been the focus of biographical sketches Subject lists by chronology gender ethnicity and focus of the biographee s concern will enable the student to select an appropriate subject for investigation and reports

Marching to a Different Drummer April McDonald (Marie), 2001 Marching to a Different Drummer Martin Goldfarb, Tom Axworthy, 1988 I Don't March to the Beat of a Different Drummer: I'm the Whole Band, Upstate Update Charles Dorland, 1989 Forever, Erma Erma Bombeck, 2013-01-15 New York Times Bestseller This anthology of Erma Bombeck s most memorable and humorous essays is a tribute to one of America s sharpest wits When she began writing her regular newspaper column in 1965 Erma Bombeck s goal was to make housewives laugh Thirty years later she had published more than four thousand columns and earned countless laughs from housewives presidents and everyone in between With grace good humor and razor sharp prose she gently skewered every aspect of the American family This collection holds the best of her columns not just her famous quips but also the heartbreaking observations that gave her writing such weight In 1969 Erma wrote screaming kids unpaid bills green leftovers husbands behind newspapers basketballs in the bathroom They re real they re warm they re the only bit of normalcy left in this cockeyed world and I m going to cling to it like life itself With what Publishers Weekly calls her infectious sense of human absurdity Erma Bombeck s writing remains a timeless examination of the still cockeyed world This ebook features an illustrated biography of Erma Bombeck including rare images and never before seen documents from the author s estate

One Hundred Semesters William M. Chace, 2014 In One Hundred Semesters William Chace mixes incisive analysis with memoir to create an illuminating picture of the evolution of American higher education over the past half century Chace follows his own journey from undergraduate education at Haverford College to teaching at Stillman a traditionally African American college in Alabama in the 1960s to his days as a professor at Stanford and his appointment as president of two very different institutions Wesleyan University and Emory University Chace takes us with him through his decades in education his expulsion from college his boredom and confusion as a graduate student during the Free Speech movement at Berkeley and his involvement in three contentious cases at Stanford on tenure curriculum and academic freedom When readers follow Chace on his trip to jail after he joins Stillman students in a civil rights protest it is clear that the ideas he presents are born of experience not preached from an ivory tower

The book brings the reader into both the classroom and the administrative office portraying the unique importance of the former and the peculiar rituals rewards and difficulties of the latter Although Chace sees much to lament about American higher education spiraling costs increased consumerism overly aggressive institutional self promotion and marketing the corruption of intercollegiate sports and the melancholy state of the humanities he finds more to praise He points in particular to its strength and vitality suggesting that this can be sustained if higher education remains true to its purpose providing a humane and necessary education inside the classroom and out for America s future generations

Jesse Jackson And The Politics Of Charisma Ernest R. House,2019-04-02 On January 15 1975 the Reverend Jesse Jackson was leading a demonstration around the White House to protest the lack of jobs for black youths As the demonstrators marched Jackson was shocked to discover that many of the black youths marching with him were drunk or on drugs many of them out of control Abruptly he called a halt to the demonstration and sent the marchers home Within a few months Jackson launched a national campaign in the urban high schools of the nation to save the black youths of his country to get them off drugs and motivate them to work hard study in school develop self discipline and become successful in American society A program called PUSH for Excellence or PUSH Excel was an outgrowth of his Operation PUSH organization. Society had no solutions for the black teenagers whom Jackson was trying to help and his efforts were highly praised at first by the media and government officials.

Waistland: A (R)evolutionary View of Our Weight and Fitness Crisis Deirdre

Barrett, 2007-06-17 Harvard psychologist Deirdre Barrett tackles the obesity and fitness crisis from an evolutionary standpoint. In the modern jungle of burgers, couches, and remote controls, obesity is an enormous and growing epidemic. Weight loss books and diet gurus urge us to listen to our bodies, but our instincts are designed for the African savannah, not food courts. The sugary and fatty foods that we as hunter-gatherers are programmed to forage used to be hard to come by. Now they're as close as the vending machine down the hall. Radical changes are necessary and fortunately are biologically easier than small or gradual changes in diet. Barrett tells us how to reprogram our bodies, break food addictions, and ignore our attraction to supernormal stimuli—artificial creations that appeal to our instincts more than the natural objects they mimic. Barrett delves into scientific research from animal ethology to evolution to show the disastrous direction in which our instincts have led us and how, using our intellect, we can get back on course.
