The Dark Art Edward Folis, Douglas Century, 2014-10-07 A highly decorated veteran DEA agent recounts his incredible undercover career and reveals the shocking links between narcotics trafficking and terrorism What exactly is undercover From a law enforcement perspective undercover is the art of skillfully eliciting incriminating statements From a personal and psychological standpoint it's the dark art of gaining trust then manipulating that trust. In the simplest terms it's playing a chess game with the bad guy getting him to make the moves you want him to make but without him knowing you're doing so. Edward Follis mastered the chess game. The Dark Art over the course of his distinguished twenty-seven years with the Drug Enforcement Administration where he bought eightballs of coke in a red Corvette negotiated multimillion-dollar deals onboard private King Airliners and developed covert relationships with men who were not only international drug traffickers but in some cases operatives for Al Qaeda, Hezbollah, Hamas, the Shan United Army or the Mexican federation of cartels. Follis was in fact one of the driving forces behind the agency's radical shift from a limited local focus to a global arena. In the early nineties the DEA was primarily known for doing street-level busts evocative of Miami Vice. Today it uses high-resolution optics, surveillance and classified cutting-edge technology to put the worst narco-terror kingpins on the business end of stealth justice delivered via Predator drone pilots. Spanning five continents and filled with harrowing stories about the world's most ruthless drug lords and terrorist networks, Follis's memoir reads like a thriller. Yet every word is true and every story is documented. Follis earned a Medal of Valor for his work and coauthor Douglas Century is a pro at shaping and telling just this kind of story. The first and only insider's account of the confluence between narco-trafficking and terrorist organizations. The Dark Art is a page-turning memoir that will electrify you from page one. Only God Knows Why R.C. Parsons, Glancing round the kitchen I decided to make the most of my unexpected holiday. Instead of dressing for work in my drab olive-green Get Go outfit I walked into the bedroom and grabbed a pair of faded old blue jeans and a white summer tank. I steered my butt into the bathroom and stood silently questioning my appearance in the mirror. Lord, living like this is really aging me. I'm forty-six years old and all this shit's making me look like sixty. Grabbing my makeup bag I did a quick Chinese slap chop suey on my face, finishing up with a lick of Latin lipstick. Ahhhh, not so bad with the cover-up. Gee, I seem to have dropped a few years. Why? I bet I could now pass for let's see, forty-five. Fifty. Laughing as I slipped my boots on I tossed my old leather jacket over my arm for later and decided to head down to the local watering hole. It was more than a tweak funny to me that the bar I was planning on kicking it in was the Get Together. It was an amusing coincidence considering the bullet I was dodging for the day was none other than the local Get Go. The bar had a long sordid history on Kenilworth Ave. It was opened and closed by the local cops at least twice a year, a ripper bar when I'd begun shooting a stick at the tender age of eighteen. By the ripe age of twenty-four I'd graduated up to serving beers and waiting tables and it'd evolved into one of the roughest biker bars in Hamilton. Hells Angels, Red Devils, Outlaws and the Chinese Tong all left their colours and turf wars outside to discuss business around the marble bar top. Once that was done they'd slip down to the private gentlemen's room to shake hands over a few rails of the Christmas product they all pumped out on the streets. Walking down the street now, kissing fifty, I found myself running there for shelter. Shelter from the storm, shelter from work, from life, from a man I used to love and a house I used to call home. Narcissist Taylor Hench, 2020-08-13. This book consists of two titles which are the
