Art Scents Larry Shiner, 2020-02-11 Although the arts of incense and perfume making are among the oldest of human cultural practices it is only in the last two decades that the use of odors in the creation of art has begun to attract attention under the rubrics of olfactory art or scent art Contemporary olfactory art ranges from gallery and museum installations and the use of scents in music film and drama to the ambient scenting of stores and the use of scents in cuisine All these practices raise aesthetic and ethical issues but there is a long standing philosophical tradition most notably articulated in the work of Kant and Hegel which argues that the sense of smell lacks the cognitive capacity to be a vehicle for either serious art or reflective aesthetic experience This neglect and denigration of the aesthetic potential of smell was further reinforced by Darwin's and Freud's views of the human sense of smell as a near useless evolutionary vestige Smell has thus been widely neglected within the philosophy of art Larry Shiner's wide ranging book counters this tendency aiming to reinvigorate an interest in smell as an aesthetic experience He begins by countering the classic arguments against the aesthetic potential of smell with both philosophical arguments and evidence from neuroscience psychology anthropology history linguistics and literature He then draws on this empirical evidence to explore the range of aesthetic issues that arise in each of the major areas of the olfactory arts whether those issues arise from the use of scents with theater and music sculpture and installation architecture and urban design or avant garde cuisine Shiner gives special attention to the art status of perfumes and to the ethical issues that arise from scenting the body the ambient scenting of buildings and the use of scents in fast food Shiner's book provides both philosophers and other academic readers with not only a comprehensive overview of the aesthetic issues raised by the emergence of the olfactory arts but also shows the way forward for further studies of the aesthetics of smell

Spiritualizing the City Victoria Hegner, Peter Jan Margry, 2016-11-25 Urban spaces have always functioned as cradles and laboratories for religious movements and spiritualities The urban forms a central and nourishing agent for the creation of new religious expressions and continually negotiates new ways of being spiritual and establishing spiritual ideas and practices This book explores the intense and complex interplay between the post modern city and new religious and spiritual movement bringing the city and its annexes into the foreground of current research into religion It develops a new ethnography based analysis of the ways in which the pluralist experience of the urban inscribes itself into various religious practices and vice versa how do religiosity and spirituality appropriate and transform meanings of the urban It focuses on new religious expressions cosmologies and ways of life that go beyond established belief systems and religious understandings and explores new conceptions of the word urban in a world of increasingly extended urban environments The book examines how cities are both considered as sites and sources of spirituality where the globalization of religions takes place as well as the fact that globalization is linked closely to the process of localization The socio cultural and political uniqueness of the specific urban context are analyzed to present an innovative perspective on how the interplay between the urban spiritual and religious should be understood This book brings a timely new perspective and will be of interest to academics and students in geography sociology urban studies cultural studies and anthropology as well as for urban planners and policy makers
