Nabataean Tomb Inscriptions Of Madain Salih:

John F. Healey, 1993 The first full study of the important first century AD Nabataean inscriptions of Mada in Salih in Saudi Arabia since the turn of the century A unique and authoritative work incorporating 50 halftone illustrations of tomb inscriptions This is the first of the new series of Supplements to the Journal of Semitic Studies OUP These supplements will be sold as books they will not be available as part of the subscription of the Journal Studies of Bactrian Legal Documents Hossein Sheikh, 2022-12-05 Studies of Bactrian Legal Documents deals with legal texts written in Bactrian an eastern Middle Iranian language between the 4th and 8th centuries CE The work aims to give insight in the Bactrian legal formulary as well as its historical context In order to achieve that the author carefully examines the terms and phrases in the legal documents and clarifies their function Then he explores the historical background of expressions and wordings To this end he uses documents from other regions of the Near East spanning from Egypt to Turkestan The Formation of Nabataean Art Joseph Patrich, 1990-01-01 Unlike the common practice both in the Greco Roman West and in the Parthian East to accord the gods a human form the Nabateans represented their gods in the form of stelae A systematic survey of Nabatean art indicates that the negation of figurative representation is also evident in all other domains of their creativity such as rock carved facades of tombs painted pottery oil lamps coins and jewellery The archaeological artefacts inscriptions and literary sources described and discussed in this book reveal a fascinating cultural and religious phenomenon unique within the surrounding milieu and surprisingly in its persistence and durability This phenomenon should interest not only the student of Nabatean culture as its implications transcends the boundaries of the time and space in which it appeared and are valid for the study of both ancient religions and history of art Nabatu. The Nabataeans through their inscriptions Francisco del Río Sánchez, 2015-12-04 The aim of this book is to explore the history and culture of the Nabataeans using the inscriptions not just as a complement to illustrate the text but as a primary source of information It is based on the conviction that the inscriptions can be enjoyed not only by the specialists but also by those who are curious and want to learn about them Aramaic Holger Gzella, 2021-05-27 In this volume the first complete history of Aramaic from its origins to the present day Holger Gzella provides an accessible overview of the language perhaps most well known for being spoken by Jesus of Nazareth Gzella one of the world s foremost Aramaicists begins with the earliest evidence of Aramaic in inscriptions from the beginning of the first millennium BCE then traces its emergence as the first world language when it became the administrative tongue of the great ancient Near Eastern empires He also pays due diligence to the sacred role of Aramaic within Judaism its place in the Islamic world and its contact with other regional languages before concluding with a glimpse into modern uses of Aramaic Although Aramaic never had a unified political or cultural context in which to gain traction it nevertheless flourished in the Middle East for an extensive period allowing for widespread cultural exchange between diverse groups of people In tracing the historical thread of the Aramaic language readers can also gain a stronger understanding of the rise and fall of civilizations religions and cultures in that region over the course of three millennia Aramaic A History of the First World Language is visually supplemented by maps charts and other images for an immersive reading experience providing scholars and casual readers alike with an engaging overview of one of the most consequential world languages in history

A Traveller in Thirteenth-Century Arabia / Ibn al-Mujawir's Tarikh al-Mustabsir G. Rex Smith, 2017-05-15 This is the first English translation of the Tarikh al Mustabsir written in the early quarter of the thirteenth century by Ibn al Mujawir The text is a fascinating account of the western and southern areas of the Arabian Peninsula by a man from the east of the Islamic world probably from Khurasan in Iran Ibn al Mujawir was a man who in all probability followed the age old Islamic practice of making the pilgrimage to Mecca and thereafter travelling in the area to further his business interests His route began in Mecca and essentially ran south through the Red Sea coastal plain Tihamah down into the Yemen and along the southern coast of the peninsula He paused long in Aden where he observed closely the activities of the port to report at some length on its administration its taxes its markets its currency its weights and measures and the like His route then continued along the southern coast of Arabia into the Gulf and he presumably returned home to the east via Iraq The author is a wonderful observer of people their buildings their dress their customs their agriculture their food and their history This book is a unique source for the social and economic history of thirteenth century south Arabia written with a humour and wit otherwise unknown in the writings of medieval Islam The text is of major linguistic importance too written as it is in a far from classical Arabic This translation is fully annotated with an introduction appendices glossary and full index and contains maps and illustrations

A Cultural History of Aramaic Holger Gzella, 2015-01-08 Aramaic is a constant thread running through the various civilizations of the Near East ancient and modern from 1000 BCE to the present and has been the language of small principalities world empires and a fair share of the Jewish Christian tradition Holger Gzella describes its cultural and linguistic history as a continuous evolution from its beginnings to the advent of Islam For the first time the individual phases of the language their socio historical underpinnings and the textual sources are discussed comprehensively in light of the latest linguistic and historical research and with ample attention to scribal traditions multilingualism and language as a marker of cultural self awareness Many new observations on Aramaic are thereby integrated into a coherent historical framework

Roman Rule and Jewish Life Hannah M. Cotton, 2022-03-07 Hannah M Cotton s collected papers focus on questions which have fascinated her for over four decades the concrete relationships between law language administration and everyday life in Judaea and Nabataea in particular and in the Roman world as a whole Many of the papers especially those devoted to the Judean Desert documents of the 2nd century CE have been widely cited Others having appeared in less accessible publications may not have received the attention they deserve On the whole rather than addressing the grand narratives of world or national history they look at the texture of life seeking to provide tentative answers to historical questions and interpretations by paying fine attention to the details of literary and especially documentary evidence Taken together they illuminate fundamental often legal questions concerning daily life and the exercise of Roman rule and administration in the early imperial period and especially their impact on life as it was lived in the province and the period where Roman and Jewish history fatefully intersected The volume includes a complete bibliography of her publications

Zenobia Nathanael Andrade, 2018-10-02 Hailing from the Syrian city of Palmyra a woman named Zenobia also Bathzabbai governed territory in the eastern Roman empire from 268 to 272 She thus became the most famous Palmyrene who ever lived But sources for her life and career are scarce This book situates Zenobia in the social economic cultural and material context of her Palmyra By doing so it aims to shed greater light on the experiences of Zenobia and Palmyrene women like her at various stages of their lives Not limiting itself to the political aspects of her governance it contemplates what inscriptions and material culture at Palmyra enable us to know about women and the practice of gender there and thus the world that Zenobia navigated It reflects on her clothes house hygiene property owning gestures religious practices funerary practices education languages social identities marriage and experiences motherhood along with her meteoric rise to prominence and civil war It also ponders Zenobia s legacy in light of the contemporary human tragedy in Syria

The Desert Origins of God Juan Manuel Tebes, Christian Frevel, 2021-07-15 This special issue publishes most of the contributions of a three day workshop of the K te Hamburger Kolleg Dynamics in the History of Religions between Asia and Europe held on July 2019 at the Center for Religious Studies Ruhr University Bochum It seeks to explore and contextualize the configuration of the varied desert cultic practices from the southern Levant and northern Arabia during the Late Bronze Iron Ages that may have contributed to the emergence of the Yahwistic cult By this it raises also crucial questions on the early history of the Israelite and Judean religions in the first millennium BCE Recent archaeological excavations in the Negev southern Transjordan and Hejaz and new interpretations of old epigraphic and iconographic evidence are rapidly changing the biblical based paradigm of the interactions between the desert cults and the Iron Age Levantine religions Cultural contacts and the entanglement of religious networks are paramount for the understanding of this early history Recent archaeological iconographic and epigraphic studies of the Southern Levant contribute to the question of the emergence and early development of a Yahwistic religion The issue adopts an interdisciplinary approach assessing textual archaeological as well as epigraphic and iconographic data

Law and Religion between Petra and Edessa John Healey, 2023-05-31 The thousands of surviving inscriptions in Middle Aramaic e g in the Nabataean Syriac and Palmyrene dialects are an underused resource in the study of the Near East in the Roman period especially in the study of religion and law Particularly important was the emergence during this period of new peoples with their cultural roots in Arabia such as the Nabataeans This volume collects together under the interrelated themes of religion and law twenty three articles by John Healey with sections on Petra and Nabataean Aramaic Edessa and Early Syriac and Aramaic and Society in the Roman Near East Individual papers discuss the continuation of Ancient Near Eastern culture the

Aramaic legal tradition as well as the development of both written and spoken forms of Syriac and Nabatean Saudi Arabia and the Gulf Arab States Today Sebastian Maisel, John A. Shoup, 2009-02-17 This extremely timely and helpful ready reference will familiarize all students and readers with the Gulf region and Saudi Arabia Bahrain Dubai the UAE Kuwait Oman Yemen and Qatar These states are bound by the desert culture the Gulf new oil economy and Islam to name some commonalities Most Americans know something about the region such as oases dates camels oil Bedouin tribes and the legends of Lawrence of Arabia to Osama bin Laden Islamic concepts and practices are still unfamiliar On one extreme Saudi Arabia the cradle of Islam has been largely closed off to Western tourists On the other extreme Dubai courts tourist dollars as it constructs modern architectural showcases This is the first A Z encyclopedia to focus on the Gulf illuminating the land people religion culture and traditions institutions economy and much more for general readers The more than 200 essay entries have a current focus with historical context as necessary The breadth of coverage means that this resource will be of use for a wide range of researchers and browsers Besides individual entries on each state major cities and regions are also profiled The natural environment and human adaptation to it receives significant space Islamic customs and rules and various interpretations are clearly explained Essays on topics such as key public figures institutions major events politics and state structures some based on sources often not available in English make this two volume set the first choice resource for accurate information Suggestions for further reading accompany most entries a chronology selected bibliography and photos also complement the text

The Oxford Handbook of Arabic Linguistics Jonathan Owens, 2013-10-03 Until about 60 years ago linguistic research on the Arabic language in the West was restricted to inquiries on Classical Arabic and the Classical tradition and spoken Arabic dialects with historical studies embedded within the broader field of Semitic languages This situation is changing quickly not only through the continuation of older research traditions but also with the integration of new research fields and perspectives With this expansion comes the danger of specialists in Arabic losing an overview of the field and of leaving non specialists without basic resources for evaluating domains of research which they may be interested in for comparative purposes The Oxford Handbook of Arabic Linguistics will confront this problem by combining state of the art overviews with essays on issues of perspective controversy and point of view In twenty four chapters leading experts from around the world will lay out their own stances on controversial issues The book not only evaluates ways in which questions and theories established in general linguistics and its sub fields elucidate Arabic but also challenges approaches which might result in accommodating Arabic to non Arabic interpretations and brings out the Arabic specificity of individual problems The Handbook in one compact volume gives critical expression to a language which covers large populations and geographical areas has a long written tradition and has been the locus of major intellectual fervor and debate

Life in a Cave in Petra with the Bdoul Judith McKenzie, 2022-09-15 From 1981 until 1986 the archaeologist Judith McKenzie then a graduate student at the University of Sydney traveled to the ancient site of Petra in Jordan living in a cave there for extended periods in order to survey and measure architectural moldings on the rock cut monuments It was a critical time in the history of Petra where for centuries its local inhabitants known as the Bdoul had lived and worked But that tradition was coming to a close In 1985 the Bdoul began a move to the nearby village of Umm Sayhoun as directed by the Jordanian government This first hand account of life in a cave at Petra based on diaries Judith kept at the time she lived among the Bdoul is therefore important as a record of a lifestyle now largely vanished As she writes in her introduction I spent so much time socializing with the Bdoul I came to observe many aspects of Bdoul life in a series of visits over three main field seasons As women we had access to the world of young girls and women which men from outside did not while we were also sometimes treated as honorary men This memoir thus stands as a reminder of life at Petra before the arrival of modern day tourism at the site But this book is not only a memoir Observations are made on the ways in which the Bdoul have adapted to their new environment Changes at the site that have taken place since 1981 because of weathering and erosion are recorded through comparisons between photographs taken forty years ago and more recent images Ramifications of the expansion of the tourist industry at Petra in the 21st century are also considered Life in a Cave in Petra with the Bdoul 1981 1986 is therefore an important and essential volume on the archaeology and history of one of the best known ancient sites in the world Literacy and Identity in Pre-Islamic Arabia M.C.A. Macdonald, 2022-02-23 In these studies Michael

Macdonald examines the extraordinary flowering of literacy in both the settled and nomadic populations of western Arabia in the 1500 years before the birth of Islam when a larger proportion of the population could read and write than in any other part of the ancient Near East and possibly any other part of the ancient world Even among the nomads there seems to have been almost universal literacy in some regions The scores of thousands of inscriptions and graffiti they left paint a vivid picture of the way of life social systems and personal emotions of their authors information which is not available for any other non lite population in the ancient Near East outside Egypt This abundance of inscriptions has enabled Michael Macdonald to explore in detail some of the often surprising ways in which reading and writing were used in the literate and non literate communities of ancient Arabia He describes the many different languages and the distinct family of alphabets used in ancient Arabia and discusses the connections between the use of particular languages or scripts and expressions of personal and communal identity The problem of how ancient perceptions of ethnicity in this region can be identified in the sources is another theme of these papers more specifically they deal from several different perspectives with the question of what ancient writers meant when they applied the term Arab to a wide variety of peoples throughout the ancient Near East
