Narratives in the Making Anselma Gallinat, 2016-11-01 Despite the three decades that have passed since the fall of the Berlin Wall the historical narrative of East Germany is hardly fixed in public memory as German society continues to grapple with the legacies of the Cold War This fascinating ethnography looks at two very different types of local institutions in one eastern German state that take divergent approaches to those legacies while publicly funded organizations reliably cast the GDR as a dictatorship a main regional newspaper offers a more ambivalent perspective colored by the experiences and concerns of its readers As author Anselma Gallinat shows such memory work initially undertaken after fundamental regime change inevitably shapes citizenship and democracy in the present

Memories of Mass Repression Selma Leydesdorff, 2017-07-05 Memories of Mass Repression presents the results of researchers working with the voices of witnesses Its stories include the witnesses victims and survivors it also reflects the subjective experience of the study of such narratives The work contributes to the development of the field of oral history where the creation of the narrative is considered an interaction between the text of the narrator and the listener The contributors are particularly interested in ways in which memory is created and molded The interactions of different even conflicting memories of other individuals and society as a whole are considered In writing the history of genocide emotional memory and objective research are interwoven and inseparable It is as much the historian's task to decipher witness account as it is to interpret traditional written sources These sometimes antagonistic narratives of memory fashioned and mobilized within public and private arenas together with the ensuing conflicts paradoxes and contradictions that they unleash are all part of efforts to come to terms with what happened Mining memory is the only way in which we can hope to arrive at a truer and less biased historical account of events Memory is at some level selective Most believers in political movements turned out to be the opposite of what they promised When given a proper forum stories that are in opposition to dominant memories or in conflict with our own memories can effectively battle collective forgetting This volume offers the reader a vision of the subjective side of history without falsifying the objective reality of human survival

Traitors, Collaborators and Deserters in Contemporary European Politics of Memory Gelinada Grinchenko, Eleonora Narvselius, 2017-12-01 This volume offers a multidisciplinary approach to shaping and imposition of formulas for betrayal as a result of changing memory politics in post war Europe The contributors who specialize in history sociology anthropology memory studies media studies and cultural studies discuss the exertion of political control over memory including the selection imposition silencing or ideological twisting of facts the usage of formulas for betrayal in various cultural political contexts and the discursive framing of the betraying subject for the purpose of legitimizing various memory regimes and ideologies      Legal Tender John Griffith Urang,2010 Through close readings of a diverse selection of films and novels from the former GDR Urang offers an eye opening account of the ideological stakes of love stories in East German culture      The Engaged Historian Stefan Berger,2019-04-01 On the surface historical scholarship might seem thoroughly incompatible with political engagement the ideal historian many imagine is a disinterested observer focused exclusively on the past In truth however political action and historical research have been deeply intertwined for as long as the historical profession has existed In this insightful collection practicing historians analyze reflect on and share their experiences of this complex relationship From the influence of historical scholarship on world political leaders to the present day participation of researchers in post conflict societies and the Occupy movement these studies afford distinctive humane and stimulating views on historical practice and practitioners      The Conditions, Means and Methods of the MfS in the GDR Nessim Ghouas,2004      Secret Agents and the Memory of Everyday Collaboration in Communist Eastern Europe Péter Apor,Sándor Horváth,James Mark,2017-09-27 The collection of essays in Secret Agents and the Memory of Everyday Collaboration in Communist Eastern Europe addresses institutions that develop the concept of collaboration and examines the function social representation and history of secret police archives and institutes of national memory that create these histories of collaboration The essays provide a comparative account of collaboration participation across differing categories of collaborators and different social milieux throughout East Central Europe They also demonstrate how secret police files can be used to produce more subtle social and cultural histories of the socialist dictatorships By interrogating the ways in which post socialist cultures produce the idea of and knowledge about collaborators the contributing authors provide a nuanced historical conception of collaboration expanding the concept toward broader frameworks of cooperation and political participation to facilitate a better understanding of Eastern European communist regimes      Dissonant Lives Mary Fulbrook,2011-06-09 Dissonant Lives is not a standard history of Germany in the twentieth century or even of the German dictatorships It is concerned with the ways in which Germans of different ages and life stages lived through this terrible period in German history and how they interpreted confronted and responded to the multiple challenges of their times In volume two Mary Fulbrook explores the move from the Nazi dictatorship to the communism that succeeded it examining the experiences and perceptions of selected individuals and how major historical events affected the course of their lives and their outlooks In doing so she provides a new understanding of the ways in which not only the character of the German state economy and social structure changed over the century but also the very character of the German people themselves      German Writers and the Politics of Culture Paul Cooke,Andrew

Plowman,2003-12-09 Before the fall of the Berlin Wall many East German writers were praised in the Western world as dissident voices of truth bravely struggling with the draconian constraints of living under the GDR s communist regime However since unification Germany has been rocked by scandals showing the level to which the Stasi the East German Secret Police controlled these same writers This is the first study in English to systematically explore how the writers have responded to the challenge of dealing with the Stasi from the 1950s to the present day Migrating Memories James

Koranyi,2021-12-16 Romanian Germans mainly from the Banat and Transylvania have occupied a place at the very heart of major events in Europe in the twentieth century yet their history is largely unknown This east central European minority negotiated their standing in a difficult new European order after 1918 changing from uneasy supporters of Romania to zealous Nazis tepid Communists and conciliatory Europeans Migrating Memories is the first comprehensive study in English of Romanian Germans and follows their stories as they move across borders and between regimes revealing a very European experience of migration minorities and memories in modern Europe After 1945 Romanian Germans struggled to make sense of their lives during the Cold War at a time when the community began to fracture and fragment The Revolutions of 1989 seemed to mark the end of the German community in Romania but instead Romanian Germans repositioned themselves as transnational European bridge builders staking out new claims in a fast changing world The Red Flag David

Priestland,2016-05-03 The best and the most accessible one volume history of communism now available A far reaching vividly written account Foreign Affairs In The Red Flag Oxford professor David Priestland tells the epic story of a movement that has taken root in dozens of countries across two hundred years from its birth after the French Revolution to its ideological maturity in nineteenth century Germany to its rise to dominance and subsequent fall in the twentieth century Beginning with the first modern Communists in the age of Robespierre Priestland examines the motives of thinkers and leaders including Marx Engels Lenin Stalin Castro Che Guevara Mao Ho Chi Minh Gorbachev and many others Priestland also shows how Communism in all its varieties appealed to different societies for different reasons in some as a response to inequalities and in others more out of a desire to catch up with the West But paradoxically while destroying one web of inequality Communist leaders were simultaneously weaving another It was this dynamic together with widespread economic failure and an escalating loss of faith in the system that ultimately destroyed Soviet Communism itself At a time when global capitalism is in crisis and powerful new political forces have arisen to confront Western democracy The Red Flag is essential reading if we are to apply the lessons of the past to navigating the future Detailed and scholarly but written in lively prose this is a rich satisfying account of the most successful utopian political movement in history Publishers Weekly starred review within a given context and type of communication This collection of essays by international academics draws on a wide range of disciplines in the social sciences and the humanities to examine how far the expectations and forms of genre shape different kinds of autobiography and influence what messages they can convey After investigating the problem of genre definition and tracing the evolution of genre as a concept contributors explore such issues as How far can we argue that what people narrate in their autobiographical stories is selected and shaped by the repertoire of genre available to them To what extent is oral autobiography shaped by its social and cultural context What is the relationship between autobiographical sources and the ethnographer Narrative and Genre presents exciting new debates in an emerging field and will encourage international and interdisciplinary discussion Its authors and contributors are scholars from the fields of anthropology cultural studies literary analysis psychology psychoanalysis social history and sociology
