A Woman's View Jeanine Basinger, 1995-06-23 In this highly readable and entertaining book Jeanine

Basinger shows how the woman's film of the 30s 40s and 50s sent a potent mixed message to millions of female moviegoers. At the same time that such films exhorted women to stick to their proper realm of men, marriage and motherhood, they portrayed usually with relish strong women playing out liberating fantasies of power, romance, sexuality, luxury, even wickedness. Basinger examines dozens of films, whether melodrama, screwball comedy, musical, film noir, western or biopic, to make a persuasive case that the woman's film was a rich, complicated and subversive genre that recognized and addressed, if covertly, the problems of women. That is every creature but her. Since they all come from a mating pair, where is she to find the pair that produced her? Her quest leads to adventures and discoveries, both delightful and frightening, until it eventually leads her to her mate, her compliment in a love story to rival the classics as her life unfolds
