Pyron,2025-03-25 A deeply moving middle grade novel in verse about a girl struggling with depression when she starts fifth grade amidst a sea of changes Pearl loves watching the majestic loggerhead turtles and octopuses glide through the water at the aquarium Pearl finds it especially easy to identify with the octopuses who have millions of touch receptors all over their bodies They feel everything Sometimes Pearl wishes she was more like a turtle with a hard outer shell it hurts too much to feel everything And the changes at the start of fifth grade don't feel good to Pearl at all New teachers lockers and being in different classes than her friends is unsettling Pearl tries her best to pretend she's fine but she starts to struggle with things that used to come easy like schoolwork laughing and skateboarding with her best friend Rosie running and even sleeping After a disastrous parent teacher conference her parents decide to bring Pearl to Dr Jill who diagnoses her with depression At first Pearl is resistant to Dr Jill's help she doesn't like feeling different but she also doesn't want to continue feeling so bad all the time When Dr Jill asks Pearl to try one Impossible Thing each day like running skateboarding or walking her dog Tuck she decides to try For each impossible thing she attempts Pearl puts a bead on a string Bead by bead and with the support of family and friends Pearl finds her way back to herself She discovers just like the moon is always there in the sky even if it isn't full she'll always be herself even when she doesn't feel whole In this tender novel in verse critically acclaimed author Bobbie Pyron draws from her own experiences to tell the story of a brave girl learning to take care of and love herself

Kellie's Diary: Decay of Innocence Thomas Jenner,Angeline Jenner,2013-09-25 A series of diary entries through the eyes of a little girl as she tries to survive the end of the world Surrealistic and haunting this story gets under the skin like a virulent infection Jenner's slightly twisted yet subtle narrative as seen through Kellie's innocent eyes is compelling George Wier Mystery Author Bill Travis Mysteries This is a collection of the first 3 parts of the Kellie's Diary series including 2 additional short stories This book is entirely from the viewpoint of a little girl writing to her diary You meet Kellie a bright and inquisitive child living the typical suburban life with her family She goes to school complains about lunch and thinks boys are gross She also writes daily entries into her diary whom she calls Barbie However her world is turned upside down when a strange illness takes over the city during a massive outbreak Kellie finds herself completely alone and stranded Follow Kellie's journey as she ventures out into the world braving dangers of all kinds both natural and unnatural She must learn to survive based on her own wits and she will also learn which instincts she should trust all the while telling Barbie what is going on and what she's thinking Be prepared it is quite sad seeing all the death and destruction through a child's eyes but I'm telling you it is worth it in the end Blood Sweat Books This book actually handles the genre in exactly the right way The writers obviously didn't think How can I make my zombies special Instead they asked What's an interesting story I can tell within the context of a zombie apocalypse That in my opinion is the best route a writer can take Telling the story of a zombie apocalypse through the eyes of a child is a fun approach and is handled wonderfully Brandon Hale Author of Day Soldiers
