Bradford Chambers, Rebecca Moon, 1970 The Black Arts Enterprise and the Production of African American Poetry Howard Ramsby, 2018-05-09 A closer look at the poets and publishers who made the Black Arts Movement such an enduring cultural enterprise The Pen is Ours Jean Fagan Yellin, Cynthia D. Earhart, 2025-06-24 Though canon concerns seem to be a relic of 1990s academia we are once again at a historical moment when there is resistance to teaching texts by writers of color and texts that deal with race ethnicity and gender At the same time algorithmic bias scholars are locating systemic bias encoded into systems from policing software to housing software Bringing these divergent areas together Amy E Earhart examines how technological and institutional infrastructures construct and deconstruct race ethnicity and gender identities Focusing on two central infrastructures the database a commonly used technological infrastructure in the digital humanities and the anthology a scholarly and pedagogical infrastructure Earhart considers how such seemingly naturalized infrastructures impact the representation and modeling of identity The book draws upon the building and use of DALA a collection of almost 100 years of generalist American and African American literature anthologies constructed to investigate questions of identity and representation in literary anthologies and by extension the larger literary canon The resulting examination and its rigorous discussion of how identities are created and recreated within Black literary histories has important implications for contemporary cultural and political debates about canon formation literary scholarship and the bias embedded in technological infrastructures Focus on Minorities Fort Bragg (N.C.). Library, 1973 The Cambridge Companion to American Civil Rights Literature Julie Armstrong, 2015-03-02 The Cambridge Companion to American Civil Rights Literature brings together leading scholars to examine the significant traditions genres and themes of civil rights literature While civil rights scholarship has typically focused on documentary rather than creative writing and political rather than cultural history this Companion addresses the gap and provides university students with a vast introduction to an impressive range of authors including Richard Wright Lorraine Hansberry Gwendolyn Brooks James Baldwin Amiri Baraka and Toni Morrison Accessible to undergraduates and academics alike this Companion surveys the critical landscape of a rapidly growing field and lays the foundation for future studies African-American Literature Paul Q. Tilden, 2003 Having its origins in the slave narratives and the folktales transmitted orally during that period the literature of the African American has been rich and varied Beginning with the first published work of fiction Clotel Or the President's Daughter in 1853 continuing under the influence of W E B Du Bois during the first part of this century and reaching a flowering during the Harlem Renaissance major contributions have been made to American literature Today African American writers such as Toni Morrison Alex Haley and Maya Angelou are recognised as among the most significant and popular authors in this country This new book presents an important overview of African American literature as well as a comprehensive bibliography with easy access provided by title subject and author indexes
