Sbornik Kirshi Danilova 2nd Edition:

Medieval Oral Literature Karl Reichl, 2011-11-30 Medieval literature is to a large degree shaped by orality not only with regard to performance but also to transmission and composition. Although problems of orality have been much discussed by medievalists, there is to date no comprehensive handbook on this topic. Medieval Oral Literature, a volume in the De Gruyter Lexikon series, was written by an international team of twenty-five scholars and offers a thorough discussion of theoretical approaches as well as detailed presentations of individual traditions and genres. In addition to chapters on the oral formulaic theory, on the interplay of orality and writing in the Early Middle Ages, on performance and performers, on oral poetics, and on ritual aspects of orality, there are chapters on the Older Germanic Romance, Middle High German, Middle English, Celtic, Greek, Byzantine, Russian, Hebrew, Arabic, Persian, and Turkish traditions of oral literature. There is a special focus on epic and lyric genres that are also discussed in separate chapters, with additional chapters on the ballad and on drama.

The Poetics of Early Russian Literature D.S. Likhachev, 2014-03-13 This translation of Likhachev's Poetika Drevnerusskoy Literatury provides a description of the basic themes of early tenth to seventeenth-century Russian literature. Likhachev compares literary narrative with narrative used in the representational arts. Furthermore, Likhachev stresses the genre-based character of medieval Russian literature and shows how choice of style in medieval times depended on a genre with its own specific etiquette and how innovation was discouraged. The text contrasts medieval abstraction and modern realism as Likhachev shows how realisticness gradually breaks through in specific situations such as those of princely crimes. Likhachev draws contrasts in three different areas: the basic stock of symbols and comparisons used in early Russian literature with those used in modern literature; artistic time in folklore and early Russian literature; and artistic space in folklore and early Russian literature. Likhachev traces the gradual development into modern artistic time through a comparison of the chronicle, the first Russian play, the seventeenth-century writer Avvakum, and three modern authors: Goncharov, Dostoevsky, and Saltykov-Shchedrin. Finally, the text gives a justification for studying early literatures. This book will be invaluable for students of Russian medieval and comparative literature.

History of Music in Russia from Antiquity to 1800, Volume 2 Nikolai Findeizen, 2008-02-07 In its scope and command of primary sources and its generosity of scholarly inquiry, Nikolai Findeizen's monumental work, published in 1928 and 1929 in Soviet Russia, places the origins and development of music in Russia within the context of Russia's cultural and social history. Volume 2 of Findeizen's landmark study surveys music in court life during the reigns of Elizabeth I and Catherine II; music in Russian domestic and public life in the second half of the 18th century; and the variety and vitality of Russian music at the end of the 18th century.

The Growth of Literature: Volume II H. Munro Chadwick, Nora Kershaw Chadwick, 1986-11-28 The Growth of Literature is a key work for all scholars and students of comparative literature and will also interest those involved with other fields of literary studies as well as sociology, anthropology, and related disciplines. The three volumes hailed as classics when they first appeared between 1932 and 1940 were last reprinted in 1968 Now available for the first time in paperback they remain the definitive study of their subject The work contains an examination of comparative literatures in various countries and at various times with a view to demonstrating what literature oral and written consists of at different stages of its growth and what if any general principles can be applied to its development under diverse conditions In the first volume Professor and Mrs Chadwick establish the categories of literature which are used throughout as a means of classification and discuss the heroic age in Europe focusing on Classical Anglo Saxon and Celtic cultures In the second volume they deal with Russian oral literature Yugoslav oral poetry early Indian literature and early Hebrew literature Volume III examines the oral literature of the Tatars of Polynesia and of Africa concluding with a general survey which makes use of the categories developed in the first volume

The Growth of Literature H. Munro Chadwick, Nora K. Chadwick, 2010 First published between 1932 and 1940 this is a three volume study of the historical development of literature It explores the oral and written literatures of regions from Iceland and the British Isles to Russia the Balkans Africa India and the Pacific placing them in their historical context and examining similarities between them The authors discuss both ancient and recent texts illustrating the connections within each group and considering the question of whether all literary growth is influenced by common factors Praised on publication as a work that is not probably could not be superseded International Journal of Comparative Sociology the book remains a benchmark for those studying comparative literature or the history of literary criticism Volume 2 focuses particularly on Russia and the Balkans and also surveys both early Indian and early Hebrew literature
