Guest edited by Agostino De Rosa Alessio Bortot and Francesco Bergamo Penumbra from the Latin paene almost and umbra shadow can be defined as an intermediate zone of transition between light and shadow Penumbra is therefore that space both physical and imaginary where everything is possible it is the place of the uncanny where presence and or absence can produce wonder or horror This AD positions the presence of this archetype in the contemporary world of architecture investigating the ways it permeates different expressive forms from critical theory to architectural drawing from design and planning to photography The contributors illustrate and discuss how penumbra has shaped their creativity and modified their approach to the design process As a physical phenomenon penumbra has supra historical and global connotations nonetheless different cultures elaborate its symbolism in different ways Its wide semantic spectrum powerfully inspires creative forms that hover between fullness and emptiness presence and absence past and future The critical perspectives in this issue offer a wide analysis of penumbra's expressive potential and the key to an in depth understanding of this elusive layer of reality Contributors Matthias B rmann Silvia Benedito Filippo Bricolo Edwin Carels Javier Corval n Dris Kettani Stephen Kite Giancarlo Mazzanti Akira Mizuta Lippit Susanna Piscicella Renato Rizzi Paul O Robinson and Antonella Soldaini

Atmospheres of Projection Giuliana Bruno,2022-10-13

Following on the success of Surface Bruno s previous book with us in this new one she explores the act and art of projection in its manifold guises and what those can tell us about how we think and feel and create the world we inhabit This is not just an exploration of the psychological operation of projection the idea that we cast onto others the qualities we refuse to acknowledge in ourselves It is a major work of cultural history and media archaeology As a way to transform space and atmosphere projection has a long history in the arts dating back to shadow plays camera obscuras magic lantern shows and phantasmagoria But the atmosphere of projection is not a thing of the past alone It is alive and well today It continues to fascinate us as screens filled with moving figures pervade the spaces of the art gallery and the museum as well as the environments of our daily lives What is the root of our fascination How does it manifest in contemporary art How do we define atmosphere How is projection an atmosphere Are these two modalities conceptually and historically related and how so Why are artists today so interested in environments and in elements of projection To explain this continual fascination with projection and atmosphere Bruno traverses psychoanalysis architecture the history of science visual art and moving image culture to see how projective mechanisms and their environments have developed over time

Aesthetic Resistance and Dis-interest John Stepling,2016-03-29T00:00:00+02:00 The collusion of galleries collectors and curators following the model of studio film and network TV has equated popularity with quality The problem then is to recuperate something of the lost radical conscience of art and culture Art is a recreation of our own psychic formation mimesis as well as being shaped by its otherness and by history All stories are crime stories all stories are about exile and all stories are about homesickness And all art contains a narrative Radical and working class voices are vetted and erased and replaced with corporate friendly kitsch The colonizing of consciousness has rendered the imagination of the west atrophied and almost inert To retain something of that utopian promise that is foundational in culture is increasingly difficult The world is being dis enchanted The Utopian promise is not being kept today's cultural phenomena and finds the prevailing taste to be neo baroque characterized by an appetite for virtuosity, frantic rhythms, instability, poly dimensionality and change. Omar Calabrese locates a sign of the times in an amazing variety of literary, philosophical, artistic, musical and architectural forms from the Venice Biennale through the new science to television series, video games and zapping with the remote control device from channel to channel. Calabrese admits that he begins the book with a refusal to distinguish between Donald Duck and Dante. Avoiding hierarchies or ghettos among works, he takes his readers on a fast paced expedition through contemporary culture that closes with an elegant essay on evaluation and classical form. According to Calabrese, the enormous quantity of narrative now being produced has led to a new situation: everything has already been said and everything has already been written. The only way of avoiding saturation has been to turn to a poetics of repetition. The author shows that pleasure in texts is now produced by tiny variations and a certain kind of citation from other works has taken on a central importance that would have been unthinkable only a few years ago. In describing this development and others shared by both avant garde and mass media, he makes us aware of the rapid shrinkage in the once ample space between highbrow and lowbrow.

Neo-Baroque Omar Calabrese,2017-03-14 A leading young Italian semiologist scrutinizes
