N. C. Wyeth Daniel E. O'Leary, Newell Convers Wyeth, Linda Bean Folkers, Lorena A. Coffin, 2000-06 Picturing Thoreau Mark W. Sullivan, 2015-01-14 As we approach the bicentennial in 2017 of the birth of Henry David Thoreau there is considerable debate and confusion as to what he may or may not have contributed to American life and culture Almost every American has heard of Thoreau but only a few are aware that he was deeply engaged with most of the important issues of his day from slavery to Manifest Destiny and the rights of the individual in a democratic society Many of these issues are still affecting us today as we move toward the second quarter of the twenty first century By studying how various American artists have chosen to portray Thoreau over the years since the publication of Walden in 1854 we can gain a clear understanding of how he has been interpreted or misinterpreted throughout the years since his death in 1862 But along the way we might also find something useful for our times in the insights that Thoreau gained as he wrestled with the most urgent problems being experienced by American society in his day Day Kenneth Goldsmith, 2003 Poetry I am spending my 39th year practicing uncreativity On Friday September 1 2000 I began retyping the day's NEW YORK TIMES word for word letter for letter from the upper left hand corner to the lower right hand corner page by page With these words Kenneth Goldsmith embarked upon a project which he termed uncreative writing that is uncreativity as a constraint based process uncreativity as a creative practice By typing page upon page making no distinction between article editorial and advertisement disregarding all typographic and graphical treatments Goldsmith levels the daily newspaper DAY is a monument to the ephemeral comprised of yesterday's news a fleeting moment concretized captured then reframed into the discourse of literature When I reach 40 I hope to have cleansed myself of all creativity Kenneth Goldsmith The Concord Saunterer, 2005 *The Mysterious Island (with Illustrations by N.C.
