The Business Strategy of Booker T. Washington Michael B. Boston, 2010-08-29 Michael Boston offers a radical departure from other interpretations of Booker T Washington by focusing on the latter's business ideas and practices More specifically Boston examines Washington as an entrepreneur spelling out his business philosophy at great length and discussing the influence it had on black America He analyzes the national and regional economies in which Washington worked and focuses on his advocacy of black business development as the key to economic uplift for African Americans The result is a revisionist book that responds to the skewed literature on Washington even as it offers a new framework for understanding him Based upon a deep reading of the Tuskegee archives it acknowledges Washington not only as a champion of black business development but one who conceived and implemented successful strategies to promote it as well The Business Strategy of Booker T Washington makes abundantly clear that Washington was not an accommodationist it will be required reading for any future discussion of this titan of history

Race and Masculinity in Southern Memory Matthew Mace Barbee, 2013-12-05 In Race and Masculinity in Southern Memory Matthew Mace Barbee explores the long history of Richmond Virginia's iconic Monument Avenue. As a network of important memorials to Confederate leaders located in the former capitol of the Confederacy, Monument Avenue has long been central to the formation of public memory in Virginia and the U.S. South. It has also been a site of multiple controversies over what, who, and how Richmond's past should be commemorated. This book traces the evolution of Monument Avenue by analyzing public discussions of its memorials and their meaning. It pays close attention to the origins of Monument Avenue and the first statues erected there, including memorials to Robert E. Lee and Jefferson Davis. Barbee provides a detailed and focused analysis of the evolution of Monument Avenue and public memory in Richmond from 1948 to 1996, through the Civil Rights Movement and the Civil War Centennial, and up to the memorial to Arthur Ashe erected in 1996. An African American native of Richmond, Ashe was an international tennis champion and advocate for human rights. The story of how a monument to him ended up in a space previously reserved for statues of Confederate leaders helps us understand the ways Richmond has grappled with its past, especially the histories of slavery, Jim Crow, and Civil Rights.

45 People, Places, and Events in Black History You Should Know Daniel J. Middleton, 2021-12-01 Did you know that a black man founded Chicago, Illinois? Did you know that the iconic television program Sesame Street grew out of the Civil Rights movement? This collection of unsung trailblazers unearths these and other little-known facts from the past. Packed with insightful encyclopedic entries, 45 People, Places, and Events in Black History You Should Know is the perfect primer for the Black History dabbler or enthusiast. In this book, you will discover 15 individual men, 15 individual women, and 15 important people, places, or events. A large portion of these subjects received scant recognition from media outlets, but their names and stories are worth remembering because they figure prominently in the large historic landscape that forms the world narrative. Among the many subjects covered in this book are Bridget Biddy Mason, a black female and former slave. Toward the end of the nineteenth century, she was the wealthiest resident of Los Angeles, California. You'll learn about Covert, Michigan, the U.S. township that defied the racist norms of the post-Civil War era by refusing to segregate. And you'll read about C.R. Patterson and Sons, the first and only major car manufacturer owned and operated by black Americans. Prepare to be informed.

Southern Black Women and Their Struggle for Freedom during the Civil War and Reconstruction Karen Cook Bell, 2023-12-21 This rich and innovative collection explores the ways in which Black women from diverse regions of the American South employed various forms of resistance and survival strategies to navigate one of the most tumultuous periods in American history, the Civil War and Reconstruction era. The essays included shed new light on individual narratives and case studies of women in war and freedom, revealing that Black women recognized they had to make their own freedom and illustrating how that influenced their postwar political, social, and economic lives. Black women and children are examined as self-liberators, as contributors to the family economy during the war and as widows who relied on kinship and community solidarity Expanding and deepening our understanding of the various ways Black women seized wartime opportunities and made powerful claims on citizenship this volume highlights the complexity of their wartime and post war experiences and provides important insight into the contested spaces they occupied

Richmond's First African Baptist Church Dr. Kimberly A. Matthews, Rodney Waller, Dr. Raymond Pierre Hylton, 2023-01-30 First African Baptist Church has served the Richmond community since 1780 proving to be a pillar of strength for African Americans in the former Confederate capital The First African Baptist Church congregation endured slavery the tumultuous years of the Civil War Reconstruction and repression from the white supremacist regime that dominated Virginia politics and persevered as a vibrant force through civil rights struggle and the daunting challenges of the COVID 19 pandemic and the Black Lives Matter movement Such notables as Lott Carey L Douglas Wilder Maggie Lena Walker Bill Bojangles Robinson Mary Lumpkin and Henry Box Brown were church members

Educational Reconstruction Hilary N. Green, 2016-04-01 Tracing the first two decades of state funded African American schools Educational Reconstruction addresses the ways in which black Richmonders black Mobilians and their white allies created developed and sustained a system of African American schools following the Civil War Hilary Green proposes a new chronology in understanding postwar African American education examining how urban African Americans demanded quality public schools from their new city and state partners Revealing the significant gains made after the departure of the Freedmen s Bureau this study reevaluates African American higher education in terms of developing a cadre of public school educator activists and highlights the centrality of urban African American protest in shaping educational decisions and policies in their respective cities and states
