Naming and Believing G.W. Fitch,2012-12-06 The relationship between thought language and the world is an intimate one When we have an idea or thought about the world and we wish to express that idea or thought to others we utter a sentence or make a statement If the statement correctly describes the world then it is true Moreover it seems as though our ability to have more complex or sophisticated thoughts about the world increases as the complexity of our language or our ability to use the language increases Understanding the complex relationship between language thought and the world is one of the central aims of philosophy This book is an attempt to increase our understanding of this complex relationship by focusing on certain philosophical issues that arise from our ability to refer to objects in the world though the use of language In particular it is an attempt to solve the puzzles of reference and belief that Frege and Russell presented within the context of a theory of direct reference for proper names
