Daniel,2018-03-27 A necessary task of missionaries in recent decades has been to help local Christians inculturate or contextualize their faith although the criteria for doing so often came from outside the context in which new believers developed their understanding of Christianity Highlighting the voices of non Western scholars this work recognizes the importance of ritual and ceremony in the life of communities that seek to worship God in ways that reflect culturally appropriate responses to Scripture The contributors some of missiology s leading lights discuss rituals beliefs and practices of diverse peoples supporting the conclusion that orthodox Christianity is hybrid Christianity      Where Nets Were Cast John Garrett,1997 Describes the exposure of island churches to brutal interlopers in World War II which foreshadowed the twilight of the missionary and colonial eras      Mama Kuma Deborah Carlyon,2002 Kuma Kelage daughter of a Chimbu chieftain was there when the world changed From her quiet mountain village in the New Guinea Highlands she took change by the hand and led it Kuma defied tradition and married a white Australian With her precious golden child Ba she travelled beyond the boundaries of her home to enter a modern world This remarkable story of Mama Juma is told by Ba s daughter with love and humour and with the insight of the colonised It tells the wonder of one woman s journey through two cultures      Beyond a Mountain Valley Paula Brown,1995-01-01 Beyond a Mountain Valley focuses on Simbu memories performance and conceptions over the last sixty years particularly those relating to interactions with newcomers and other island peoples Simbu speak of their awakening their transitions their heroes and their future

Gender, Song, and Sensibility Pamela J. Stewart,Andrew Strathern,2002-08-30 The authors present a historical picture of gender relations in Highlands New Guinea by exploring domains of imagination as revealed in courting songs ballads and folktales from across the Highlands but with particular reference to field areas in the western Highlands Texts and or translations are from a rich corpus of materials previously unpublished in English The examples draw the reader into the imaginative world of the people while the analytical framework sets the discussion firmly into debates within interpretive anthropology The aim is to re examine the images of gender relations in Highlands New Guinea by revealing the sensuous and emotional modalities of expressive folk genres and their aesthetic qualities Ideas and practices centered on female spirit entities are shown to be important and pervasive in cult contexts and these spirits were felt to have a significant influence on relations of courtship marriage and reproduction Both women and men are also shown to have complex expressions of emotional dispositions in the spheres of courting and the choice of marital partners By entering into these domains the book modifies earlier analyses that have concentrated on antagonism behavioral taboos separation and domination as themes in gender relations in Highland societies

Political Life Writing in the Pacific Jack Corbett, Brij V. Lal, 2015-07-29 This book aims to reflect on the experiential side of writing political lives in the Pacific region The collection touches on aspects of the life writing art that are particularly pertinent to political figures public perception and ideology identifying important political successes and policy initiatives grappling with issues like corruption and age old political science questions about leadership and dirty hands These are general themes but they take on a particular significance in the Pacific context and so the contributions explore these themes in relation to patterns of colonisation and the memory of independence issues elliptically captured by terms like culture and tradition the nature of self presented in Pacific life writing and the tendency for many of these texts to be written by outsiders or at least the increasingly contested nature of what that term means

Religions of Melanesia Garry Trompf, 2006-09-30 Melanesia boasts over one quarter of the world's distinct religions and presents the most complex religious panorama on earth The region is famous for its unusual new religious movements that have adapted traditional beliefs to modernity in surprising ways As the first bibliographical survey to comprehensively cover the entire region Religions of Melanesia is an invaluable research aid for anyone interested in this growing field Trompf's work is a complete listing of scholarly publications and provides readable and concise descriptions that will clearly guide the researcher toward the most relevant sources This survey covers 2188 entries organized topically and regionally Trompf covers such subjects as traditional and modern belief systems and the emergent indigenous Christianity that has taken root Regional coverage includes Irian Jaya Papua New Guinea Solomon Islands Vanuatu New Caledonia and Fiji

Being Political Jack Corbett, 2015-01-31 Politicians everywhere tend to attract cynicism and inspire disillusionment They are supposed to epitomize the promise of democratic government and yet invariably find themselves cast as the enemy of every virtue that system seeks to uphold In the Pacific politician has become a byword for corruption graft and misconduct This was not always the case the independence generation is still remembered as strong leaders but today's leaders are commonly associated with malaise and despair Once heroes of self-determination politicians are now the targets of donor attempts to institute good governance while Fiji's 2006 coup was partly justified on the grounds that they needed cleaning up But who are these much maligned figures How did they come to arrive in politics What is it like to be a politician Why do they enter stay and leave Drawing on more than 110 interviews and other published sources including autobiographies and biographies Being Political provides a collective portrait of the region's political elite This is an insider account of political life in the Pacific as seen through the eyes of those who have done the job We learn that politics is a messy unpredictable and at times dirty business that nonetheless inspires service and sacrifice We come to understand how being a politician has changed since independence and consider what this means for how we think about issues of corruption and misconduct We find that politics is deeply embedded in the lives of individuals families and communities an account that belies the common characterization of democracy in the Pacific as a facade or foreign flower Ultimately this is a sympathetic counter narrative to the populist critique We come to know politicians as people with hopes and fears pains and pleasures vices and virtues A reminder that politicians are human neither saints nor sinners is timely given the wave of cynicism and disaffection As such this book is a must read for all those who believe in the promise of representative government     Teaching Post-colonialism and Post-colonial Literatures Anne Collett,Lars Jensen,Anna Rutherford,1997 In this volume an international group of scholars address the multiplicity of issues concerning the presentations to students of post colonial literature This collection focuses upon specific strategies for teaching post colonial literature within particular political environments The contributors offer specific course outlines covering the literature of a number of post colonial regions as well as articles on teaching post colonialism The individual chapters survey the changes and ideas in the discourse of Commonwealth literature since the emergence of this particular field The essays are historical formulating a cohesive sense of past and present
