The Role of Coloniality, Decoloniality, and Education in Shaping Perspectives on Extremism Helal Hossain Dhali, 2024-03-19 This book extends a comprehensive overview of the treatment of extremism in education in Bangladesh using a study of perceptions among students to explore proactive measures for the prevention of various types and forms of extremism prevalent among youth It offers a critical holistic and student centred study of the role of formal education in shaping perceptions of extremism and intersectional differences among individuals drawing on data from university students The author employs post colonial theory and multicultural educational approaches to highlight how understandings of extremism differ across young adults and policymakers Ultimately it demonstrates that students overall understanding of extremism is much broader than that of policymakers and how understandings differ between male and female students at the intersection of rural and urban locations and socio economic positions As such it foregrounds a need to involve and organize formal education as a proactive means to raise awareness and counter all forms of extremism through incorporating specific teaching strategies into pedagogical practices to foster an anti communalist humanistic critical multicultural and cosmopolitan outlook among students It will appeal to scholars and researchers with interests across multicultural education comparative and international education the sociology of education extremism and conflict and peace studies

Discourses We Live By: Narratives of Educational and Social Endeavour Hazel R. Wright, Marianne Høyen, 2020-07-03 What are the influences that govern how people view their worlds What are the embedded values and practices that underpin the ways people think and act Discourses We Live By approaches these questions through narrative research in a process that uses words images activities or artefacts to ask people either individually or collectively within social groupings to examine discuss portray or otherwise make public their place in the world their sense of belonging to and identity within the physical and cultural space they inhabit This book is a rich and multifaceted collection of twenty eight chapters that use varied lenses to examine the discourses that shape people's lives. The contributors are themselves from many backgrounds different academic disciplines within the humanities and social sciences diverse professional practices and a range of countries and cultures. They represent a broad spectrum of age status and outlook and variously apply their research methods but share a common interest in people their lives thoughts and actions. Gathering such eclectic experiences as those of student teachers in Kenya a released prisoner in Denmark academics in Colombia a group of migrants learning English and gambling addiction support workers in Italy alongside more mainstream educational themes the book presents a fascinating array of insights. Discourses We Live By will be essential reading for adult educators and practitioners those involved with educational and professional practice narrative researchers and many sociologists. It will appeal to all who want to know how narratives shape the way we live and the way we talk about our lives.

The SAGE Handbook of Early Childhood Research Ann Farrell, Sharon L Kagan, E. Kay M. Tisdall, 2015-11-10

Recent decades have seen an upsurge of research with and about young children their families and communities. The Handbook of Early Childhood Research will provide a landmark overview of the field of early childhood research and will set an agenda for early childhood research into the future.
