Junk, 2013-03-09 Floodplains are ecosystems which are driven by periodic inundation and oscillation between terrestrial and aquatic phases An understanding of such pulsing systems is only possible by studying both phases and linking the results into an integrated overview This book presents the results of a 15 year study of the structure and function of one of the largest tropical floodplains the Amazon River floodplain It covers qualitative aspects e g adaptations of aquatic and terrestrial organisms to the flood pulse as well as quantitative aspects e g studies of biomass primary production decomposition and nutrient cycles The authors interpret their findings and the most important data from other studies under an integrating scientific concept the Flood Pulse Concept Catherwood Foundation

Sioli, 2012-12-06 The Amazon that name was given to the biggest river on earth and is often used for the whole area of its basin too This geographical region is currently referred to as Amazonia thus emphasizing the peculiar character of its aquatic and terrestrial reaches The Amazon embodied the dream of many a naturalist to explore what for a long time was a terra incognita In recent years however Amazonia has emerged as a main centre for development by some of the countries in which it lies and by foreign industrialized nations The development projects and enterprises have aroused worldwide interest and have given rise to discussions on their aims and their consequences to the Amazonian nature Limnological and ecological investigations in Amazonia started only about 40 years ago The editor had the good fortune to partake in them from the very beginning He spent his decisive years in Amazonia and dedicated his life s work to that research and to that country and the Amazonian people Nearing the end of his scientific activities he is grateful to be able to summarize in this book most of the knowledge we possess at present of Amazonian limnology and landscape ecology Collected Papers John Diederich Haseman, 1912 Cumulative Decision List -
