

1 Italian Dead, 24 Injured in Attack At Fort Lawton

Stones Used in Raid on Fort Barracks; Authorities to Make Full Probe

By R. B. Bermann

One member of the Italian service unit at Fort Lawton was dead yesterday and 24 more were in the hospital as the result of a raid which Negro soldiers made on their barracks late Monday night.

Several of the Negro soldiers were also injured, but less severely than the Italians.

Italian Found Hanging to Tree

It was the first outbreak of the kind reported anywhere in the country, although thousands of former Italian prisoners of war who have volunteered for work in service units are stationed at various military posts.

The dead Italian, identified as Guglielmo Olivanta, was found hanging from a tree. A formal statement, issued by the Seattle Port of Embarkation late yesterday afternoon, said one phase of the searching investigation which was promised will be "to determine whether this could have been a suicide."

The attack was staged as a surprise, while the Italians were fast asleep. The Negro soldiers were not armed, but they wielded stones which they had picked up outside the barracks.

ATTACKERS ARRESTED

The riot lasted only a few minutes, according to the military authorities, and all the attacking soldiers were quickly placed under arrest.

The military authorities said they will be taking steps to prevent any further outbreaks of this kind. They said the attack was the first of its kind in the country.

Authorities said there has been no previous trouble or appearance of trouble at the post.

City Planners Map Vital Program

By Carl L. Cooper

Seattle's city planning commission will be given a city charter status and thereby established on a firm foundation as part of the municipal government in the proposed revision of the city's organic law upon which the Citizens' Charter Revision Advisory Committee has been working for months.

This was one of several important decisions tentatively reached by the committee, consisting of 25 Seattle men and women representing civic bodies under the chairmanship of State Senator Victor Zednick, at a session last night that climaxed its work program.

MAJOR DECISIONS

Other major decisions, all taken upon recommendations submitted by subcommittees that have been studying specific charter proposals, call for the following drastic changes:

The city council will be increased to 15 members, to be elected in March of each year. The city manager will be elected by the council at the same time the mayor is elected, with five councilors to be elected by the council.
