The Whole World is Watching Todd Gitlin, Professor of Culture Journalism and Sociology Todd Gitlin, 1980-01-01 The whole world is watching chanted the demonstrators in the Chicago streets in 1968 as the TV cameras beamed images of police cracking heads into homes everywhere Acclaimed media critic Todd Gitlin first scrutinizes major news coverage in the early days of the antiwar movement Drawing on his own experiences he was president of the Students for a Democratic Society in 1963 64 and on interviews with key activists and news reporters he shows in detail how the media first ignore new political developments then select and emphasize aspects of the story that treat movements as oddities He then demonstrates how the media glare made leaders into celebrities and estranged them from their movement base how it inflated the importance of revolutionary rhetoric destabilizing the movement then promoted moderate alternatives all the while spreading the antiwar message Finally Gitlin draws together a theory of news coverage as a form of anti democratic social management which he sees at work also in media treatment of the anti nuclear and other later movements Publisher description
