Risks And Reconstruction Experiences Of Resettlers And Refugees:

Risks and Reconstruction Michael M. Cernea, Chris McDowell, 2000-01-01 This book offers a multidimensional comparative analysis of two large groups of the world's displaced populations: resettlers uprooted by development and refugees fleeing military conflicts or natural calamities. The authors explore common central issues: the condition of being displaced, the risks of impoverishment and destitution, the rights and entitlements of those uprooted, and most important, the means of reconstruction of their livelihoods. Adapted from the Introduction. Risks and Reconstruction World Bank, 2000. Refugees, resettlers, risks, safeguards, reconstruction, population displacement, land loss, land-based relocation, joblessness, re-employment, China, homelessness, home reconstruction, housing, urban infrastructure, refugees, marginalization, re-inclusion, food security, health risks, property, resources, social re-articulation, community. Development-Induced Displacement and Resettlement Irge Satiroglu, Narae Choi, 2015-04-10 Every year millions of people are displaced from their homes, livelihoods, and communities due to land-based development projects. There is no limit to what can be called a development project. They can range from small-scale infrastructure or mining projects to mega hydropower plants; can be public or private, well planned or rushed into. Knowledge of development-induced displacement and resettlement (DIDR) remains limited even after decades of experience and research. Many questions are yet unanswered: What is success in resettlement? Is development without displacement possible, or can resettlement be developmental? Is there a global safeguard policy, or do we need an international right not to be displaced? This book revisits what we think we know about DIDR. Starting with case studies that challenge some of the most widespread preconceptions, it goes on to discuss the ethical aspects of DIDR. The book assesses the current laws, policies, and rights governing the sector and provides a glimpse of how the displaced people defend themselves in the absence of effective governance and safeguard mechanisms. This book is a valuable resource for students and researchers in development studies, population and development, and migration and development. The Economics and Politics of Resettlement in India: JAIN, BALA, 2006 The Economics and Politics of Resettlement in India comprises fourteen well-researched and relevant essays by academicians, researchers, and practitioners with extensive knowledge and experience of the resettlement and rehabilitation (R/R) processes in India. These essays provide valuable insights into R/R practices and experiences from a variety of developmental fields including road projects, dams, mining, forests, and farmlands. It will be useful for policy makers, NGOs, and journalists working in the field of development-induced displacement in India, students, and scholars. African Land Rights Systems Tarimo, Aquiline, 2014-06-16 This book from ethical interdisciplinary and African perspectives unveils the root causes of the increasing land disputes. Its significance lies upon the effort of presenting a broad overview founded upon a critical analysis of the existing land-related disputes. It is a perspective that attempts to evaluate the renewed interest in evolving theories of land rights by raising questions that can help us to understand better differences underlying land ownership systems, conflict between customary and statutory land rights systems, and the politics of land reform Other dimensions explored in the book include the market influence on land grabbing and challenges accompanying trends of migration resettlement and integration The methodology applied in the study provides a perspective that raises questions intended to identify areas of contention dispute and conflict The study which could also be categorized as a critical assessment of the African land rights systems is intended to be a resource for scholars activists and organizations working to resolve land related disputes

Refugees Worldwide Doreen Elliott,Uma A. Segal,2012-08-03 Utilizing international perspectives this unprecedented collection of essays from leading authorities on refugee studies spotlights the realities and challenges of the global refugee population With increasing changes in the socio political climate of the world as well as with the rising numbers of natural disasters people of all ethnicities and nationalities are frequently forced from their homes and their homelands While there is a substantial body of work that addresses refugee policies post traumatic stress disorder and other specific issues there have been few attempts to understand refugee health or comprehend overall refugee adaptation until now This is the first work to address refugee issues worldwide addressing the psychological health human rights political public policy law economic social and personal aspects of this universal problem Refugees Worldwide also includes examples of first person refugee stories from around the world eye opening information not available in any other work Drawing on the expertise of myriad international researchers theoreticians and practitioners from representative nations around the world this four volume set effectively speaks to a number of refugee issues from a truly global perspective

Environmental Anthropology Helen Kopnina,Eleanor Shoreman-Ouimet,2013-07-18 This volume presents new theoretical approaches methodologies subject pools and topics in the field of environmental anthropology Environmental anthropologists are increasingly focusing on self reflection not just on themselves and their impacts on environmental research but also on the reflexive qualities of their subjects and the extent to which these individuals are questioning their own environmental behavior Here contributors confront the very notion of natural resources in granting non human species their subjectivity and arguing for deeper understanding of nature and wilderness beyond the label of ecosystem services By engaging in interdisciplinary efforts these anthropologists present new ways for their colleagues subjects peers and communities to understand the causes of and alternatives to environmental destruction This book demonstrates that environmental anthropology has moved beyond the construction of rural small group theory entering into a mode of solution based methodologies and interdisciplinary theories for understanding human environmental interactions It is focused on post rural existence health and environmental risk assessment on the realm of alternative actions and emphasizes the necessary steps towards preventing environmental crisis

The Companion to Development Studies Vandana Desai,Robert B. Potter,2008 The Companion to Development Studies is an essential one stop reference for anyone with an interest in development studies Over 100 international experts have been brought together to present a comprehensive overview of the key theoretical and practical issues dominating contemporary development studies Building on the success of the first edition the second edition of the Companion has been thoroughly revised and updated and includes new chapters on a range of topics including ageing culture and development corruption and development and global terrorism Each chapter summarises current debates and provides guidance for further reading and research The Companion to Development Studies is indispensable for students of development studies at all levels from undergraduate to postgraduate and beyond in departments of development studies geography politics international relations sociology social anthropology and economics

Development-induced Displacement and Human Rights in Africa Romola Adeola, 2020-09-21 Within the context of the 2009 Kampala Convention this book examines how a balance can be struck between the imperative of development projects and the rights of persons likely to be displaced in Africa Following independence many African states embarked on large scale development projects such as dams urban renewal and extraction of natural resources and have had to grapple with how to protect displaced communities while implementing development projects These projects were considered a panacea for Africa's development and the economic interests of the majority were often considered over and above the interests of the minority of people who were displaced by these projects This book examines how a balance can be struck between the imperative of development and the rights of displaced persons within the context of the African Union Convention on the Protection and Assistance of Internally Displaced Persons in Africa the Kampala Convention Romola Adeola analyses the obligations that are placed on African states by the Kampala Convention in the context of development induced displacement This book will be of interest to scholars of human rights law forced migration African Studies and development

The Migration-Displacement Nexus Khalid Koser, Susan Martin, 2011-09-01 The migration displacement nexus is a new concept intended to capture the complex and dynamic interactions between voluntary and forced migration both internally and internationally Besides elaborating a new concept this volume has three main purposes the first is to focus empirical attention on previously understudied topics such as internal trafficking and the displacement of foreign nationals using case studies including Afghanistan and Iraq the second is to highlight new challenges including urban displacement and the effects of climate change and the third is to explore gaps in current policy responses and elaborate alternatives for the future
