already been written concerning the evils of slavery and by men so much more able to portray its horrid form than I am that I might well be excused if I were to remain altogether silent on the subject but however much has been written however much has been said and however much has been done I feel impelled by the voice of my own conscience from the recent experience which I have had of the alarming extent to which the traffic in human beings is carried on and the cruelties both bodily and mental to which men in the condition of slaves are continually subjected and also from the hardening and blasting influences which this traffic produces on the character of those who thus treat as goods and chattels the bodies and souls of their fellows to add yet one other testimony of and protest against the foul blot on the state of morals of religion and of cultivation in the American republic For I feel convinced that enough has not been written enough has not been said enough has not been done while nearly four millions of human beings possessing immortal souls are in chains dragging out their existence in the southern states Narrative of the Life of Henry Box Brown, Written by Himself Henry Box Brown, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1851 edition Excerpt NARRATIVE Off THE LIFE OF HENRY BOX BROWN CHAPTER I I Was born about DEGREES forty five miles from the city of Richmond in Louisa County in the year
